VARICOSE VEINS CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the veins would become swollen and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only chance. I decided if I tried several specialists, but soon found out that they wanted my money. I commenced to look up all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was out of work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Dr. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had been treated for them. I read and knew they were square and skilled. I wrote them and got the New Method Treatment. My progress was wonderful. I was cured and during the first month's treatment I was never out of bed. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $120 a week. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment."
—H. C. LOUPE.

A 'CROSS COUNTER TALK.

Customer: "How do you know the colors in Sherwin-Williams Paint, Prepared, are durable?"
Dealer: "The colors in S.W.P. are durable and lasting because of the high qualities of raw materials used, the care taken in manufacture and the skill employed in mixing and grinding. The S.W. Co. has its own dry color plant and produces dry colors second to none for brilliancy and strength; operates its own linseed oil mill and manufactures all pure linseed oil for S.W. Products; has its own lead and zinc mines, and employs a large staff of chemists to maintain the standard of all raw materials and finished products."
"With materials of such quality, combined with the thorough assimilating they receive in mixing and grinding, is insured the most permanent and durable colors it is possible to manufacture. S.W.P. wears as long as any paint can wear and retains its brightness and freshness for the greatest possible time."

THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

Even the World's Most Ancient Book Laments That They Have Fled.

A priceless manuscript of eighteen pages, found in an Egyptian monument and published in facsimile in France about the year 1847, is thought to be the oldest book in the world.

Procured at Thebes by Prisse d'Avennes and presented by him to the national library at Paris, it is usually called the "Papyrus Prisse," from the name of the donor. As the manuscript was found in a monument of the eleventh dynasty, it must be anterior to the shepherd kings and therefore older by many centuries than the time of Moses—older even than the date usually assigned to Abraham—and so of all existing books it would be the most ancient. The words of every page, though believed to have been written 4,000 years ago, are intensely black to this day and in a bold, round hand.

By a curious irony this echo from the very childhood of the world laments the good old times that had passed away. The author, who was a prince of the royal blood, gives warning to the young and declares that the words of ancient wisdom should be the daily food of children and grown men alike. Humility and obedience he makes to be the foundation of all virtue.—Christian Science Monitor.

PATTI STOOD PAT.

The Diva Wouldn't Cut Her Rates, but Suggested an Alternative.

Patti once was waited upon at her hotel by a famous minstrel manager, Colonel J. E. Haverly, whose ambition had been aroused to secure the diva for a concert tour under his direction. Madame received him most graciously, and the two began discussing the details.

"May I ask your terms for fifty nights, Mma. Patti?" Haverly asked.

"For concert or for opera?" the diva asked.

"For concert," Haverly replied.

"Four thousand a night, or $200,000 for fifty nights, one-half to be deposited on signing the contract," was Patti's deliberate response.

Haverly tried to appear composed, but it was too much of an effort.

"Two hundred thousand for fifty nights! Heavens, madame, that is just four times as much as we pay our president of the United States!" he cried.

"Well," the divine one answered, "why don't you get the president to sing for you?"

Haverly fled.—Robert Grau in Musical America.

Seeing is Doubting.

"Seeing is believing, eh?" said an oculist.

"Well, no saw was ever more absurd than that. You see a horse's head and a four barrel, and you believe the barrel is longer than the horse's head, don't you? Well, it isn't. The horse's head from the tips of his ears to the end of his nose is longer than the barrel by a considerable distance. Architects have to deceive the eye in order to make it appear that their buildings are symmetrical. They make walls lean in that they may appear vertical. They make windows wider at the top. They make columns thicker in the middle than at the summit or base. And the top lines of a building, in order to appear plumb to the silly eye of man, must be raised up quite a lot in the center.

"Seeing is believing, indeed!"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Apple Pie Without Apples.

A guest at an old fashioned home dinner was eulogizing apple pie and her hostess when another guest, who had been a California pioneer, recalled the "apple" pie given the children of 1822 to appease their homesick cravings when apples were a dollar a pound. It was made by breaking four soft crackers into an earthen bowl and pouring over them a pint of cold water rendered very tart by citric acid. When soft the crackers were laid on a plate placed on the undercrust. Over them were sifted two table-spoonfuls of light brown sugar and a little allspice and cinnamon. A pretty perforated top crust was added, and in a few minutes a perfect apple pie was taken from the oven to delight young and old.—New York Sun.

The Difference in Speed.

The professor of shorthand in a local business college adduced this unanswerable argument in an address to a new class the other day:

"We are told that it took Gray, author of the well known 'Elegy in a Country Churchyard,' seven years to write that famous poem. If he had known stenography he could have done it in seven minutes. We have graduates who have done that same poem in that length of time."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

He Would Indeed.

"What's this word, pa?" asked Willie, pointing it out in his book.

"Phenomenon," replied pa.

"Well, what is that?"

"That, my son, is exactly what you would be if you never disturbed your father with questions."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Disappointed.

Mr. X.—Oh, I've been doing quite a round of calls, and I've been so unfortunate! Mrs. X.—What everybody's out! Mr. X.—No, everybody but—Lion don't opinion.

Intoxication causes more aches and pains than all other ailments.—Badcock.

MRS. GEO. JOHNSTON DEAD

The death occurred in the General Hospital, Brockville, on Wednesday last, of Francis Godkin, wife of George Johnston, of Oak Leaf. The deceased had been ill for a long time and on a previous occasion had undergone an operation in the hospital. She was about 72 years of age.

Mrs. Johnston was widely and favorably known throughout the Rear of Leeds, being a member of the Godkin family, which were among the first settlers of that locality, wielding influence of good in their several spheres of life. Her father was the late Foss Godkin, many years deceased. After her marriage Mrs. Johnston continued to reside at Oak Leaf where she was held in the highest esteem for her excellent qualities as a wife, mother and friend.

Mr. Johnston, two sons and one daughter survive. The children are Dr. Christopher Johnston and Dr. John Johnston, practising their profession in the United States, and Mrs. Matthew J. Johnston, of Oak Leaf. The deceased was an active member of the church of England.

THE VALUE OF INSTRUCTION

The Canadian Farm says: Just on this question of farmers helping one another, the value of such help is strikingly illustrated by the dairy business. Before the present plan of giving instruction in every cheese factory and creamery was inaugurated, there were factories that did not receive help of any kind. The quality of the product turned out by these was inferior to those willing to pay for instruction. This fact did not help the factories producing the finest quality to get the highest possible price for their product. On the other hand, it had the very opposite effect. The inferior product turned out by some factories only helped to lower the price of the finest qualities, just because it injured the Canadian product as a whole. Since the new system was introduced and every factory is receiving instruction, the average quality has been raised and everybody receives a better price.
