PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

The Medicine That Has Made
Thousands of Country Toilers Well and Strong.

are thousands of farmers in our country who are rich in broad acres and gold but who are poor in health.

It is a melancholy fact that men and women in the country districts, breathing the purest air and drinking from God's fountains of living water, are afflicted with the same diseases and ailments as those who live in the cities. We find rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, kidney troubles and blood diseases almost as common in the farmers' families as they are in the city homes.

Paine's Celery Compound, Heaven's blessing to the farming community has done more for the banishment of dread disease and the building up of health than any other combined medicine. Mr. G. J.
Maye, a well known farmer of Sheffield, Ont., says:

"It is with great pleasure that I testify to the value of your great medicine, Paine's Celery Compound. For nearly twenty years I suffered from indigestion, kidney and liver troubles. After trying several medicines that did not effect a cure, I decided to try your Compound. Before using it I was so low in health that I could not eat or sleep. I could not lie in bed owing to pain in my back; it was only by resting on my elbows and knees I was enabled to obtain a slight degree of ease.
Before I had fully taken one bottle of your medicine I began to improve. I have now taken in all fourteen bottles with grand results. I am a farmer and am now working every day. Anyone may refer to me in regard to these statements, or to any of my neighbors around Sheffield, where I am well known. I am a living witness to the worth of Paine's Celery Compound."

She—There's really no reason for married folks to quarrel.

He—No, except that they generally need a few quarrels to find that out.

Messrs. C. C. Richards & Co.
Gentlemen,—In June '98 I had my hand and wrist bitten and mangled by a vicious horse. I suffered greatly for several days, and the tooth cuts refused to heal, until your agent gave me a bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT, which I began using, and the effect was magical. In five hours the pain had ceased, and in two weeks the wounds had completely healed and my hand and arm were as well as ever.

Yours truly,

Johnny—I wish I was Tommy Jones.

than he is, you have a better home, can wiggle his ears.

NERVOUS AND SLEEPLESS.
There is just one cure and that is plenty of food for the blood and nerves, which is best supplied in Ferrozine, than which no blood builder, nerve tonic or strength producer is better. Ferrozine promotes healthy digestion, which results in improved nutrition. The blood grows rich and red, furnishes stability to the entire system, and the store of nerve force and energy increases daily. A remodeling of the constitution, new spirit, health and strength, all come from the use of Ferro-zine. This marvelous restorative is sold by Druggists for 25c a box, or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont. Sold by A. E. Shaw.

RINGING IN THE EARS.

This is an unfailing sign of Catarrh, and if not checked will ultimately result in deafness. The simplest remedy is Catarhazone, which if inhaled a few times daily, prevents the catarrhal condition from spreading. Catarhazone quickly stops the ringing in the ears, rests the nerves, gives permanent relief to catarrhal deafness. For Catarrh in any part of the system, Bronchitis, Asthma, Lungs or Throat troubles, Catarhazone is specific, and is guaranteed to permanently cure or your money back. Large size, $1.00; trial size, 25c. Druggists or

AN ACHING BACK.

Is the first indication of kidney disease, and should be taken as a signal of danger —a warning to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills while yet there is time to avoid the dreadful pains and certain fatality of this terrible disease. There is no guess work, no experimenting when you see this prescription. It brings relief in a remarkable short time, and because of its combined action of liver and kidney cure complicated cases which cannot be reached by any ordinary treatment.

She—After all, what is the difference between illusion and delusion?

He—Illusion is the lovely fancies we have about ourselves, and delusion is the foolish fancies other people have about themselves.

the bystanders.

MARTINIQUE IS DOOMED.

Well Authenticated Opinion That It will be Swallowed Up.

New York, Sept. 5.—It is generally believed that the island of Martinique is doomed to total destruction, and the fear is that when the catastrophe comes, Guadeloupe, will be visited by an all destroying tidal wave, unless the Point a Pitre, Guadeloupe, correspondent of the N. Y. Herald.
Business is absolutely at a standstill. Few shops are open, and if they were not for the efforts of a small number of more valiant souls, hundreds would be starved to death here because of their fear of a more terrible disaster.

Details that have been received during the last two days have proved that the eruption of Mont. Pelée of August 30 was far more violent than was that of the earlier eruptions. As the eruption continues the mouth of Mount Pelée grows in size. It is now of enormous proportions. Mont Pelée, one of the peaks that reared sky-ward from the side of the Pelée, has fallen loosely into the crater, and it has been completely swallowed. There seems to be a side pressure in the crater, and the burning chambers widen perceptibly every day.
Clouds no more hang above the great Pelée. The terrific heat seems to drive everything away. The column of smoke rises directly into the heavens, so that Pelée is lost to sight. In the darkness of the night it has the appearance of a column of molten iron, standing fixed between heaven and earth.

From Mont. Capot the relief troops were compelled to make a quick retreat, although they succeeded in taking a few wounded.
The entire country nearly to Fort de France is buried under a deep cover of ashes. This has made it almost impossible to find the bodies of those who have perished while fleeing to the sea coast. At Grande Anse the tide swept 200 yards ashore, destroying many houses and drowning scores of inhabitants.

Even at Fort de France the most stout of hearts have lost courage. Col. Leou-aro has reported to his government that it is his opinion that Martinique will have to be abandoned. He asks for assistance in transporting the inhabitants to the other islands of the West Indies.

FRUITS OF FREEDOM.

Canada to Play a Great Part in the Future of the Empire—A Gracious to Feed the World.

The Colonial Premiers and their Ministers were dined by the Canadian Club of London at the Grosvenor restaurant, Lord Strathcona presided. It is astonishing the amount of vitality in the High Commissioner.
He moves about and talks like a man at fifty. The Lord Mayor was there, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Edmund Barton, Sir Robert Bond, Sir William Mulock, Hon. W. Paterson, Hon. W. S. Fielding, Lord Ber-by, Lord Ashbourne, Sir John Anson, Mr. C. M. Hays, Hon. Dr.
Montague, General Haly, Hon. H. T.
Duffy, Hon. H. Peters, Hon. F. Hau-tain, Mr. J. S. Colmer, C.M.G., and quite a distinguished company.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who was loudly cheered, after expressing his appreciation of the over-whelming warmth of English hospitality and of the kind terms in which the Lord Mayor had referred to him, went on to say that his Lordship had spoken of Canada in language of great encomium, but, great as his encomium was, Canada deserved it all.

(Cheers.) The Lord Mayor had said that the free institutions with which they were blessed in 1867 had maintained the loyalty of Canada. They had done more—they had enhanced the loyalty of Canada. (Cheers.) This was a free country, and a man was always welcome to speak his mind to a British audience. Let him say this, then, that if it had not been for the charter of liberty which Canada has received, the condition of things would perhaps have been different. In 1837, the first year of her late Majesty's reign, Canada was in a turmoil of excitement.
There was rebellion in the French provinces of Quebec; there were rebels also in the British province of Ontario. The rebellion, was, in his opinion, quite justified by the unworthy system which then obtained.
It was in 1850, when they had a free charter, when they had a Parliament to which the Government of the day were responsible, when they had all the blessings of responsible government in the same measure in which the people of England enjoyed them—at that time, when the authority of Her Majesty was threatened in distant parts of her dominions, the very sons of the rebels of 1837 were the first to go to the rescue and take their coats off to maintain the domination of the Queen in South Africa. (Cheers.) That was the result of the wise policy which had been followed in regard to Canada and the other colonies of Great Britain. The 19th century had been in Great Britain, a century prolific in reforms; but in all the reforms which had been effected in that century, the most important was the which had been so prolific in great and useful results as the concession to the colonies of the power to govern themselves in accordance with their own will and with what they believed to be their own interests.
(Cheers.) Canada was blessed not only with a good system of government, but she was also blessed with a good climate—cold in winter, very cold, warm in summer, very warm, but always dry, cheering and invigorating, and full of exhilaration. After describing the great strides which Canada had made during the last 100 years Sir Wilfrid Laurier went on to say that there was absolute certainty that Canada would be the granary of Great Britain. At the present time there was in Canada an ocean of ripening grain of a quality unsurpassed in the world, and as for quantity, in a few years there would be enough to feed the whole of Great Britain, say the whole of Europe. (Cheers.) The one thing only which they wanted in Canada at the present time was population. They had a population of 6,000,000 and a little more; they had room and land to give homes and shelter to a hundred millions at least, and he hoped in a not very distant future, they would have within the bounds of Canada a population of a hundred millions.
(Cheers.) They were going to repeat the history of the United States, and he thought that in so doing, he was not over-confident.
But when he came to England and saw the distressed condition of many of our people it was always to him a matter of some surprise that no greater efforts were made by the people of this country to send over thence their surplus population to that vast land of Western Canada.
The Canadian Government was doing its share. It had emigration agents in all parts of Europe, but he preferred the people of those northern races to which we all belonged, because, after all, they were the best of all men in a new country.
But no matter where they came from —Great Britain, or Ireland, or Norway, or France, or Germany, or Hungary, or the United States also—they treated them all in the same way and turned them out good Canadians one and all. (Cheers.) The Canadian Government gave 160 acres of land to every boy of eighteen years of age, who would make it a home, and the price they asked was that he should take a good wife and bring up his children upon the land. Not one dollar did they require from him.
They offered further advantages, and these conditions they opened their domain to all the destitute of Europe. If the poor of Great Britain who were longing for work, and who would be the best of settlers, would go to Canada, they would be in a few years, prosperous men with houses for themselves and families.

If he had a request to make of the Canadian Club it was that they would second the efforts of the Canadian Government, and send emigrants to Canada. The more we sent population to Canada, the more we would bind her to our heart, and the more we should have that condition which we all hoped for the British Empire, of which he, a British subject not of British origin, was just as proud as any one to-day.

The Canadian Venice.

Muskoka the ideal-Muskoka the enchanted land, in whose waters one bathes and forgets the world without and its life inconstant. They call it the Canadian Venice, so much a thing of water is it and so beautiful, like the famous "City of the Sea," only more satisfying because the habitations of man are less numerous there, and nature is as God intended it to be.

It is a common remark among Americans who visit the Muskoka region that it is not fully appreciated by Canadians themselves. Its beautiful rivers and picturesque scenery are not to be equaled anywhere on the continent. The result is a greater rush of Americans there every summer—so much so that 5,000 people were turned away last year through lack of hotel accommodations. The universal opinion is that Muskoka is an unrivaled holiday ground, with its agreeable combination of waters and islands and woods and shores, with their incidental fishing and bathing and boating, the sparkling days and the cool, hushed nights that compensate to restful, refreshing sleep.

From a business standpoint the Muskoka region is one of Canada's most valuable assets. It is easily reached from the most densely populated portions of the United States and everything possible ought to be done to encourage American tourists.
There are at present something like 125 hotels in Muskoka with a total accommodation for 7,000 people.
That ought to be doubled and tribled very quickly with good management, and those who cater especially to the wants and wishes of American guests will have little cause to complain. There is no good reason why millions of dollars should not be sent to Canada every summer by American tourists, but that means something different from ordinary slipshod methods and something better than the average hotel accommodations.

Co-operative in Canada.

There are 737 co-operative cheese and butter factories in Canada, where the farmers erect and equip the factories, and the Government undertakes to manufacture a good article at a cost of 25 cents a pound to cover all expenses including marketing. They export $25,000,000 worth to Great Britain annually from these factories.

THE HERO OF KARS.

Brief Sketch of the Career of Sir William Fenwick Williams.

The career of a brilliant Canadian ended on July 28th, 1883, by the death of Sir William Fenwick Williams of Kars. He was born at Halifax, N.S., and is known familiarly as the hero of Kars. When a Colonel of engineers he was engaged in defining the Russo-Persian boundary, and was appointed British Military Commissioner with the Turkish army in Asia in 1854. He reached Kars, a town in Asiatic Territory, in September, and found the Turks wholly disorganized, but with indefinite energy he corrected abuses, got rid of corrupt officials and endured himself to the Turkish army.
In June, 1855, the Russian General Muraviev, with 10,000 infantry and 10,000 cavalry, besieged Kars, the garrison of which under General Williams numbered 15,000 men, with three months' provisions and three days' ammunition. The siege lasted until the end of November of the same year, when, after one of the most heroic defenses on record, in which his men suffered greatly from disease and lack of food, he was forced to capitulate. A grand assault of the Russians two months before resulted in a loss to them of 6,000 men and it was only through famine that the gallant garrison was overcome. Even General Muraviev, the commander of the besieging army, generously expressed his appreciation of his opponent's defence by saying: "General Williams, you have made yourself a name in history, and posterity will stand amazed at the endurance, the courage and the discipline which this siege has called forth in the remains of the army." Let us arrange a capitulation that will satisfy the demands of war without disgracing humanity. General Williams was detained in Russia as a prisoner until peace was declared when he was given a Tar-nopoly and an annuity of £1,000.
