LEGISLATIVE DEBATES.

HIGHWAY ACT AMENDMENT BILL.

Parliament, March 23. AFTERNOON SITTING. The House in Committee on the amended Statute Labor Act.

Mr. O'Brien in the Chair. The first clause having been read. Hon. Mr. Lawrence explained its object. At present, no Commissioner of Highways had authority to let any of the roads within his jurisdiction to contract.

Mr. O'Brien moved that the clause, as read, be agreed to. Mr. Lawrence, while giving credit for good motives to the hon. member, said that he would rather see the clause amended than pass as it stood.

in British North America, and having called them for aid, and let the remainder by contract. For instance, if in a distance of six miles the Statute Labor would be sufficient to keep in order two miles, the contract would be for three miles, the Commissioner might not be under the necessity of drawing any money from the Treasury.

Hon. Mr. O'Brien. The hon. member said that a poor complaint to his constituents, when he said that they would rather see the clause amended than pass as it stood.
