Mr. A. B. Morine
Attacked

IN CANADIAN COMMONS.

It will be noticed in the despatch from Ottawa that Mr. Carvell made certain charges against Mr. A. B. Morine. He told the story of Mr. Morine's dismissal by Governor Murray because he was solicitor to Mr. R. G. Reid at the time of the '98 contract. According to this message he stated that after Mr. Morine's reinstatement by Governor McCallum he was again dismissed because he continued as solicitor to Mr. Reid. As we have stated in our note, everyone here knows that the second charge is without foundation, that the causes of Mr. Morine's retirement from the Winter Ministry were because of internal disagreements in the Executive, that the late Sir James Winter found it impossible to work with him and called upon him to retire. As to the reasons Mr. Morine left Newfoundland, there have been many suspicions here, but it has never been definitely ascertained why Mr. Morine left, beyond the fact that he disagreed with Mr. W. D. Reid. But a law suit was instituted which we reported at great length at the time. It was generally known as the Daily News Mortgage Case, Mr. Mott being the editor at the time. Some six months later the Daily News changed hands, and Mr. Morine left the country. One feature of the charges is that they have all to do with some transactions which took place in Newfoundland and not with anything that he has done in Canada; but in spite of all this Mr. Borden states that standing where he always did in regard to the character of public servants, that he considers the charges grave, that he will give Mr. Morine an opportunity of answering the charges, and then will announce to Parliament the course he intends to pursue in reference to Mr. Morine, who occupies the office of Chairman of the Public Service Commission.

THE LITTLE BUNDLE.

By WALT MASON.

Three dozen fell diseases came down and knocked me flat; and oh, the groans and wheezes that filtered through my hat! The doctors and the nurses were gathered by my bed, and I had dreams of hearses and cities of the dead. The druggists used to trundle dope to me day by day, and how I blessed the bundle that I had laid away! When I was convalescent I ceased to fume and fret; my griefs were evanescent—for I was out of debt! I paid the blooming nurses, I paid the sawbones, too, the druggists got their purses—and still had a few! You don't know what a blessing a roll of boodle is, till maladies distressing throughout your system whiff! I have no doubt that worry over debts that they must face sends sick folks in a hurry out to the old house place. If, reader, your unthrifty, then take this hunch of mine: A bank account is airy, but troubles down in brine. For sickness and disaster for you their webe may spin; when coins go fast and faster none are coming in, when you are in a black age of sickness and expense, you'll wish you had a package of dough in evidence!

To-Day's News.

OTTAWA, To-day.
In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Carvell, Liberal, attacked Mr. A. B. Morine, chairman of the Public Service Commission. The charge was that during his career in Newfoundland politics Mr. Morine had been Reid's solicitor, while a member of the Government which treated with regard to the famous Reid contract, but he had later quarrelled with Reid and had by him been practically exiled from Newfoundland. That Reid continued to pay him ten thousand a year, his salary as Solicitor to the end of 1911 on condition he left the Colony. Part of the charge was that in 1898 Mr. Morine had been dismissed from his post of Finance Minister by Governor Murray, on the ground he was Reid's solicitor, and that in 1899 being reinstated by Governor McCallum, he gave an undertaking not to act as Reid's solicitor. Notwithstanding which he continued to do so and was dismissed a second time. Premier Borden said he regarded the charges made by Mr. Carvell as grave. He stood where he stood in former years as to the character of persons appointed to office, and would place the charges before Mr. Morine and give him an opportunity to make an answer. Then he would announce to the House and country what his action would be. Mr. Morine made a statement to the Press in reply to Mr. Carvell, giving his version of the matter and quoting Governor McCallum's letter in reinstating him as an Executive Council. [It will be in the memory of most people here that the retirement of Mr. Morine from the Winter Government on the second occasion was not based on the charge alleged by Mr. Carvell, but on the ground that the late Premier Winter could not work with him.—Ed.]

QUEBEC, To-day.
Navigation is now practically open to Quebec.

No word was received to-day by Bowring Bros. concerning the S. S. Florizel, which was instructed yesterday to come home and which is now expected to arrive. The owners believe that the steamer is still jammed in the ice off Cape Bonavista. In any event she would be making slow progress with a disabled propeller, and will likely put in an appearance late to-night or daylight to-morrow.

Sir William Ramsay, in a speech last night, announced that an experiment was likely to be made in the way of carrying out a suggestion made by him, opening a smoke abatement exhibition by resorting to the blowing of the earth to produce gas for power. "I firmly believe," he said, "something will be done in not rearing the coal but letting it remain underground burning there and taking off the gases from the surface. I have been in communication with large colliery proprietors, and they are going to give me a chance of making experiments on a small scale. If successful, a candle may be lighted in England which will not be extinguished in our time."

A meeting of the suffragettes held to-night to protest against the speakers describe as their "treason" by the Commons. Mrs. Pankhurst, who was sentenced to prison in 1909, and was arrested for picking up Agassiz's house, said the time had arrived for the suffragettes to use more effective methods. She urged boycott. Women, she said, should buy hats, which would hurt the women worse than window smashing. She declared they should not go to seaside resorts represented in Parliament by men of anti-suffragette tendencies; they should not subscribe funds for charities or institutions.
