SENSATION IN OLD LONDON

The Secretary of the German Embassy Shot.

Britain Advised to Prepare for a Big War.

The Elder Letter Said To Be After an English Castle.

WANTS A CASTLE.

London, June 16.—It is said that L. Z. Letter, of Chicago, is negotiating for Tintin Abbey, one of the finest historical houses in the country which the Marquis of Worcester now offers for sale.

SENTENCED TO DEATH.

Paris, June 16.—Brevet, the anarchist, who on Jan. 18 last, during the anti-Jew demonstrations growing at the Dreyfus agitation and the Zola trial, attacked M. Renard, an agent of the Paris police, inflicting some wounds on him with a knife, has been sentenced to death.

CHINA WAKING UP.

Peking, June 16.—An imperial decree has been issued, sanctioning the creation of the office of minister of trade. The decree also instructs the Tsung Li Yamen (Chinese foreign office), to provide facilities for the sons of noblemen to visit foreign countries, with a view of facilitating future international intercourse.

SENATION IN LONDON.

London, June 16.—While the first secretary of the German embassy here, Count Von Aro-Valley, was emerging from the embassy last evening, a stranger fired two shots from a revolver at him. One of the two bullets entered the secretary's back. The wound is not believed to be fatal. His assailant was arrested after firing at and missing a policeman. The motive which prompted the man to attempt the life of the count is not known.

TALK OF A BIG WAR.

London, June 16.—The Earl of Selborne, under secretary for the colonies, addressing the Conservative Association at Brampton last evening, said that the rapprochement of England and America was a work entitling Lord Salisbury to a place in the country's annals. "I know of no other achievement," said Lord Selborne, "that will tend more to the benefit of the human race. Yet three years ago Lord Salisbury was denounced for 'knuckling down' to America, just as he is now denounced for a 'weak-kneed Chinese policy.' Let the country have patience. The Chinese question is only at its beginning. If we wish to preserve our commercial rights and privileges in China intact we must be prepared for a land war on a large scale."

Details of the Recent Massacre at Sierra Leone.

Liverpool, June 16.—Definite news of the terrible massacre at Sierra Leone was not received here until about two weeks ago, although a messenger account was dated to London May 7, two or three days after it had occurred.

The scene of the massacre was a British colony on the west coast of Africa, which has been established for a century and was supposed to be generally Christianized. The full details of the horror might never have been known to the world had it not been for a converted negro. He made his escape from the mission, and sent the message telling of this addition to the dark chapters of modern missionary history.

The little American mission of Roll-stunk was one of the targets of the wrath of the pagan natives. Hidden away in a forest, the mission had no knowledge of the uprising until it was too late, for they had gone to the assistance of the little band left the mission and set out for the coast, guided by a native convert. But they were too late, for they had gone scarcely a mile when they were overtaken by the ferocious war boys and backed to death one by one. The murdered missionaries were the Rev. J. N. Cain and his wife, Miss Schenck, Miss Hatfield and Miss Archer.

It is reported that 1,000 persons were killed in the uprising. One hundred and twenty inhabitants of Freetown, most of them traders, are known to have been massacred, and other colonists were carried into the bush by the war boys and undoubtedly met a worse fate. Three hundred friendly natives were killed, and besides the white missionaries six negro missionaries of the United Brethren of Christ were murdered at Manohargur. The English missionaries are at the mercy of the war boys, but have not been molested.

His Friend Armour, Takes 7,000,000 Bushels of His Cash Wheat.

Chicago, June 16.—Arrangements for the closing of the Leiter deal have been completed. Final papers were placed before Joseph Leiter yesterday, and 7,000,000 bushels of cash wheat were assigned to P. D. Armour, who will henceforth control all the Leiter holdings. RAMABAI CIRCLE

Reorganized and Strong Officers Elected.

Pundita Ramabai's Eloquent Address—Much Enthusiasm—Many New Members.

The Auditorium contained a large audience yesterday afternoon, gathered to listen to an interesting address by Pundita Ramabai, and to infuse new life into the Ramabai Circle of London. All present manifested great interest in the work, and a large number expressed their wish to become members. The London circle has existed since 1888, and has contributed $20 and upwards since its inception. The circle now goes forward reorganized, with a large new membership, in addition to the majority of former supporters. All who desire to identify themselves with this noble work and assist this phenomenal woman, seemingly so specially adapted for this mission—the uplifting of high caste widows in India—will send their names to any of the officers of the circle.

The Pundita's address was a most graphic and eloquent one. Upon rising to speak she was greeted with hearty applause. In opening, the speaker said that there were 70 children in one kindergarten under the care of a trained kindergartner, and she had been starving widow in India, deserted by her people, when she came to me eight years ago. She is now doing splendid work in the school, and supporting her mother besides. The kindergarten system is applied through the whole country of our school. It is not confined to little children, but we receive girls of all ages, from 5 to 25. Selfishness is the ruling power in India, and that is the first thing we do in order to bring the scholars out of their dullness and selfishness is to awaken interest in their minds. We have pictures and pet animals, which tend to do this. The first lesson they learn is to thank God for everything they receive. The circle has services, good pictures and pet animals, which tend to do this. The first lesson they learn is to thank God for everything they receive. Man Killed at Stratford Identified as John Redmond, of Mitchell.

STRATFORD, Ont., June 16.—The man killed by a train near St. Paul's station on Monday evening last has been identified as John Redmond, of Mitchell. He left Mitchell on Monday for St. Marys, where he expected to get work. Not having money enough to pay his fare, he was put off the train at Springville, and it is supposed he had wandered to where he was found on his way to St. Marys. Deceased had been drinking heavily of late, and was out of work.

The widow of the Tichborne claimant is penniless, and a relief fund is being started.

LIFE SAVED.

Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs and given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, stating that his wife had been cured of a throat trouble in the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any other remedy to do me good."
