AFTER TWICE TIEING GAME UP

Two Freak Singles in the Fourteenth, With Two Out, Enabled Saints to Win-Bobby Heck Injured, and Will Be Out for a Couple of Weeks.

For thirteen long innings, the London Tecumsehs staved off defeat over in Tecumseh park Saturday afternoon, and then the Saints got a couple of lucky breaks in the fourteenth inning, and away went the old ball game. It was a gruelling pastime and the longest game seen at Tecumseh park since Matt Hynes and Fred Bramble went along for fifteen innings on May 23, 1912, before London finally put over the winning run and beat Berlin. Incidentally, it is the first beating the Saints have inflicted on the locals for some six or seven games, and as a result of Ottawa's double barrelled victory over the Petes, it put a decided crimp in London's margin at the top of the league. The final score was 6 to 4. St. Thomas scoring two runs in the fourteenth.

Bobby Heck Out For Two Weeks.

The game cost London something for the game to third when Hadley booted Linneborn's grounder. Whiteraft worked the squeeze play, Steiger beating wilkinson's throw to the plate and Wilkinson's throw the plate and Wilkinson's throw use of a split hand received when cocked down Kading's vicious drive. It is his left hand and the injury is that he will not be able to pitch couple of weeks. Coming at this Heck's absence will cripple the especially as the London club lay in Ottawa at the end of the and Bobby was eager to pitch of the games, providing he was k, and Bobby was eager to pitch of the games, providing he was sessful in the first one.

London Team a Fighting One. The termine Tecumps put up a terrific fight inday, and twice came from behind tied up the game after the Saints apparently won it. Roy Wilkinthe Silm slabster, was on the hill the Craven crew, and he had the sling outfit mystified most of the someon. Only for a couple of costly Nellis and Kustus got on in this inning and tied up the game after the Saints and apparently won it. Roy Wilkinson, the slim slabster, was on the hill for the Craven crew, and he had the Reisling outfit mystified most of the afternoon. Only for a couple of costly errors and some fine base running on the part of the London team, the game would not have gone farther than the regulation nine innings. Wilkinson will be wilkinson the part of the London team, the game would not have gone farther than the regulation nine innings. Wilkinson will be wilkinson the part of the London team, the game would not have gone farther than the regulation nine innings. Wilkinson the part of the London team, the game will not not completely a more down. Gillespie hit a grounder to Linneborn, who threw to Whitcraft and forced Kustus. Whitty then threw to Nelson and McNellis was caught at third.

Saints Win In Fourteenth. sgulation nine innings. Wikinson imself was largely instrumental in finning it, as he came through with triple in the tenth that scored Kustus and gave the Saints a run that offset London's lone counter in the last half of the inning. Heinie Steiger, who had succeeded Heck in the seventh inning, pitched great ball, and it was his double into the crowd in right field that made it possible for London to tie the score in the tenth inning. Ordinarily, Steiger's hit would have been good for a home run. It went over Craven's head and nearly to the gate. However, the crowd had spread itself into right field across the foul line on its way to the gate before London had tied the score in the ninth, and had halted to witness in the ninth was his double tenth, but he could not get past second. In London's half the side was retired in order, Bierbauer striking out, Lamy fouling out again to Gilespie, and Reidy flying out to Kopp. In the fourteenth, with one down, McNellis got a life when he beat out a hit to Nelson. Kustus was thrown out by Linneborn, while was thrown out by Linneborn with the out of the side was retired in order, Bierbauer striking out, Lamy fouling out again to Gilespie, and Reidy flying out to Kopp. In the fourteenth.

Saints Score a Couple.

The seventh inning found Bobby Heck trouble. He had been going along etty good until then, although the lints were hitting him more frequentan the London players were dent-Wilkinson's assortment. Kopp led in the seventh and singled to left. nd, and then Midge Craven fe, and Kopp got to third when Linneborn dropped Louis Bier-throw at first base on Craven's mpted sacrifice. Midge stole second Heck walked Hadley, filling the Jack Kading then came up, and bases. Jack Kading then came up, and as Kading had secured two hits, one a double, out of his first three attempts, prospects of retiring the side were somewhat dim. Kading slashed a furious line drive through the box, but Heck put his hand in front of it and knocked it down, making it possible to throw Kading out at first while Kopp scored. Heck's hand, however, was covered with blood, and it was discovered that his pitching paw was split for an inch or two between the middle fingers. That brought Helnie Steiger into the fray, making his second apinton for the blood of for an inch or two between the middle fingers. That brought Heinie Steiger into the fray, making his second appearance against the Saints in this series, as he finished Thursday's game when London won in ten innings. Heinie managed to retire the next two men, although Crayen scored on the squeeze play, McNellis providing the hunt. That put the Saints one run to runs. Close was hit hard, but kept the bingles scattered. Score:

Tied it Up in the Ninth.

The ninth inning found London still fighting to overcome that one-run lead, and just to show what a great hunch of fighting to show what a great hunch of fighting to show what a great hunch of the state of the sta of fighters "Doc" Reisling has gathered together. Louis Bierbauer opened the last half of the inning with a neat last half of the lithing with a drive to left for one cushion. Louis rode to second on Eddie Lamy's bunt, and that brought Cy Reidy, the famous pinch hitter, up to the plate. Cy fouled off a lot of balls, as is usual with him. before he combed one over Hadley's and Bierbauer counted at head, and Bierbauer black Reidy got to plate by some fast work. Reidy got to second on the play. Thoma was thrown out by McNellis, however, while Cy got with the winning counter.

Tied It Up Again In the Tenth.
In the tenth, both teams scored, Kustus making the complete circuit for the Saints by getting a pass and being sacrificed to second by Gillespie. Inker flew out to Reidy, but Wilkinson, with two strikes on him, hit to left field and the ball rolled to the fence. Willakinson was caught at the plate, but owing to the fact that there is a ground rule allowing only three bases on a hit where the ball rolls into the big sand where the ball rolls into the big sand where the ball rolls into the big sand where the end of the left field foul to be series here Saturday, but the visitors scored the most runs and won the game by a 6 to 3 count.
