The Postmaster-General of Canada Sued for Payment of Money Loaned Him to Qualify for Election. Payment of Money Loaned Him to Quality for Election.

The briefless barristers, law students who hadn't any orders to examine, to move for, or bills of costs to tax, and other idlers who had just been disappointed by the postponement of the breach of promise case in the assize court Saturday, found some consolation in the appearance of a minister of the crown as a defendant in court. Hon. John O'Connor was sued by Miss Margaret Larkin for $496 advanced to him to assist in balifying himself for election in 1872. It was not denied that this transaction had taken place, but defendant sought to prove that the arrangement was with Larkin himself, and that Larkin had been paid in full in 1879 by a draft of $500. The statute of limitations was also pleaded—a fact which Mr. G. T. Blackstock, counsel for plaintiff, referred to in his address to the jury as execedingly discreditable to the defendant. The first witness was Mr. Henry J. Larkin, the plaintiff's stepfather, who gave an account of the transaction. On cross-examination by Mr. Bethune, for defendant, it turned out that Mr. Larkin had been emigration agent for Ireland from 1872 to 1879, "and this way and the statute of the transaction. On cross-examination by Mr. Bethune, for defendant, it turned out that Mr. Larkin had been emigration agent for Ireland from 1872 to 1879, "and this any news to you, I am very sorry I ever went there, for I never was paid what I was entitled to."

"What salary were you paid?"

"A huntered dollars a month and travelling expenses; but I had to pay out about 18180 aver."

Witness admitted that it might have been partly through Mr. O'Connor's influence that he got this position.

To get over the effect of the statute of limitations, Mr. Blackstock at first proposed to give in evidence the payment made in 1879 by draft. This was disallowed, as the draft was not produced. He also gave in evidence several letters from defendant to plaintiff acknowledging the debt. Mr. Bethane objected on the ground that it is letters did not refer to Miss Larkin, did not describe the debt in question, and were not promises to pay; also that one of the letters was not addressed to anyone.

Miss Viola Caldwell, daughter of George Caldwell, aged eleven, who was near the machine watching operations, was struck by a piece of the engine and had her neck broken. She too died in a few moments. Mr. Caldwell himself was seriously, but it is thought not fatally injured. The engine was shattered into a Hundred Pieces, and part of it was driven into the harn and part of it was driven into the barn and part of it was driven into the barn, setting fire to the straw. By great efforts the flames were extinguished before they had done much damage. An eye-witness describes the anguish of the bereaved friends as heartrending in the extreme. While some cared for the wounded, others gathered about the mutilated forms of the killed and rent the air with their cries. Further evidence was taken, and after the addresses of counsel and the judges charge the jury retired. After being out some time they returned, saying that they could not agree upon a verdict. They will meet again at 11 o'clock to-day.

THE TEWISH NEW FEAR.
The holiday which celebrates the inanguration of a new Jewish year is exceeded in solemnity only by that of the Atonement. The year dates from the giving out of the ten commandments, and commenced on Friday at sundown. From that time until sundown last night a strict holiday was observed, and all Hobrew business was suspended until this morning. Two services charge the jury retired. After being out some time they returned, saying that they could not agree upon a verdict. They will meet again at 11 o'clock to-day.
