I was once a dingy worm
On a bough;
Ugly, brown and small; but just
See me now!
To my pitful estate,
To my shell,
Came an angel, whispering,
All is well!
Hearing this, I burst my bonds,
Soared and flew!
So it is with human things,—
So with you.
Never mind the homely shell;
Some fine day
God may whisper in your ear:
"Come away!"
And with rapid, radiant wings,
Light and free,
You may burst these earthly bonds,
Fly, and see!

The Baby Over the Way. her. But how to come to the point?

Across in my neighbor's window,
With its folds of satin and lace,
I see, with its crown of ringlets,
A baby's innocent face,
The throng in the street look upward,
And every one grave and gay,
Has a nod and a smile for the baby
In the mansion over the way.

Poetry.

Just here in my cottage window,
His chin in his dimpled hands,
And a patch on his faded apron,
The child that I live for stands.
He has kept my heart from breaking
For many a weary day;
And his face is as pure and handsome
As the baby's over the way.

Sometimes when we sit togher,
My grave little man of three
Sore vexes me with the question:
"Does God up in Heaven, like me
And I say: "Yes, yes, my darling.
Though I almost answer "Nay,"
As I see the nursery candles
In the mansion over the way.

And oft when I draw the stockings
From his little tired feet,
And loosen the clumsy garments
From his limbs, so round and sweet,
I grow too bitter for singing,
My heart too heavy to pray,
As Ethink of the dainty raiment
Of the baby over the way.

O God in heaven forgive me For all I have thought and said! My envious heart is humbled! My neighbor's baby is dead! I saw the little white coffin As they carried it out to-day,
And the heart of a mother is breaking
In the mansion over the way.

The light is fair in my window,
The flowers bloom at the door;
My boy is chasing the sunbeams
That dance on the cottage floor.
The roses of health are crowning
My darling's forehead to-day!
But the baby is gone from the windo
Of the mansion over the way.

"I haven't been long, have I?" asked his wife, with delightful conviction, when she returned after an interval; "and, oh, Phil, don't you think this is the most perfectly lovely place on the face of the earth?" Mr. Lorimer's answer was somewhat wide of the mark and by no means unworthy of record, but certainly Eden-on-Sea was a de-

"It's delicious," repeated Mrs. Lorimer, statically; "but come, Phil, I'm quite ready for my drive! Oh, there, my shoe is undone; do tie it up for me." Philip was kneeling at her feet, and she

The maid was clearly the very person to enlighte "I am afraid I am dreadfully untidy," Blanche began, after a moment, with a con-

At this moment the room was invaded by a motley crowd in all stages of deshabille, for after Phil's departure Blanche had raised an alarm in such incoherent fashion that half the hotel was swarming into No. 24, un-certain whether murder, fire or sudden death was the cause of the midnight disturbance.

"It is his wife," explained Phil, frantically. "He's been trying to kill her. Shads hidden here somewhere." "Here! here! Oh, I am dying!"

"The trunk!" cried some one. With one accord they bore down upon the huge black trunk; every one's fingers were thrust for-ward to unbuckle the straps, the meaning growing fainter and fainter, till, as the last fastening gave way, it ceased altogether.

"We are too late," cried Phil, as he threw

The greatest skill of medical science has been directed to the solution of the problem; How shall diseased nerves be made strong, active and healty? After years of careful study, the originator of Hawker's Nerve and Stomach Topic presented his remedy to the public confident that he had produced one that would effect a complete cure of all dis-cases of the nervous system. The subse-quent history of Hawker's Nerve and Stomach Tonic is a great blood and flesh-builder as well as nerve restorer, invigorator, and aid to digestion. It is a certain cure for diseases peculiar to women, giving tone to the nerves and stomach, vigor to the mind and body and strength to the blood, restoring the blood of health to the pale and delicate. Hawker's Nerve and Stomach Topic is for sale by all druggists and dealers. Price 50 cents a bottle, six bottle for $2.50. Manufactured only by the Hawker Medicine Co.

 A very general protest is being raised throughout Canada against child insurance, a thing which we understand is very prevalent in the United States, but rather new and limited in Canada, there being but one company in Canada doing such business, and and limited in Canada doing such business, and in no case taking a risk on lives under ten years of age. At least, if that is not the case to-day it was the case until very recently. In some countries insurance is placed on the lives of mere babies. We are by no means surprised at the protest, but we are surprised that there should be any difference of opinion on the matter. As a general rule the bread winner or main support of the family is the only person in it whose life should be insured in favor of any member or all the members of that family. It would be sound public policy to limit life insurance in accordance with this principle, and such a limitation leaves no recome for insurance. a limitation leaves no room for insurance on the lives of babies and little children whose death might be looked upon by their needy parents as a gain rather than a loss. There are enough temptations to wrong doing without adding to them by the inventions of modern life insurance.

Another gratifying year's business is shown by the Amherst Boot & Shoe Co's report for year just closed. The sales—$420,000—were the largest in its history, and the bad debts unusually small. The usual satisfactory dividend was declared. The directors, who, with Manager Fride and Secretary Campbell, have, by their efforts and business sagacity devoted to the company for many years, made it the prosperous concern that it is, were, of course, re-elected.

—The Canadian Rubber Company are receiving large orders for their goods from Australia. Some three months ago the company received orders for some 30,000 pairs of rubber shoes. Since then orders have been received for 10,000 additional pairs. The goods are shipped over the C. P. R. via Vancouver and are landed at Sydney. Orders are also being received from the same source for belting, hose and packing. of the wrong. You therefore show neither real wisdom nor worldly wisdom in neglect-
