Farmers

Have you ever threatened to

"SHOOT THAT TREE AGENT"

if he ever showed up on your place again?

There are hundreds of farmers all through this country that in the early days have planted trees which some unscrupulous tree jobber sold him for first-class winter fruit that after years of patient toil and care turn out to be worthless crabs or naturals. You have all seen those cases. There is now no necessity for such a thing. You can get

TREES OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS

(fruit and ornamental), that are guaranteed true to name and first-class in every respect. Write for catalogue.

Good opening for respectable men only, as agents:

Mr. W. M. Anderson, Palmerston, is leaving shortly for Spokane Falls, Wash., where he will locate. He has disposed of all his feathered and furred stock. Of course the Review follows him.

Mr. L. T. McGiverin, Galt, has bought from Rook and Co., Ottawa, the golden duckwing Bantam cock, winner of 1st Boston, 1900, 2nd Toronto Industrial, 1st Hamilton, etc.

Mr. Geo. W. Miller, London, has subscribed liberally to the Jarvis Testimonial Fund. If there are still others who desire to do so, we should hear from them prior to May 15th, when the testimonial will be closed and remittance made to Mr. Jarvis.

Since last issue, news of a radical change in the status of the Poultry Association of Ontario has reached us. In the first place, Mr. Oke has resigned the secretaryship and Mr. A. P. Westervelt, of this city has been appointed in his stead. Mr. Westervelt has had considerable experience in similar positions and is now secretary of the Dominion Cattle, Swine and Sheep Breeders' Associations. His headquarters will remain at Toronto, though the show and convention will be permanently located at Guelph, in connection with the Fat Stock Show, to be held each year in the early part of December. Permanent building will be erected and the combined show should assume an importance which it failed to reach prior to this amalgamation.

We bespeak for the old Ontario, which in the past has done so much to advance the great poultry industry of, not alone the province, but incidentally, through the efforts of its members in breeding and distributing high class thoroughbred stock, to the whole continent of North America, the hearty support of old and new breeders and we feel sure that a great future lies before it under the new conditions.

LESLIE, MICH.

A MEETING was called on March 24th, at Leslie, Mich., to organize a poultry club. The object of the meeting was discussed at some length, after which they agreed to call it the Leslie Poultry Association. Rev. R. H. Munro was elected president, Geo. H. Randolph vice-president, E. W. Potter secretary, F. E. Randolph assistant secretary, and J. Cummings treasurer. It was decided to hold a scoring matinee the last week in November, with James A. Tucker as judge. There was a nice crowd present and a considerable interest shown.
