now that this foolish Minister Plenipotentiary acts' with such tementy? It appears that our friendly missions are not acquainted with the wording of that document : give it now to Meerza Abhas and Meerza Maleum, that they may take and duly explain it to the French Minister and Hyder Liffendi, that they may see how improperly he has written. Since last night till now our time has been passed in voxation. We now command you, in order that you may yourtelf know, and also acquaint the missions, that until the Queen of England herself makes us a sunable spology for the insolence of her envoy, we will nover receive back this her foolish Minister, who is a simpleton, no. accept from her Government any other Minister.

A copy of the penitential letter to Mr. Murray is to be "communicated, officially, by the Sadr-Azim to each of the missions at Teheran; and the substance of it shall be made public in that capital."

Mr. Murray quitted Bogdad on the 17th of May, with all the persons attached to his Legation, on his way to Teheran. He was accompanied by Ali Khan who had been despatched by the Court of Persia for that purpose.

FOUR MEN DROWNED .- River John, June 24th Isaac Rogers, Edward Burke, David Hayden, and John Aynds, had been codfishing off Amer Island. Early in the afternoon the wind commencing to blow hard and being very equally, they ran in for the land. On nearing the land, however, they found they could not make the point they wished, and the wind being somewhat abated, they shook out their rees and stood off again to endeaver to make a better landing. On nearing the land a second time, and when about half a mile from the shore; a squall struck the heat, which upper her, and she sank instantly? Several other boats had been out in company with them. Those which were in eight were to heward, and incapable of rendering any assistance. Those who were one witnesses of this sad occurrence used every exertion to get to the scene of deaster; but on reaching the spot only a few pieces of drift wrack from the boat was all that could be found. All four were married men and in the prime of, life; Hayden leaves a wife and one child, the other three have left large and helpless families .- Eastern Chronicle.
