

Introduction

The new Canadian Embassy building in Tokyo, which is due to open in the spring of 1991, will be a showcase in Japan for Canada's accomplishments as well as a platform for new achievements in the future.

For the first time, Canadian businesses, federal and provincial government ministries, educational, cultural and other institutions will have modern, Canadian-owned promotional and hospitality facilities for staging product displays and demonstrations, exhibitions, conferences, receptions and performances in co-sponsorship with the Embassy. This brochure describes those facilities and explains how you can obtain more information about using them.

The new Embassy building will provide an ideal setting for events which contribute to achieving Canada's objectives in Japan. I hope both Canadians and Japanese friends of Canada will take full advantage of the unique facilities the new building will offer.
