

October 20th, 1930.

Professor Roger B. Merriman,
175 Brattle Street,
Cambridge, Mass.

My dear Professor Merriman,

I am sincerely grateful to you for sending me a copy of the History I. Syllabus, which I have noted with much interest, and I hope some value to myself.

I am afraid that I shall not get to Cambridge this autumn. It may interest you to know that I am likely leaving Montreal early in December on my way to India, where I shall represent Canada at the opening of the New Parliament Buildings at New Delhi. I shall return via the Pacific, so that will give me an excellent opportunity to learn at first hand something about conditions in India and the Orient generally.

You will also be interested to learn that I have asked your friend Adams to inaugurate the Graduates' Society Lectures, of which I spoke to you last summer.

Remember me kindly to Mrs. Merriman, and with most cordial good wishes,

I am,

Ever yours faithfully,