

hereby dissolved, and shall be henceforth null and void to all intents and purposes whatsoever.

She may marry again.

2. The said Fanny Margaret Riddell may at any time hereafter marry any man whom she might lawfully marry in case the said marriage with the said George Field Herchmer had not been solemnized. 5

And have custody of her daughter.

3. The said Fanny Margaret Riddell shall have the custody and sole control of the person of her said daughter, Frances Hilda, without any right of interference whatsoever on the part of the said George Field Herchmer. 10

Rights in case of marrying again.

4. In case of the said Fanny Margaret Riddell hereafter marrying any man whom it would be lawful for her to marry if she and the said George Field Herchmer had not intermarried, and of there being any issue born to her of such subsequent marriage, the said issue so born shall be and hereby are declared to be to all intents and purposes legitimate, and the rights of them, the said issue, and of each of them, and of their respective heirs, as respects their and each of their capacities to inherit, have, hold and enjoy and transmit all manner of property, real and personal, of what nature and kind whatsoever from any person or persons whomsoever, shall be and remain the same as they would be to all intents and purposes whatsoever if the marriage between the said Fanny Margaret Riddell and George Field Herchmer had not taken place. 15 20 25

---

1st Session, 6th Parliament, 50 Victoria, 1887.

---

G

BILL.

An Act for the relief of Fanny Margaret Riddell.

---

Received and read first time, Monday, 16th May, 1887.
Second reading, Tuesday, 7th June, 1887.

---

Hon. Mr. OGILVIE.

---

OTTAWA:

PRINTED BY MAULEAN, ROGER & Co.
1887.