

The lure of the land is o'er me, the lure of the virgin
plains;
The voice of rivers murmur, "Come back to your boy-hood home",
So I turn my face from the city, I am going back to my own.