Rails Are Again Under

NEW YORK STOCKS

Liquidation. New York, April 11.—A more general readjustment of prices on a declining scale marked today's session of the stock market, leaders, particularly investment rails and U. S. Steel denoting further liquidation, attributed in part to conservative interests.

rails and U. S. Steel denoting further liquidation, attributed in part to conservative interests.

In its hesitant conset the market frequently indicated an over-extension and consequent weakening of the sustained bull account, which has controlled movements for almost two months past.

Technical conditions proved more potent thair actual developments, althouse overnight despatches from eastern Europe invited fresh bear aggressions. Continued firmness of call loans and paucity of time funds also served as a restraint despite the removal of all restrictions on brokers' loans. U. S. Steel was under incessant pressure, breaking to 97½, its low price of the week, but closing unchanged at 98½.

Reversals on rails mostly affected St. Paul common and preferred, Union Pacific, and Norfolk & Western at recessions of 1 to 2 points. Sales amounted to 1,300,000 shares.

Irregularity in the bond market was chiefly due to reactions in high-grade rails.
