

FREEZE OUT SALE

TIRE, BUT HAPPY

That's the way we felt Saturday night and every one of our clerks the same. We had a splendid day for the opening of our great FREEZE OUT SALE. Funny name to call a sale, isn't it?—but it's proved a winner, backed as it is by the best clothing values that have ever been shown in the history of this big store, and will keep the pot boiling with bargains for the three weeks. Here is another batch of them:

- 8.50 Shooting Coat Suits 2.98
- 8.50 to 14.00 Shooting Coat Suits 4.98
- 8.50 to 10.00 Sack Tweed Suits 5.98
- 16.00 Scotch Tweed Suits 9.50
- Values in Boys' 3-Piece Suits You Won't See Again in a Hurry
- Men's 20.00 Overcoats for 14.69
- Boys' Reefers
- Boys' Storm Ulsters 1.98
- Men's Trousers
- Young Men's Working Suits 2.98
- Men's Furnishings
- Arrow Brand Collars 6 for 25c

That's all just now, but don't lose any time after you read this—you know we have never knowingly fooled any one yet—and we don't intend to start now—what you see advertised here we had in stock when this ad. was sent to the newspaper.

DO IT NOW!

MURDER SUSPECT SAW HIS WAY OUT OF WILCOX JAIL

William Hillis Got Thru Cell Door, Corridor Window and Wall

Inspector Stark yesterday received word from Hamilton that William Hillis broke jail there yesterday morning and escaped.

Hillis, who hails from Guelph, is one of the two desperadoes suspected of shooting the constable Barron of Hamilton and Constable Pearce of Dundas, and is charged with five other crimes. He made his escape early Saturday morning, made a dash for the effectual attempt to liberate his pal, Herbert Yates.

The story of the affair sounds a little like a novel. Hillis was confined on the main floor of the building on the west side and about 100 feet above the ground. There was only a wall with a peep hole in it between his cell and the room in which the turkey, Andy, slept, but he managed, without touching the turkey, to save a few cents from the pockets of the turkey, and he made an opening 10x12 inches. Thus this he squeezed out his cell and hid in the room.

Then he crept along the corridor, took the storm window of the window, and in his hand he took only a blanket on the ground he fastened the end of a blanket on the window frame.

That let him into a yard surrounded by a fence. He was very fortunate for he had a wooden door, and with a pick he knocked two boards off. In his hand he took only his trousers, socks and one shoe. The police traced him to the main line of the G. W. R. by the print he made in the snow. He was probably provided with clothing by confederates on the main line.

Four other prisoners, which he carried from E. S. Brennan's, near the corner of Dundas and Dundas, were taken out of the jail, where they were confined. They were evidently frightened by the noise of the escape.

Ormand Demsey, a youth who worked for Butcher T. Shanny, was arrested Saturday on the charge of stealing a quantity of meat from his employer.

SIGNS OF PEACE FEW

The intervention by the English and French governments arose in the following manner:

Russia's last reply indicated plainly that the Japanese ultimatum in Manchuria was identical with those of Great Britain, France, the United States and the other powers and that she was entitled to make any special claims.

The Japanese authorities promptly complied with this declaration, and the powers directly concerned and asked them what they were going to do about it.

The British government at first was awake on receipt of this communication and is now actively responding to the appeal of diplomatic help from her ally.

The new rapprochement with France has enabled the Marquis of Lansdowne to secure the energetic co-operation of M. Delcasse, the French Minister of Foreign Affairs, and the result of these efforts is the following communication to the Paris correspondent of The Sun at the Guelph Telegram:

"The situation has greatly improved. The Japanese deny that they are sending troops to Korea. The Russian note, which evidently accepts the Japanese pretensions about Korea, has been rejected, and the reply as a whole is hopelessly unsatisfactory to Japan. Moreover, the writer has the authority for stating that the negotiations are ended, and that as far as Japan is concerned, they can only be reopened by a voluntary conciliatory communication from Russia. There is no doubt that Russia will adopt any such course: the probability, indeed, is such as to lead to a complete cessation of hostilities will be announced in some official manner in Berlin to-morrow, and it will be certain to give a great stimulus to the efforts which France and Great Britain are making at St. Petersburg and Tokio, respectively, in favor of peace.

The assurance news that the Russian warships which recently left Vladivostok have returned here is confirmed by a Vladivostok despatch received at St. Petersburg. The despatch asserts, however, that only the armored cruiser, Minerva, went to sea for a couple of days' practice, the other ships of the fleet having remained at Vladivostok through.

Special despatches from Tokio are very positive.

Anxiety is apparently felt in Tokio for the safety of the cruisers, Niashin and Kasuga, which left Genoa Saturday. The Genoa correspondent of The Daily Mail gives a curious story to the effect that an iron bar was found in the ammunition hold of the Niashin, and it is suggested, the objection of destroying the vessel, although there is no evidence to show that its being there was not accidental. No serious damage was done.

Several despatches report the arrival of additional Russian and Italian warships there.

The Daily Mail's Tokio correspondent asserts that the negotiations between Russia and Japan have passed beyond the point of a truce, and that the two Ministers have appealed to the American Government at Seoul for protection, but that Minister Alton understands them for thinking of their personal safety at such a juncture.

A severe gale in the Mediterranean has greatly inconvenienced the Russian warships. The cruisers Niashin and Kasuga, which entered Port Arthur Saturday, and two Russian battleships and several torpedo boats destroyed, have been driven back to Ruda Bay since Friday, and are unable to proceed to the Far East.

BOY-RIDDEN PRISONER

Went Into Six Jail Rooms to Get Clothes, Tools and Ladder

Springfield, Mass., Jan. 10.—William J. Reid, alias L. O. Hoffman, who is charged with swindling thirty-two hotels in various parts of the country out of $10,000, and who was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment, broke here to-day under remarkable circumstances.

In his escape he unlocked nine doors and sawed thru three chains, visited six different rooms of the county jail, climbed in front of watchers and finally escaped an eighteen foot wall. This was accomplished by a start in the morning, and he was out of the jail by 7 o'clock. He had been practically bedridden for three months, and was supposed to be too weak to get up.

In order to get thru the many doors he must have used force, and it is believed that he is not the slightest bit of a man in the manner in which he obtained these keys. He was seen at the jail, but not afterward.

The prisoner was found by a constable under sensational circumstances in June, 1902, and after a legal battle was brought to Springfield, where he was sentenced for hotel swindling.

MUST REBUILD STAGES

New Ordinance May Permit Reopening of Chicago Theaters Shortly

Chicago, Jan. 10.—The special commission of aldermen and building engineers appointed by Mayor Harrison to revise the ordinances regulating the construction and operation of playhouses as a result of the Iribou theatre fire to-night completed a new theatre ordinance, which, if it passed, will allow the reopening of the theatres. The ordinance will require that every stage be made absolutely fire-proof, and that the proscenium arch be reinforced with steel girders and steel joists, and that the auditorium be reinforced with steel joists and steel girders. This will mean the practical reconstruction of every stage in the city.

In addition to this every theatre will have to be re-seated and special stairways constructed.

women and children in the lifeboats. They were placed in the first boat to leave the ship, which Captain Lawrence, Yukon pilot, volunteered to command, and which was manned by deck hands. The craft went down within sight of the Clallam, and a second life boat filled with male passengers and in command of Second Officer Curran, was probably lost five minutes later. Aboard the Clallam watchers saw waves sweep passengers from the deck. The life boat was seen to hold on to the water. The life boat was seen to hold on to the water.
