FARMERS OF ONTARIO TOOK PATRIOTIC STAND

Deputy Minister of Agriculture Commends Their Attitude During Embargo on Horses.

WANT SIR ADAM TO BUY

Agriculturists Think Mounts For Cavalry Regiments Should.

"Ontario farmers have taken a patriotic stand with respect to the purchasing of horses for the war," said the deputy minister of agriculture at the parliament buildings to The Sunday World. He explained that when the Dominion authorities placed an embargo on the export of horses and otherwise restricted the free sale of horses the farmers waited patiently for conditions to become less onerous. Some of them wrote to the department relating the conditions in their respective localities and asked advice, but made little complaint. They regarded it naturally as a hardship that the horse raisers in the United States should have unhindered sale opportunities to agents of all the allies, but awaited with patriotic patience for their interests to be cared for. The pledges of Sir Adam Beck of full justice to them kept them in good heart. His efforts in their behalf have the sequel in the endeavors now being made to have the horse purchases for the new cavalry regiments and British army purposes made by Sir Adam Beck again or some other capable and if possible equally disinterested official made insistent on account of the reports frequently brought to the department of the American horse raisers by the agents of the allies.

Request Made to Minister. The report was tabulated for the Dominion Government and presented to the minister of agriculture. The statement points out that North America is the greatest horse continent in the world, while England and France use up 75 per cent. of the horses required for their armies each month. It is estimated that the monthly export of horses and mules from Atlantic ports have jumped to $10,000,000 monthly. This has made a correspondingly keen demand in the horse markets. The reports show that in Kansas City a firm closed a contract with the French Government for 26,000 artillery and cavalry horses at a price said to be between $5,000,000 and $7,000,000, an average price of more than $200 a head, an increase of fifty per cent. over the price in the first months of the war.

Markets of the States. The great horse markets of the United States are in the middle west. East St. Louis, Kansas City and other centres have been the chief sources of supply for the buyers of the allies, although several big contracts have been placed in the east. In Philadelphia, among others, Paul Connelly of the Bull's Head Restaurant street, is said to be under contract to supply the French Government with 80,000 head. From as far west as Colorado come reports of heavy purchasing of horses. In Denver daily sales for several months average 300 head, and both France and Great Britain have been steady purchasers. Great Britain has reported to have spent already some millions of dollars there. In view of the golden harvest being reaped by the United States horsemen the members of the deputation which went to Toronto to interview the Dominion minister believe they made out a strong case for the Ontario farmers.

OKLAHOMA, THE NEW FROHMAN-BELASCO PLAY

To Be Presented for the First Time in Toronto During the Week of February Seventh.

In the Grand Opera House, beginning Monday, February 7th, Charles Frohman-David Belasco will present a new American play of Indian life by George Scarborough, entitled "Oklahoma," with a cast of remarkable excellence, typically Frohman and Belasco in every respect. Among the players will be John Milner, William Courtleigh, Lowell Sherman, Edward L. Snider, Curtis Cooksey, H. C. Carleton, George West, a special Ulrich, Ethel Benton, Isabel O'Madigan and others.

David Belasco has personally staged "Oklahoma" and this should be enough to say to all lovers of the theatre. That the play will be "the last word" in stage art and in dramatic value, and entertaining, as well as gripping, one might add, goes without saying. From all accounts the latest Frohman-Belasco joint production, which has been staged in person by the past-master of the theatre, should prove one of the finest things the theatre has witnessed in several years.

In the writing of "Oklahoma" Mr. Scarborough had an unusual amount of highly dramatic personal experience to draw from, and such as but few men ever have had to their credit. For several years, after a long and eventful career as a newspaper reporter, Mr. Scarborough was in the United States service as a special agent of the department of justice. What he relates in his intensely dramatic way in "Oklahoma" he may be presumed to have occasioned in real life, and this is one of the things that should make his latest play strongly felt, and that bids fair to make "Oklahoma" a popular success.

The new play, "Oklahoma," is written in a prolog and three acts, with the scenes laid in a United States army post and at an Indian reservation. Scintillating, it is to be expected that "Oklahoma" will eclipse anything seen on the stage in a long, long time, since it bears the Belasco touch.

HALIFAX SOLDIERS HURT IN EXPLOSION OF BOMB

Three Privates and One Officer Sustain Injuries Considered Serious

CLASS IN PROGRESS

Those Knowing Details of Accident Are Too Badly Wounded to Talk.

HALIFAX, N.S., Jan. 29.—Three soldiers and one officer were seriously injured and five others more or less cut, bruised and burned when an explosion occurred this morning in a room of the old Cunard building on Water street, where lessons in the manufacture of bombs were being given to non-commissioned officers of the 64th Battalion by Captain Hurd, bombing instructor of the sixth military division.

The seriously injured are: Corporal Innes, of Halifax, 64th Battalion, severely cut about the body; Corporal McPhee, of Halifax, 64th Battalion, severely cut about the head and shoulders; Corporal Stonge, New Brunswick, 64th Battalion, severely cut about the body; Captain Hurd, Halifax, bombing instructor, cut about the face.

Several Slightly Hurt. The slightly injured are: Corp. Fritz Schaffer, Halifax, 64th Battalion, severely cut about the head and hand; Corp. Johnston, 64th Battalion, severely cut about head and arms; Corp. Dean, 64th Battalion, severely cut about head and arms; Corp. Sturge, 104th Battalion, New Brunswick, severely cut about head and arms; Lance-Corporal Early, 64th Battalion, severely cut about the face; Lance-Corporal Sturge, 104th Battalion, New Brunswick, severely cut about the face.

When the explosion took place there were about 35 soldiers in the building, and that more were not seriously injured is considered marvelous. So great was the explosion that two of the members of the bombing class were thrown clear thru the windows at the back of the building. The interior of the room was torn to pieces, plaster from the ceiling fell on the floor, while a wall was blown down.

The work of the class for the morning consisted of making time fuses for bombs. A three-foot fuse was in the room. It was planned to place a small amount of powder in a number of dummy bombs and then go outside and throw these bombs a specified distance for training purposes. There was a quantity of powder in the room for placing in the dummy bombs. This powder was in a tin box, encased in wood, and in some way was ignited as there was no other explosion in the room. The explosion was so great that it is that in some way, some of the powder reached the fire, the flames from this reaching the box of powder. "Don't make me look after the men," were the words with which Capt. Hurd, who was badly hurt, and stunned, greeted the first ones who came to help him to the regimental hospital. Schaffer, one of the injured men, was sprit champion of Canada at one time.

At the military hospital, where the injured were taken, it was stated, the condition of Corp. Innes was critical. Corp. McPhee, it was said, would lose the sight of both eyes. Besides the nine injured, already mentioned, there are three others at the military hospital suffering from shocks. They are: Sergt. Crawford, 103rd Battalion, Signal Sergt. S. F. Raymond, 112th Battalion, Signal Sergt. McLaughlin.

An investigation will be held by the military authorities.

Forget business for five minutes; face this query for your family:

Have you, as a family man, neglected any family duty?

Have You Provided a Family Burial Plot?

You have provided a home? "Yes." Insurance? "Yes." A FAMILY BURIAL PLOT? "Well—No; I thought it would be time enough when needed."

But "Time enough when needed" means thrusting an additional burden on a stricken family in the hour of deepest sorrow—the hurried purchase of a plot, anywhere, any price—resulting in deep dissatisfaction later. You wouldn't do that. Come out with us and make a calm and careful choice of a family plot in PARK LAWN Cemetery, in the Valley of the Humber.

PARK LAWN is planned to become the most modern Cemetery in Toronto—perhaps in Canada. It aims to be similar to the remarkable, modern Cemeteries of Chicago, Philadelphia, New York and other Cities of a million and more. Prices are moderate. Easy terms can be arranged if desired. Come with us and see PARK LAWN. A paved roadway leads to the property. When shall we call for you and your wife to inspect it? Book of views on request.
