

JAMES P. NASE DIES
SUDDENLY, WAS OUT
ONLY LAST EVENING

Prominent North End Business Man was Sixty-two Years Old.
OF LOYALIST FAMILY
Was Long Connected Closely With St. John River Business.

James Philip Nase, manager of the grocery and general produce business at 140 Main street, North End, passed away suddenly at 7 o'clock this morning, at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Susan Nase, widow of Leonard P. Nase, 140 Main street. He was 62 years of age, and unmarried. He had been in poor health for a considerable period, but well enough to attend to his business and walk about. Indeed, Mr. Nase took a short stroll last evening and felt refreshed for the day. Therefore news of his death was a sorrowful surprise to relatives, business associates and friends in general.

Of Loyalist Family.
Mr. Nase was a son of the well-known Loyalist Nase family and son of the late Philip Nase, one of the chief branches of this fruitful tree of the St. John, as well as a leading enterprise in a local sense. The family retains its original significance, P. Nase & Son, was for the modern cooperative affix "LAD."

Had Many Friends.
When Leonard T. Nase died seven years ago, James P. Nase succeeded to the management of the estate, an steady, industrious and courteous attention to its details. "Jim" Nase was a familiar figure with city residents and up-river dwellers. His connection with out-of-town residents was fully retained when he took up the reins of the business.

Gilbert H. Prince.

Gilbert H. Prince, acting Deputy Minister of the Crown Lands Department of the province, was the first witness called by the company. He produced certified copies of the titles to the land in dispute and these were placed in evidence.
Following Mr. Prince's testimony, Mr. Murdoch was called and on cross-examination his evidence, Dr. Pugsley called Miss A. R. Carter, secretary of the N. B. Electric Power Commission. Dr. Pugsley was not present and Mr. Lewin asked Dr. Pugsley what documents he required.

Dr. Pugsley replied he wanted all the records of the commission, reports, contracts, etc. Anything he said, that would tend to show the market for electricity through the Musquash development, and its commercial value. Asked specifically to enumerate these, Dr. Pugsley said he wanted the report made in 1922 by C. O. Foss, then chief engineer as published in The Times-Star; the original reports of the Power Commission to the Provincial Government; the contracts made by the commission with St. John, Moncton, Sussex, Apolquo, and other centres; detailed statements of the cost of development at Musquash and the reports of the consulting engineers.

Basis of Claim.
The following are the particulars of the claim re lands and property of the Inglewood Pulp and Paper Company, Limited, expropriated by the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission, before Mr. Justice LeBlanc, arbitrator.
1. The Inglewood Pulp and Paper Company, Limited, was incorporated by Act of the Legislature of New Brunswick, being Chapter VII, Paragraph 10, with power by Sec. 1, Paragraph (f), among other things, to lease, hire or sell any surplus property, or otherwise, which the company may develop, to any person, firm, corporation, town or village, and for the further carrying out of and for the purchase, lease, construct and maintain, conduits, poles, wires and pole lines. MRS. SNOWDEN HAD
TRIP IN ENGINE CAB

Finds Experience Most Novel and Thrilling in Her Life Time.
One of the most novel and thrilling experiences of my life was the way in which Mrs. Philip Snowden, wife of the Chancellor of the Exchequer in the Macdonald Government, expressed her appreciation of a 22 mile ride in the cab of a Canadian Pacific Railway engine, while en route from Fredericton here to Moncton.

When interviewed by a Times-Star reporter she said it was the first time in her life she ever had the pleasure of riding in an engine and thoroughly enjoyed the experience. So smoothly did the engine run over the "steel ribbons," she said, that she would enjoy taking a holiday out repeating the adventure.
