In fact, it is the best piece of work that has been undertaken during the last 20 years, and as far as our little island is concerned, it is a question of large import."

Mr. Gueritz then proceeded to give some figures to show the rapid strides that the island—which to the majority of the world is only known as the portion of the globe where wild men from Borneo hail-has been making during the past decade. In 1897 the revenue from all sources was $436,000, whereas in 1906 this had reached a total of $1,000,068. The penditure ten years ago was $341,000; last year a sum was spent totalling 1828,000. The last census taken nye years ago was 105,000 souls, but in the intervening time this has been largely increased. Of this population the major portion is made up of natives, of whom one tribe, the Dusuns, number 33,000 souls. This tribe inhabits the
