SACRED CONCERT

WELL ATTENDED

The sacred concert in the Opera House last evening under the auspices of Postmaster Sears and members of the post office staff and letter carriers, was an unqualified success. The large auditorium was crowded and the collection netted $155.00, which will be devoted to the patriotic funds. Mayor Frink presided, assisted by Postmaster Sears.

All the numbers were heartily appreciated. Those taking part were: Miss Blenda Thompson, Miss Knight, Miss Amdur, Master Nell Gorham, (of the Partello Stock Company), Fred Joyce, A. W. Baird, C. B. Skelton, Norman Houston (of the Partello Stock Company), Mrs. Geo. K. Bell, D. Arnold Fox and Mr. Ford acted as accompanists.

The Opera House orchestra and the Carleton Cornet Band assisted in the programme.

HARRY PIKE IS VERY BUSY ON FIRING LINE

Carleton boy with Heavy Artillery tells of work of Canadians.

A letter has been received from Harry Pike, who since last writing has been with Major Magee's heavy artillery fighting in France. Gunner Pike says that all the boys are well but are working day and night at the fighting. When writing the heavy guns had been stationed in pits dug seven feet in the ground and they are being fired both night and day. A few days before writing Gunner Pike said that they gave the Hun all that was coming to them and quite a large number of Germans were made prisoners.

He states that many of the prisoners while being brought in passed quite close to the gun pit in which he was working and they all presented a sorry sight.

Gunner Pike further states that the stories circulated in St. John that he and other members of the heavy artillery had been in England were false. He said some of the boys had obtained passes but they were taken away from them and they were not allowed to go to England. As for himself he did not have a pass and had been at the front ever since leaving England. He was not going to England until the war was over or unless something happened to him and he was sent away. He says that there is not very much chance of any passes being issued for soldiers to leave the front and spend a vacation in England as all the men that can be secured are needed at the front and this is certainly no time for any vacations.

THE AGRICULTURAL INSTRUCTION ACT

Good work has been done as a result of Department's efforts.

There has been issued at Ottawa the first report of the work accomplished by the provinces under the provisions of the Agricultural Instruction Act. It is entitled "Report of Agricultural Instruction Act, 1914" and embodies a full statement of the scope and nature of the measure followed by a review, in nine sections, of the work done in each province.

A section also is devoted to the veterinary colleges of Canada, toward which $20,000 a year is granted. Another section covers the subjects of Agricultural Education in Manitoba, "Agricultural Instruction in Belgium," "School Consolidation" and other matters including a list, briefly explained, of the United States federal appropriations for agricultural instruction. The report shows, among other things, that one hundred and fifty-five permanent instructors, professors, supervisors, directors, demonstrators and many assistants, have been appointed by the various provinces and are being provided for through the Agricultural Instruction Act. In addition, a large number of magnificent buildings have been erected from these funds throughout Canada.

The report embodies one hundred and forty-five pages of text in addition to sixteen pages illustrating the buildings constructed. The report shows that the work done by each province is varied according to local needs and conditions. Much of it, however, is common to all the provinces and varies only in the method by which it is carried out. It is being distributed to applicants by the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa.

Tea and Sale in Knights of Columbus Hall Tuesday Evening

On Tuesday night, October 26th, there will be a tea and sale in the Knights of Columbus rooms, Coburg street, by the ladies of the Cathedral parish. The proceeds will be given in aid of the Foundling's Home. Games and music will be held in the amusement line and a good sized crowd is expected. This is for a worthy cause and should be patronized by all who are able to attend. Energetic committees have been at work and an excellent programme has been arranged for the evening. A delicious tea will be served and fancy work sold. As the tea and sale will last only one night it is hoped that a large patronage will help accept the good work.

The Opera House was given over for the concert through W. C. McKay, the manager.

BRITISH NAVY HAS EVER BEEN AN INSTRUMENT FOR LIBERTY

Rev. Alfred Hall, Strathcona Commissioner, spoke in Congregational Church, on "Britain's Sea Power, The Gift of God"—One recruit offered.

Rev. Alfred Hall of Toronto, Strathcona commissioner and senior chaplain of Canada for the British and Foreign Sailors' Society, gave an address last evening in the Congregational church, Union street, taking for his subject: "Britain's Sea Power, the Gift of God." The address, which was listened to with keen interest, was followed by a number of lantern views depicting scenes in connection with the British navy and commercial shipping.

After the address Rev. Mr. Hall presented the sailors' flag, a handsome emblem of the British and Foreign Sailors' Society, to Mr. Flewelling, superintendent of the Sunday school, expressing the wish that it might be displayed in some suitable position in the schoolroom as a reminder of what the sailors are doing for us. A collection was taken for the society. Hew Walker sang a solo.

Rev. Mr. Hall spoke of the significance of the words in 1 Kings X-21: "For the king had at sea a navy," contending that it was God's gift to a king and that the British navy is a gift of God, a force which, as Mr. Balfour has said, "in its shrouded present situation," in eloquent language referred to the modern development of sea power and of Britain's supremacy in commercial and naval activity.

"The record of the British navy," he remarked, "has shown us that it has always been an instrument for liberty and has never been on the side of oppression. The Kaiser has said: 'the trident must be in our hands,' but do you think God is going to leave our navy in the lurch in the present crisis? Remember the Lusitania, and say what you think of the German navy. What do you think is likely to happen? Some of our big ships have, so far as we know, not yet fired a gun. Yet there rides the navy ready, and if it were not for this force the Empire would before now have gone to pieces."

"I believe this beautiful Canada to be the supreme prize which Germany seeks, but there is our fleet and the genius of the sea is in our people as is the chivalry of the sea." Towards the close of the address Rev. Mr. Hall spoke, as an example of the general feeling amongst the Jack tars, of an incident that occurred recently when one of them, before proceeding to the North Sea, expressed the hope that the 'fleet's prayer' would continue to be read whilst he was in those waters. On being asked what this prayer was he seemed surprised that the question should be asked and replied: "It's this: 'O Lord do give 'em courage to come out, even if it's only for five minutes.'"

The pastor, Rev. Ralph J. Haubert, took part in the service and spoke in terms of appreciation of the work of Rev. Mr. Hall in connection with the British and Foreign Sailors' Society. The national anthem was sung at the close of the service after which one of the men present, Napoleon J. Landry of Gardiner, Maine, of Canadian parentage, applied for enlistment to one of the two recruiting officers in attendance. He will be medically examined today.

The rest of the Empire and decide with unfaltering determination to carry this war to a successful conclusion, so that we may enjoy forever those rights and liberty bequeathed us by our forefathers.

"From Lord Kitchener and those in authority the call goes forth for men and still more men. We must not temper our devotion until the need is past."

"To the fathers I say, do not keep the boys back. Now is the accepted day. There are three kinds of fathers. First, the father who grasps his boy's hand and wishes him God speed. Second, the father who is opposed to his boy enlisting, but who, when the boy does enlist without the paternal sanction, is as proud as a peacock. Then there is the father who has been fortunate enough to accumulate some money and would have another's boy enlist but would not sacrifice his own. "I appeal to the mothers to let their sons go to save the country, if they don't there will be no country to save. "To the men at home I appeal. Your comrades in the trenches are still waiting. What are you going to answer? If there no inspiration for you in their gallant stand at Langemarck? If there is, it is time to come and help support them."

Mr. Fisher

W. S. Fisher spoke interestingly of his trip to England. He told of the splendid organization of the hospital service for Canadian troops. He said that at first it was the ideal to keep all the Canadian wounded in one hospital, but as the number of casualties increased this was not found to be feasible and at present you can find Canadians in most of the hospitals in England.

He visited Shoreham, where there are about twenty thousand Canadian troops and spoke highly of their appearance and said they were well thought of by the British people.

Mr. Fisher dealt with the submarine situation and told of the precautions that were taken to insure the safe transportation of men and supplies from England to France. He had been on board a submarine and told

NEW POSTER TO ASSIST RECRUITING

These have been posted in conspicuous places about the city.

The large number of posters and cards displayed about the city for the encouragement of recruiting have excited much interest. On telegraph poles, and in the windows of a large number of stores and business houses, as well as in some private residences, the call to the ranks is earnestly made in various ways. Conspicuous is the large poster on the boarding in King square which depicts soldiers in action, and in large letters underneath are the words: "Don't stand looking at this; go and help!" Smaller posters and cards bear the following appealing words:

How old are you?
Don't hold back—the other fellow may be waiting for you.
There are gaps in the ranks today; will you fill one of them?
Getting to be a frequent question—
"How old is he?"

The boys you meet are wondering if you are 15.
You have been waiting, waiting, waiting, hoping you would not be needed. Can you wait any longer? Surely the need now is very great.
Your lover is very dear to you—but will you be ashamed of him when the war is over?

If you are between 18 and 45 your conscience is troubling you; or is it dead?

A mother said: "My boy can go, I can't allow anyone to say he hid behind my skirts."

Would to God everyone could feel how serious is the job we have in hand.

The government has set 18 to 45 as the age limits of real men. Are you one?

If England falls you fall. Every man of you must go, as we too must go.

Your boy has chums who are going; he cannot hang his and stay behind. There are boys of 18 in the trenches; they have the right to be called men—are you a man?

The day you enlist will be the proudest in your life. The ones you love most may be in tears, but in their hearts they will be prouder of you than ever before.

PERSONAL.

of his impressions of the underwater craft. Speaking of aeroplanes, Mr. Fisher said the officer on board had told him that the air craft were of great assistance in discovering the presence of hostile submarines. He had been told that at some places it was possible for the pilot of one of these aeroplanes to see forty to sixty feet into the water.

He told of the determination of the British people to carry this war to a successful end. The people of Britain bore the burden of taxation without demur and in some cases the taxes amounted to from twenty-five to fifty per cent. of their incomes.

After the addresses the meeting closed with the national anthem.

There was a good attendance on Saturday night at the recruiting hall at the corner of Mill and Union streets. Clear were provided and selections were given by a nine-piece orchestra under the leadership of Leonard Dunlop. The proceedings were in charge of Walter C. Allison, Lieutenant Peters being chairman. Speeches pointing out the urgent need for a continuous stream of recruits and the serious conditions confronting the Empire were given by A. M. Belding, Miles E. Asar and A. H. Wetmore. It was announced that another smoker would be held tonight at 8.30. Six recruits were signed on during the day and passed the medical examination.
