PLEASANT RIVER.

Plesant River, Queens county, N. S., July 6—The 58th annual meeting of the Congregational Union of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick opened its meetings here this morning. The church building is a new one, having been erected last summer and is very nicely situated on the bank of the stream called Pleasant River.

The opening exercises were conducted by Rev. Churchill Moore. A sermon was preached by Rev. J. W. Cox, based on the words of Christ, in the 15th of John: "I am the true vine," etc. The speaker emphasized the call of Christ's followers to work, their responsibility, and the assurance of their success.

At 10 o'clock, with the chairman, Rev. A. W. Main, presiding, the meeting was organized for business. The secretary's report was read by Rev. J. W. Cox. The reports from the churches connected with the union showed that much good work had been accomplished during the year and the outlook was never brighter for further advancement.

The regular committees were appointed for the work of the union, after which Rev. I A. Rose, on behalf of the churches at Pleasant River, extended a welcome to the members of the union.

Rev. G. M. Whyte responded on behalf of the delegates.

On recommendation of the business committee Rev. W. S. Pritchard was received by letter from the union of Ontario and Quebec.

Rev. Churchill Moore's address on Church Self-Support and How to Attain It, was full of suggestion to all the churches, and especially to those depending on the missionary society for assistance. Unnecessary aid has a tendency, he said, to check Christian liberality and independence. The ideal church as shown by the Testament, is self-supporting while a should make the effort to be self-supporting, the speaker showed that in the case of weak churches, missionary aid has often proved a means of carrying them along until they were in a position to manage for themselves. There is a reserve force in the churches which must be called out, and this can be accomplished best when we pray and plan and work for it, and cultivate the spirit of unity and a stronger interest in mission.

The discussion which followed brought out many helpful suggestions.

The business was resumed at 2.30 p. m. The report of the statistical secretary, J. W. Flewwelling, of St. John, was in part as follows: There are 18 churches and 14 out-stations. All but two have pastors settled. The number under pastoral care is 3,705, and the membership 964, a slight increase over last year. A new church is being built at Margaree (C. B.), for which the material has all been provided. Parsonages have been purchased at Kingsport (N. S.), and Brooklyn (N. S.) Through the effort made in the interests of the jubilee fund the total indebtedness on the church property is $3,950, the sum of $1,550 having been paid since last year. It is expected that the balance will be paid during this year, leaving the churches "free to serve."

The report of the treasurer, C. E. Macmichael, of St. John, was received.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Chairman for 1906, Rev. G. M. Whyte, Sheffield (N. B.)

Secretary, Rev. J. W. Cox, Truro (N. S.)

Statistical secretary, J. W. Flewwelling, St. John.

Treasurer, C. E. Macmichael, St. John.

At 4 o'clock a discussion on A Revival of Religion, Its Necessity and the Best Means of Securing It, was led by Rev. D. W. Prudon.

At 7.45 Rev. S. J. Wilson, of Margaree, conducted the opening prayer service.

The chairman's address was given by Rev. A. W. Main, of Lower Selmah (N. S.), on The Bible in the Home, Its Influence on the Church and State. He made a strong plea for a more extended use of the Bible among the children, dwelling on the benefits derived later on in life and the great influence such training would have in our church and national life.

Dr. Creelman, of the Congregational College, Montreal, addressed the gathering on the subject of college training. He compared the prophets of old with those of the present time. They believed in a divine call and felt compelled to speak God's message to the people. Every walk and station was represented in prophetic life. We believe just as sincerely in a divine call to service. The home training is of great importance and much depends upon human efforts. Our thelogical colleges are the natural successors of the schools of the prophets and are a means of preparing the student to meet the difficulties which lies before him. The churches should support the college by praper and financial help. Seventy-five per cent of the graduates this year have settled in maritime churches. Where are the young men to take their places?

Although the hour was late and the evening very warm, the audience greatly enjoyed the address. The meeting adjourned until Saturday as Friday will be Woman's Board Field day.

In an almost perfect state of preservation, and easily recognized, the dead body of a guide named Nagi, a native of Aosta, Italy, who fell into a crevasse in 1877, near the summit of Monte Rosa, has just been recovered from the ice. Nagi was descending the mountain in company with two Milanese Alpinists when he suddenly disappeared, and the cord which bound him to the others was cut by a sharp piece of ice. A search party made many vain attempts to recover the body.
