At Bridgeport, Conn., Ellen Lucas, aged 21 years, was found lying dead in a shallow stream of water in the northern part of the city, Saturday morning. The Sussex (Eng.) Daily News gives a remarkable account of the arduous woman of Devon, whose marriage was recently reported. She is a very good reader, writes very nicely and rapidly, is a member of the choir at the parish church, and has learnt to play upon a concertina, her feet, and especially her left foot, being the implements which take the place of hands. Amongst other things she manages to do fine needlework and fancy embroidery for sale. She is a skillful cook, and dresses herself completely with little aid. Most of her work is performed sitting on the ground. It is not of Utah! St. Jerome mentions a woman that married her 22nd husband, who in his turn had been married to 20 wives! There is an instance recorded at Bordeaux, in 1772, of a gentleman who had been married 16 times. A woman, Elizabeth Nass, who died in Florence in 1768, had been married to 7 husbands. She was of the age of 71 when last tied to the hymenal altar, and survived her "beloved." When on her death-bed, it is said she recalled the good and bad points of her several husbands, and having recalled the pros and cons, determined that the fifth claimed the highest merit, and ordered her grave to be by his—Daily News.

It was Solomon, greatest of preachers, who found in the wisdom of words wariness and vexation of spirit, and no doubt a great majority of the well meaning men and devout women who go to church listen to the sermon with a vague doubt as to whether there be not in the secret truth too much vanity of vanities. These truths, they will remember, did not keep the great teacher of our day from falling into adultery and perjury, if they look on him as gully; or if they regard him as innocent, from becoming the prey of evil-minded beasts. What is the use of multiplying the incessant wash of words, words, if the ground of evil against which they beat remains the same?

The area of the German Empire is only 212,000 square miles, or scarcely four times that of Illinois, and on this small space live over 42,000,000 people, which exceeds the present population of the United States, scattered over twelve times that extent of territory, and Germany produces enough breadstuffs and meats for the support of her population, and raises a sufficient quantity of wools from which to manufacture nearly all the sugar and molasses consumed by her inhabitants, whereas the United States, with their great variety of climate and soil, expend $100,000,000 annually in the purchase of those commodities from tropical countries. Germany grows most of the tobacco consumed by her people, and they are inveterate smokers.

being prepared to meet the views of the very few who have appeared in the market since the late war, but it is certain, some other goods could not be repeated. A very heavy art of costume, principally in tailoring, has been a very depressing effect with purchasers. It is now pretty generally expected that there will be a material improvement in the interest of the remainder of the current year.—From A. J. Murray's brother, New York, Oct. 1, 1874.
