

The first part of the Constitution deals with the structure of the government. It sets out the powers of the President, the Executive Council, the Legislature, and the Judiciary. The second part deals with the rights and freedoms of citizens. The third part deals with the structure of the local government.

The Constitution is the supreme law of the land. It is the basis of the legal system. It is the source of the powers of the government. It is the guarantee of the rights and freedoms of citizens.

The Constitution is a living document. It is subject to change. It is the responsibility of the people to ensure that it remains relevant and effective. The Constitution is the foundation of the state. It is the source of the authority of the government. It is the guarantee of the rights and freedoms of citizens.

The Constitution is the supreme law of the land. It is the basis of the legal system. It is the source of the powers of the government. It is the guarantee of the rights and freedoms of citizens. The Constitution is a living document. It is subject to change. It is the responsibility of the people to ensure that it remains relevant and effective.

The Constitution is the supreme law of the land. It is the basis of the legal system. It is the source of the powers of the government. It is the guarantee of the rights and freedoms of citizens. The Constitution is a living document. It is subject to change. It is the responsibility of the people to ensure that it remains relevant and effective.

The Constitution is the supreme law of the land. It is the basis of the legal system. It is the source of the powers of the government. It is the guarantee of the rights and freedoms of citizens. The Constitution is a living document. It is subject to change. It is the responsibility of the people to ensure that it remains relevant and effective.