

Edward Torz of Bristol Aerospace Limited (left) and Dr. A.G. McNamara of NRC show how a rocket clamshell opens to expose instruments as a rocket streaks through the upper atmosphere. ● M. Edward Torz, de la compagnie Bristol Aerospace, à gauche, et le Dr. A.G. McNamara, du CNRC, montrent comment la coiffe protectrice des instruments embarqués est larguée.