VERITABLE TREAT

"It was a rare musical treat; I enjoyed it immensely," was the conclusion of the last of the Star Lecture Course attractions—the Bostelmann String Quartette.

The production was well worthy of these favorable criticisms. The large Assembly Hall was well filled with the music lovers of the city, and judging from the hearty and spontaneous applause which greeted each selection, the audience was well satisfied. This quartette is composed of Mr. Bostelmann, his son and two daughters, every one of whom is an artist of considerable ability. They were accompanied by Carl Grange, basso, who soon won a warm spot in the hearts of his audience. He was recalled five times after his eighth number.

The cello solo by Miss Bostelmann also is deserving of special mention. Each of the numbers on the program was encoored and the audience received a gracious response each time. This company is just concluding a six months' continuous tour and they have been greeted with large audiences every place they have gone.

Principal Paterson, of the C. I., deserves great praise for bringing such creditable productions to our city. He has managed the star lecture course very successfully this year, having audiences of between 400 and 500 people at each attraction. The course next year will, no doubt, be more popular than ever.

SIR OLIVER MOWAT.

Lieut.-Governorship Again Discussed in the Commons.

Ottawa, March 31.—Mr. W. F. Maclean, for the third time this session, brought to the attention of the House the situation which he alleges was created in Ontario by the incapacity of Sir Oliver Mowat to perform the duties of his office as Lieutenant-Governor. Mr. F. D. Monk, the Conservative first lieutenant for the Province of Quebec, also raised the question of the constitutionality of the limited commission issued to Chief Justice Moss to perform certain duties appertaining to the Lieut.-Governorship. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, after relating the circumstances under which the commission was issued, at the request of Sir Oliver, who is, owing to an accident, confined to his room, expressed sorrow that Mr. Maclean had declined to wait until to-morrow in order that he might telegraph for permission to submit Sir Oliver's letter to the House. He suggested that as Mr. Maclean had declared his confidence in Sir Oliver Mowat, he would accept that gentleman's statement that he was in good bodily health, and quite able to perform the duties of his office, except those which required him to leave his residence. The Premier recalled the circumstances under which Sir George Kirkpatrick was allowed to remain in the office, and asked why similar treatment should not be accorded to Sir Oliver Mowat, who more than any man enjoyed the confidence and admiration of the people in his ability to direct the Province in the existing political crisis. Upon the constitutional question raised by Mr. Monk, he pointed out that the Government had followed the precedent set by the late Government, when Sir Alex. Campbell was Lieutenant-Governor. An animated discussion and a division took place on a motion for the production of papers in reference to the purchase of oats and hay in Canada for the Imperial Government. Mr. Monk declared that the Imperial Government had been cheated by speculators. The Government took the ground that as the matter was one which entirely concerned the Imperial Government, the officials of the Department of Agriculture, acting solely for them, it was not competent for this House to interfere. A dozen private bills, most of them referring to railways, were sent to committees. This evening the House sat for an hour, dealing with motions and sending a few public bills to committees.

The following bills were introduced: Respecting the British Columbia Southern Railway Company—Mr. Morrison.

Incorporating the Northwest Bank of Canada—Mr. Walter Scott.

Incorporating the Joliette Colonization Railway—Mr. Demers.

Mr. Monk introduced a bill respecting insolvency. He explained that this was the same bill which was introduced by Mr. Fortin in 1928, and which was approved of by all the Boards of Trade in the country, with the exception of the Winnipeg board, which did not disapprove of its provisions, but refrained from expressing approval. It therefore met the requirements of all the Provinces at that time, and there is a great demand for uniform insolvency legislation throughout the Dominion.

TO SETTLE IN ONTARIO.

Hundreds of Emigrants Arrived Yesterday.

Toronto, March 31.—Over three hundred immigrants—men, boys and girls—arrived in the city yesterday by the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk trains. They came over the same bill which was introduced by Mr. Fortin in 1928, and which was approved of by all the Boards of Trade in the country, with the exception of the Winnipeg board, which did not disapprove of its provisions, but refrained from expressing approval. It therefore met the requirements of all the Provinces at that time, and there is a great demand for uniform insolvency legislation throughout the Dominion.
