LORD CHURCHILL AT LEEDS

OUTLINES PORTIONS OF THE GOVERNMENT'S POLICY.

An Answer to Four Hundred Addresses at Bradford—The London Times on His Lordship's Speech—A Winter of Hard and Heavy Work Ahead.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—In a speech at Leeds last night Lord Randolph Churchill said: "Official accounts reaching the Government of the social condition and prospects of Ireland are of an encouraging character. There is a good harvest and a marked recovery in prices, and from all we can learn rents are being fairly paid throughout the country. Landlords have helped greatly to lessen the difficulties of the crisis. The Irish tenants have also co-operated in a signal manner toward restoration of order. Of course," he continued, "I cannot speak with absolute confidence of the future, nor say whether we shall be able to pass the winter without calling upon Parliament for a measure to assist in the execution of the law, but on the whole I think Ireland is not in nearly so bad a state as might reasonably be expected. People are rapidly appreciating the full significance of the last appeal to the electors, and will gradually shape their political and social action in accordance therewith. On the questions of foreign affairs I have nothing to add or detract from my Dartford speech. I have been during my holiday isolated from the knowledge of official affairs, not as some silly hysterical people supposed in close contact with European statesmen." Three things he was able to state with certainty; "first, the Government did not intend to grant Home Rule to Ireland; second, it did intend to deal with local government in Ireland; third, it did not mean to be hurried or hasty in that dealing." He asked that earnest attention be given to his remarks. On procedure, he said: "I wish to fully and frankly admit that I have changed my mind on the question of the power of closing debate. When both the great parties of the state firmly opposed the repeal of the Union and Parnellite obstruction the Conservatives looked upon the cloture as a startling and unneeded innovation. They may have been wrong, but what we now deal with is an absolute change in the state of affairs, since the Radical Separationists deliberately tolerate and assist the obstruction tactics of the enlarged lobby of Parnellites pledged not to allow any legislation until Home Rule is granted. We therefore feel certain of your support in changing our minds with the altered circumstances." He concluded with an earnest appeal to the country to assist the Government in their high purpose of enabling Parliament to carry out the will of the people. He sat down amid vociferous cheering.

In Answer to 400 Addresses.

BRADFORD, Oct. 27.—Lord Randolph Churchill was presented with 400 addresses at Bradford to-day in the hall in which the Conservative conference was held. The hall was crowded. When he, accompanied by his wife, entered both were greeted with prolonged cheers. Lord Randolph said he looked forward to a winter of hard and heavy work. The Government were resolved to submit to the country real, genuine measures in accord with the reforming and progressive spirit of the age. Referring to the addresses he had received he said they embodied a real and living political spirit which could not fail to guide the future of the country. The vastness of the deputation who were present at the conference realized Lord Beaconsfield's prediction for the future of the Tory party and the hold it ought to have on the masses of the people.

The Thunderer on the Speech.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The Times commenting on Lord Randolph Churchill's speech says:

Exultation over the nervous prostration of the Gladstonians is very well in moderation, but it rather weakens some of Lord Churchill's own arguments. It is less candid for when the Gladstonians are giving evidence of their vitality by their preparations for a counter blast, Lord Randolph failed to avail himself of chances at his command for useful departure from lines laid down in his former oration at Dartford. It is unfair and unwise to assume that the bulk of the Liberals will adopt or abet the tactics of the Parnellites. Despite the vagueness of Lord Randolph's proposal for a remedy we do not think the application of closure by a bare majority will command itself to the government.

The Procession Forbidden.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—It is stated that Col. Sir James Fraser, Chief Commissioner of the City Police, has issued orders forbidding the procession of unemployed workingmen of London, which it was proposed by the Socialist leaders should march through the streets at the same time as the Lord Mayor's show.

Col. Sir Jas. Fraser, Chief Commissioner of the City Police, has written to the Democratic Federation that no procession except the Lord Mayor's will be allowed to pass through any street of the city on that day. The workingmen point out that they have as much right as any other body of citizens and it is believed the commissioner's order will be disregarded.

The Duke of Cumberland Compromised.

BERLIN, Oct. 27.—Since the arrest of Dr. Dedekind, a leading Guelphite, his Wolfenbuttel residence has been searched. Papers were found which compromised the Duke of Cumberland in the providing of funds for conspirators in Brunswick and Hanover. There have been further arrests of Hanover accomplices of Dedekind. The plan of the conspirators was to blow up with dynamite the residence of Count Gertz Wresberg, the Prime Minister of Brunswick.

The Imperial Family of Germany.

BERLIN, Oct. 27.—Emperor William to-day received several military reports, worked three hours, received Count Herbert Bismarck at 5 o'clock and gave a large dinner party at 5. The Emperor proposes to attend a hunt on Saturday at Aubertustock. The King of Saxony, the Duke of Saxe-Altenburg and other princes will accompany him. Crown Prince Frederick William will return to Berlin on Nov. 7. The Crown Princess and family remain in Italy for the winter.

Work Still to be Done in Burmah.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Advices from Rangoon say the rebellion in Myingyan is increasing. The mail for Yemethen has been looted and the native escort killed. The British have organized forces to attack the rebels in the Meemboo and Myingyan districts next week. Officials of Burmah say that it will take four years to subjugate the country and that a large army will be necessary.

Faction and Sectarianism.

BELFAST, Oct. 27.—At the unveiling of a statue of the Poet Davis in this city to-day Mr. Sexton, replying to an address on "Young Ireland," referred to the recent riots in Belfast and observed that if the writings of Davis were better understood the downfall of faction and sectarian bitterness would be accomplished.

The New Zulu Republic.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Sir A. E. Havelock, Governor of Natal, has informed the Legislative Council of that colony that the English Government has declined to consent to the absorption of Zululand. The Council proposes to decline to vote supplies unless the Government explains to the Home Government's relations with the new Zulu republic.

Tough on Justin McCarthy.

DUBLIN, Oct. 27.—Mr. Lewis, in a farewell address to the Londonderry Loyalists, says he regrets handing over his seat in Parliament to one who, whatever his personal qualities may be, has been received and enlisted in America by Fenian dynamiters and advocates of murder.

England Will Not Be Asked to Evacuate.

PARIS, Oct. 27.—The Siecle, in an article similar to that in yesterday's Temps, declares that there is no question of calling upon England to evacuate Egypt. The Paris and France severely criticise the views expressed by the Temps.

The Fate of Revolutionists in Honduras.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 27.—Advices from Puerto Cortez, Honduras, state that on Oct. 10 General Eldago, Lieut.-Col. Juda Indalicio Garcia, Commander Miguel Cortez, and Lieutenant Gabriel Loyono were taken from prison at Comayagua and shot in accordance with the sentence pronounced by court martial.

$400,000 in an Old Skirt.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Hannah Sands, an old lady living at Rye, Westchester County, was supposed to be very poor and died last fall. Search among her effects brought to light $400,000 in money and bonds sewed up in an old skirt.

THE BARTHOLDI STATUE.

Entertainment of the French Delegates—The Poet's Tribute.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The members of the Produce Exchange tendered a grand reception to the French delegates to-day. M. Bartholdi made a few remarks in English, and M. De Lesseps and one of the members of the Chamber of Deputies spoke in French. The Glee Club of the Exchange sang the "Marseillaise" when the delegates made their appearance in the gallery.

A Poem by Whittier.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The following poem by John Greenleaf Whittier, entitled: "The Bartholdi Statue," will appear in the Independent, Thursday:

The land that from the rule of kings,
In freeing us, itself made free,
Our old world sister, to us brings
Her sculptured dream of Liberty.

Unlike the shapes on Egypt's sands,
Uplifted by the toil-worn slave;
On Freedom's soil with freemen's hands
We rear the symbol free hands gave.

O, France, the beautiful, to thee,
Once more a debt of love we owe:
In peace, beneath thy fleur de lis,
We hail a later Rochambeau.

Rise stately symbol; holding forth
Thy light and hope to all who sit
In chains and darkness; belt the earth
With watch-fires from thy torch relit.

Reveal the primal mandate still
Which chaos heard and ceased to be;
Trace in mid-air th' eternal will,
In signs of fire "Let man be Free!"

Shine far, shine free, a guiding light,
To Reason's ways and Virtue's aim;
A lightning flash the wretch to smite
Who shields his license with thy name.

VIOLENT PROHIBITIONISTS.

An Illicit Whisky Seller Either Murdered or Scared into Suicide.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 27.—James M. Hampton of Craig, Neb., has been running what is known as a temperance billiard hall. The prohibition people believed he was selling liquor and have been trying to catch him. A few days ago they swore out a warrant for his arrest for selling liquor without a license, and Monday night the sheriff with a posse of men and about 150 armed prohibitionists surrounded the building. There was great excitement and threats of burning the building were made. Suddenly the door was burst open by the mob and Hampton was found on a sofa with a bullet through his heart. There is great excitement over the affair. The whole trouble is ascribed to the agitation of the prohibitionists, who are very violent at that place.

SACRAMENTAL WINE.

The Bishops Declare that the Use of Unfermented Grape Juice is Unwarranted.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 27.—In the House of Deputies of the Protestant Episcopal Convention this morning a message was received from the House of Bishops declaring that in the judgment of the bishops the use of the unfermented juice of the grape in the sacrament is not warranted by the example of our Lord and was an unauthorized departure from the practice of the Catholic Church; and that the mixing of water with the wine used was not objectionable, provided it be not done ritualistically until authorized by a change of the Rubrics. The message did not require any action by the deputies.

A Wreck Off New Jersey.

NANASQUAN, N. J., Oct. 27.—During a severe northeast storm that raged along the Jersey coast the barkentine John Sherwood, Kenebec for Philadelphia, struck the outer bar at 4 a.m., forty-five minutes afterwards the spars fell and she broke in two and began to go to pieces and the surf being too heavy for a life boat. The captain was on the forward house which also clung to the wreckage. The life saving men shot a line near the captain, who seized it and was hauled ashore through the surf in an exhausted condition. The vessel and cargo are a total loss.

Improvements in Telegraphy.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 27.—Two patents have been issued this week to Lucius J. Phelps of New York on duplex telegraphy. Under these inventions it is claimed that the same wire used for telegraphing to or from moving trains may be diplexed, thereby enabling it to be used as an ordinary Morse circuit between stations and simultaneously used for telegraphing to and from moving trains.

THREATENED BY RUSSIA.

EXTREME MEASURES TO BE METED OUT TO BULGARIA

If the Conspirators Against Prince Alexander are Punished—Precautions Against a Coup d'Etat at Sofia—The Climax Approaching.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 27.—The Official Messenger says the Anarchy which prevails in Bulgaria prevents Russian consuls from protecting the lawful interests of Russian residents. After Gen. Kaulbars had left Varna several Russians were arrested on illegal pretexts. Two Russian cruisers were therefore despatched to that place.

SOFIA, Oct. 27.—Gen. Kaulbars has notified the regency that if the conspirators against Prince Alexander be punished the Russian Government will have recourse to extreme measures.

The regents suspecting that it is Gen. Kaulbars' intention during their absence at Tirnova to assist the Zankoffites in Sofia to form a new ministry, have taken precautions to cause the arrest of all suspected persons, and have ordered the troops to be in readiness to suppress revolt. A state of siege will be proclaimed in the event of a coup d'etat being attempted.

The Position of M. Karaveloff.

SOFIA, Oct. 27.—M. Karaveloff refuses to go to Tirnova because of a fear of being insulted or assaulted. He argues that it is useless to convoke the Sobranje in face of Russian opposition. The Sobranje, he says, has no right to depose him from the regency and declares that if it does he will retire under protest.

A New Triple Alliance.

PESTH, Oct. 27.—Nemsoz, the semi-official organ, dwells upon the advantages that would accrue to Italy by close alliance with Austria-Hungary in the Balkan question. Other papers comment upon the isolation of England, and suggest the advisability of an alliance between Austria-Hungary, Italy and England.

An Unprosperous Cigar Partnership.

"Sandy" Burnstein and George Michael were plaintiff and defendant in a suit in the Assize Court. Mr. Burnstein and Mr. Michael formed a partnership in June, 1883, for the sale of cigars, "Sandy" was to furnish the experience and Mr. Michael the capital. The copartnership was not a prosperous one, and when they wound up there was a wide difference of opinion as how they stood. Mr. Burnstein's suit was for $4000 damages for alleged distress on his household effects. Mr. Bigelow and Mr. Ritchie, Q.C., were the opposing counsel, and the case was not finished when the court rose.

Coca Bola Piano.

Few people in Canada but are now familiar with the high reputation of the "Dominion" pianos and organs, a reputation not forced up by artificial means, but built up on the only true basis; that of the intrinsic merit of each individual instrument, each one, whether purchased by rich on poor, high or low, being in itself a perfect masterpieces of art, skill and music. For sometime at his warerooms, 68 King-street west, Mr. Joseph Ruse has been preparing an especially attractive stock of pianos and organs for this season of the year. Among several car loads received recently is a beautiful upright grand in Coca Bola wood, with extra carvings and a novelty in the way of a music rack, which extends nearly the full length of the instrument. This piano will be on exhibition for a few days and will itself amply repay a special visit to these rooms where all will find a genuine welcome extended.

DONT WANT A COMMISSION.

THE RAILROAD MEN OPPOSED TO SUCH A COMBINATION.

The Testimony of Nine Witnesses Yesterday—Special Rates Would be a Worse Move Than the Scott Act—Toronto as a Complaint Book.

Sir Alexander Galt and his fellow-commissioners examined nine witnesses yesterday on the question of the advisability of appointing a permanent railway commission. The representatives of the railways who attend every sitting seem pleased with the outlook. They don't want to be governed by a commission and most of the grain and lumber merchants are their champions.

Out of yesterday's nine witnesses only three favored the commission scheme. Those were W. H. Knowlton and James Young, commission merchants, Toronto, and Thomas Long, general merchant and Mayor of Collingwood. Mr. Knowlton would like to have the rates fixed by the railways and adjusted by a commission. Notwithstanding what others said he thought that the farmer got mighty little benefit from the granting of special rates. Mr. Young thought the tariff rates were too high. He complained of the G.T.R. having a monopoly on the Esplanade, preventing a free movement of the freight of other lines. He says he has a car waiting ten days on the Northern because it could not get access to the Esplanade. Mayor Long wanted a commission because the railways did not always give fair play. Rates between points where there was no competition were higher than between points with competition, and he was once refused a special rate because there was no competition. He complained of shippers not being able to get a car load rate unless the car was to be filled with one kind of goods. Again, if grain was lost in transit the railway was not responsible.

The first of the anti-commissioners was J. C. S. Peckham, Superintendent of the Georgian Bay Lumber Company, who preferred the present system to interference by a commission which, however, might do in transhipping difficulties. A chief grievance to small shippers was that lumber shipped to local points was carried by weight, which was only guessed at, and which in winter included snow and ice; while the charge for carrying it was to be expected was calculated to measurement.

Kenneth Chisholm, grain and flour merchant, Brampton; James Scott, lumber merchant, Waubaushene; John B. Smith, lumber merchant; Chas. J. Smith, coal and wood merchant, and Nicolas Weatherston, grain and flour merchant of Toronto were the others who gave evidence. No necessity for the appointment of a commission. Mr. Chisholm thought that special rates were in the interest of all, that a fixed tariff could not be worked, and that no favoritism existed. The only matter in which Mr. Scott thought a commission would be of use was in settling disputes regarding land. It would be hard to get from a commission prompt decisions regarding special rates. Mr. C. J. Smith said that matters were best left with the railways. Rates had been reduced so that now he sold for $4 a cord wood that brought $8 and $9 ten years ago. He knew of no favoritism. Mr. Weatherston said that "to take from the railways the power of granting special rates would be a worse move than the Scott Act." The only thing that a commission might deal with was the settling of land disputes. As to giving a commission power to fix tariffs, while Mr. Galt thought Toronto alone could keep it busy with trivial complaints. Mr. John B. Smith complained of lumber being carried by weight.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL AT MIMICO.

Annual Meeting of the Association—Election of Officers, Etc.

The annual meeting of the Industrial School Association was held in the Mayor's office yesterday afternoon, these members being present: Mayor Howland (in the chair), E. A. Meredith, J. L. Hughes, John Langton, B. Jones, G. E. Gillespie, W. Anderson, R. C. Steele, W. C. Wilkinson, S. Alcorn, W. J. Macdonell, James Lobb and W. H. Huston. The annual report of Management presented at the meeting, stating that the buildings at Mimico are completed and that all that is required to enable the school to go into operation is the furnishing, for which some $4500 is required; that W. J. Hendry, late headmaster of Jesse Ketchum School, has been appointed Superintendent, and that it was expected that the citizens of Toronto and of the province would voluntarily subscribe the amount needed for furniture.

The officers elected were: President, Vice-Presidents, Mr. Chancellor Boyd, Goldwin Smith, Dr. Daniel Wilson, Hon. G. W. Allan, Hon. Wm. McMaster, Judge Jones (Brantford), Sheriff Jarvis, John Macdonald, Daniel McLean, Walter S. Lee, Verschoyle Cronyn (London), F. W. Gates (Hamilton); Auditors, John Langton, W. B. McMurrich; McCabe; Solicitor, Wm. B. McMurrich; Treasurer, Beverley Jones; Secretary, W. H. Huston; Board of Management, W. H. Beatty (Chairman), G. McMurrich (Chairman Executive Committee), James L. Hughes (Inspector City Schools), W. C. Wilkinson (Secretary Public School Board), H. P. Dwight, Robt. Jaffray, Hamilton Cassels, E. A. Meredith, Wm. McCabe, John Langton, George E. Gillespie, James Hedley, Warring Kennedy.

The Secretary was instructed to convey the thanks of the Association to Mrs. Cameron and Mrs. Pollard for their magnificent donation of $6000 and $300 respectively.

The Chairman announced at the close of the meeting that he had just received a check from S. Alcorn for $500, leaving only $4000 to be raised. He also stated that there was urgent necessity of the school opening at once, as he was besieged with applications on behalf of the neglected boys for whom the school is intended to serve as a home.

Just opened a large lot of best quality linoleums, and floor oil cloths, selling at bottom prices this week, at Petley's. 24

THE PEOPLE WANT A NEW PARK.

A Lovely Location in the Ravines of Rosedale—An Aldermanic Pointer.

Superintendent Englehart of Mount Pleasant Cemetery declares one of the finest sites for a park in America exists in and about the Rosedale ravines. "Now," said Mr. Englehart to The World, "what is the use of trying to fix up that old Tannery Hollow crossing with a stone wall. The crossing over Yonge-street should be supported by embankments on either side, the creek should be transformed into a sewer, the brickyards should be removed, the ravine formed into a park away round past the Reservoir grounds north to our cemetery, and you have a grand park naturally, which, with a little ornamentation, could be made a beautiful summer resort."

If the representatives at the Council Board from North Toronto would pay heed to Superintendent Englehart, and he is a landscape engineer of great ability, they could easily solve the problem of where the citizens's outing place will be, now that Queen's Park is all but abandoned to brick and mortar. The ravines with their wooded slopes are well adapted for park purposes, the locality is the most central that can now be had, and the situation is romantic in the extreme. Mr. Englehart thinks no ordinary wall will suffice to bear the strain at Yonge-street over the hollow. He thinks the cheapest way would be to fill the hollow in on either side the road and make a gently sloping ascent to the proposed park. Already the citizens of North Toronto and Deer Park are filled up with his idea, which, to say the least of it, seems a feasible one. At all events the people want a park, and a park they must have.

Contracts for the Firemen's Winter Clothing

Ald. Piper, the veteran of the Fire and Gas Committee, at yesterday's meeting filled Chairman Maughan's usual position. There were present: Ald. Shaw, Jones, Johnston, Allen, Fleming, McMillan, Carlyle (St. Andrew's) and Woods. Lambeth lamps were recommended for Bloor and Gwynne-streets and for Alexander-street and an additional electric light for Dundas-street. On Ald. Shaw's motion, a new bell striker was recommended for the Yorkville Fire Hall. The City Commissioner will see to it immediately that the sleeping and bath rooms for the boys in that division are at once put in order. The contract for firemen's winter clothing was awarded to Petley & Petley at $10.50 for coats; $2.25 for vests and $5.35 for pants. Tenders were also received from J. J. Follett at $10.50, $2.25 and $6, and from C. Martin & Co. at $11, $2.70 and $6.

Rush! Boom! Bang!

—This cold damp snap in the weather has put the stove buyers on pins and needles and the stove sellers in a perpetual hurry-scurry. At 179 Yonge-street the largest number of stoves were sold yesterday of any day since the season started, but it's no wonder the "Warrior Cooking Range" is away ahead of any cooking stove ever yet brought before the public. The Hall stoves are perfect. Strathern is taking the lead in Toronto for housefurnishings and stoves, etc., etc. x

POLITICS IN AND AROUND THE CITY.

A little bird whispered to me last evening, notwithstanding that it was raining hard, that Sir Richard Cartwright has his blue eyes on South Wentworth. It has often been said that Dr. Springer would not again seek re-election in Old Wentworth of the southern part. Sir Richard is going into the constituency to speak, and will begin at Stoney Creek on Nov. 5. Next day he speaks at Smithville. Sir Richard intends to introduce himself in Wentworth at least, and there may be something in the little bird's predictions.

The City Reformers are already beginning to brighten up their armor. Dates and places have been announced for meetings of all the ward associations except St. Matthew's, Parkdale and St. Mark's associations will meet to-night. Delegates to the three city conventions will be chosen.

The Hamilton Reformers held a preliminary nominating meeting last night, at which there was plenty of enthusiasm displayed.

Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. A. S. Hardy and Mr. M. C. Cameron, M.P., took part in the inauguration ceremonies of the Seaforth Young Liberals' Club yesterday. Sir Richard will address his own constituents of South Huron at Londesboro' to-day, at Zurich on Friday, at Hensall Nov. 1, at Varna Nov. 2.

Mr. Blake will receive the homage of the Guelph Young Liberals' Club at the Royal City to-day.

Mr. Erastus Wiman has concluded his telegraph business in Toronto and leaves for Chicago this morning.

I wonder if the "Tabernacle" revivals have anything to do with the empty theatres this week. Some people say it is the bad weather.

Mr. James E. Smith gave a dinner party at the Albany Club yesterday in honor of his old friend Erastus Wiman. There were present: Gov. Robinson, Ald. John Turner, W. H. Barrett of the New York Times, D. R. Wilkie, W. G. Falconbridge, Q.C., A. R. Boswell, Wm. Douglas, Q.C., of Chatham.

Hon. Wm. McDougall is in the city. He is reticent about the political situation.

GOOD-BYE, TORONTO.

The Revivalists Take the Noon Train for the West—A Big Farewell Meeting.

Revivalists Jones and Small were bidden an affectionate farewell at the Rink yesterday morning by the Methodist ministers of the city and a large audience. They were also made the recipients of $2500, part of which, however, goes to the conductor of the choir and the soloist. Complimentary speeches were the order of the day. Rev. Hugh Johnston said he felt like hugging Sam Jones. Mr. Gooderham said the people had been set thinking and they should be kept thinking. Rev. Manly Benson thought it was indeed "a great awakening" to get so many people to such an early meeting. Rev. Dr. Potts said the most handsome donation of all was that of Mark H. Irish of the Rossin House, who had boarded the revivalists free of charge. Rev. Dr. Briggs bestowed the daily press for the liberal reports published. Rev. Dr. Starr said that although he was a Mail man, the Globe had given longer reports. Rev. Dr. Sutherland said that instead of keeping the people thinking they should keep them doing something. Nothing like work and practical results. Rev. E. A. Stafford spoke of Rev. Sam Small, who had helped him over at the Metropolitan. Rev. Dr. Potts in referring to Mayor Howland's absence spoke highly of his many estimable qualities. Rev. Sam Jones thanked the committee for the liberal way they had treated him. He had come without any stipulation and they had surprised him. He promised to use the surplus for the glory of God. Rev. Sam Small also thanked the Christian ministers and the Old people for their kindness, and a few handshakes ended the meeting.

The quartet left town on the noon train, leaving many weeping friends behind.

Sam Jones goes at once to Cartersville, Ga., for a few days' rest. Sam Small left for Albany and Buffalo, where he is to deliver lectures. Rev. Excell will visit his family, now in Pennsylvania, and Prof. Maxwell will visit his in Cincinnati until Nov. 7, when they re-unite at Omaha for a series of meetings.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Ingomar" at the Toronto Opera House—Attractions for This and Next Week.

Owing to bad weather "Ingomar" was witnessed by only a small audience at the Toronto Opera House last night. The beautiful Greek play is worthy of a better presentation. Miss Marie Prescott had in Parthenia a character for which she is well suited, and she played it with a pathos, tenderness and archness that, with her charming face and her figure clad in the chaste costume of ancient Greece, delighted the audience on her several recalls. But she had not the support that either she or the merits of the play deserve. The acting of those who took the minor parts was below the standard and there was too much prompting required. Even Mr. R. D. McLean, Miss Prescott's leading man, who played Ingomar, and who certainly has ability of no small degree, had to be prompted. "Czeka" will be presented to-night and "Pygmalion and Galatea" to-morrownight.

The Rochester Union and Advertiser speaks of the Toronto comedian, Roland Reed, who appears at the Toronto Opera House next week, as follows: "Roland Reed in Dick Smyth, the irrepressible, in the amusing comedy of Cheek, delighted a large audience at the Grand Opera House. Mr. Reed is one of the most lifelike, genuine, painstaking and capable of comedians and his efforts never fail to please. 'Cheek,' though not new, was presented with all the freshness and vivacity imaginable and elicited enthusiastic applause."

Mr. Joe Murphy will present "Shaun Rhue" for the balance of the week, with a matinee on Saturday, at the Grand Opera House. This is undoubtedly Mr. Murphy's best play, at least it has always been the most popular with his Toronto audiences.

In a recent interview with Mlle Rhea, a reporter asked the actress if many plays were sent her for perusal, to which she replied:

"Dozens, and every new author who writes one tells me that he has written just the role for me, a role which will fit me like a glove. But when I come to read the drama, I find that I cannot get into the role at all. And what droll subjects some men choose for plays. Not long since a man sent me a play (we will call it so, anyhow) founded on the story of the Jeannette expedition. The first act took place on the vessel which the explorers crossed. In this act was a cabin boy whom the superior officer beats. The boy jumps overboard and is drowned. I was to play the boy. The second act takes place in the Arctic regions. There are twin sisters in it, natives of the Arctic regions. One sister is dark, the other light. It was to play the sisters and change the color of my face each time I came upon the stage. The two sisters love the same man, an officer connected with the expedition. The dark one thinks the officer does not love her, so she goes out among the icebergs and freezes to death. That would make my second dying scene. The climax was not very dramatic, but novel. In the third act the men of the expedition are starving to death. For this time the light sister has concluded that the officer does not love her either. What does she do? This is where the author shows himself a genius. She sacrifices herself for her lover and saves the men the trouble of drawing lots to see which one shall be eaten up. When no one is near she makes a hole in her throat with a fish bone and bleeds to death, after having previously left a note for the officer, telling him what she has done, and explaining where her body will be found in case he is hungry. Could human love go further than that? And would not this role be magnificent for me? The author told me he was sure the press for me? The author told me he was sure the play would create a sensation. I am sure of it, too."

October Orange Blossoms.

Rev. Dr. Thomas' handsome Baptist Church at Gerrard and Jarvis streets was the scene of an interesting wedding ceremony yesterday. Mr. R. McK. Haldimand of Montreal led to the altar Miss Jennie G. Paterson, only daughter of Mr. Peter Paterson, hardware merchant, of this city. Rev. Dr. Thomas officiated. The bride was handsomely attired in cream-colored satin with pearl ornaments. The bridesmaids were Miss Ida Walker, in lavender-colored silk and crimson plush, and Miss Mabel Bright, in pink satin and pearl ornaments. The groomsmen were Mr. D. L. Haldimand (brother of the groom) of Toronto and Capt. Fred. English of Montreal. The wedding breakfast was partaken of at the residence of the bride's father in Church-street. The presents were handsome and numerous. The honeymoon is being spent in New York.

SUFFER LITTLE CHILDREN

SECOND DAY OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

Some Interesting Addresses—Statistics for Ontario and Quebec—Teaching the Scriptures—The Necessity of Training Children From Their Infancy.

HAMILTON, Oct. 27.—The second day of the Sunday School Convention opened with a paper being read by Rev. John McEwen, of Lakefield, formerly general secretary, on the "Training of Teachers." Mr. McEwen believed, like Dr. Burns, that more attention was given to works on the Bible than to the Book itself, and he found as a result that a great many were without any intelligent idea of the construction of the Bible.
