

ONTARIO

Attempting the Impossible

A British Tommy volunteered to take a message, the safe delivery of which meant the saving of hundreds of his comrades' lives. He had to cross a heavy enemy barrage. In attempting it he was shot down, and lay with his arm blown away. A second man was sent but was killed on the way. In the meantime, the first mangled soldier gathered himself together and walked, staggered and crawled along until he delivered the message to the hand of the officer it was intended for. He then fell back dead. He was awarded the Victoria Cross.

This hero attempted the impossible and did it. When you are asked to do what you may deem impossible, think of this hero.

Ontario farmers should sow 500,000 acres of spring wheat. Every Ontario farmer whose land is at all suitable should put an extra five acres into wheat, even at the expense of another crop. Don't do your bit—do your BEST.

"The food wanted by mankind does not exist.

The word 'shortage' is not strong enough.

The whole world is up against a nasty thing, familiar to the people of India, called 'famine'."

—LORD RHONDDA
Britain's Food Controller

One year ago, only the enemy was on rations.

To-day, Great Britain, France and Italy are on rations.

To-day, Germany controls the wheat lands of Roumania, Russia, Poland and Ukrania.

To-day, the shadows of hunger, famine, disease and death hang over the Allies.

Upon the 1918 crop from Canada and the United States depends the fate of the democratic peoples of the world.

If that crop is sufficient the Allies can be fed.

If that crop is not sufficient the Allies may have to accept a German peace.

Ontario farmers should sow 500,000 acres of spring wheat.

Every Ontario farmer whose land is at all suitable should put an extra five acres into wheat, even at the expense of another crop.
