

STATE CONVENTION
KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS OF ONTARIO

The annual Convention of the State Council of Ontario, of the Knights of Columbus, was held in Windsor, on June 4th and 5th. The delegates assembled at the Club House of the Council, from whence they proceeded to St. Alphonsus Church, where High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Major E. G. Doe. The sermon which was a masterly one, on the duties of Knighthood, was preached by Father Chas. Coughlin of Assumption College. The business session opened at 10 p. m. a civic welcome being given by Mayor Tason. The balance of the afternoon, and from 9:30 until 2 o'clock of the following day was devoted entirely to discussion of the various projects, having for their object the good of the order, the Church and the State. Father J. Burke, C. S. P., of Newman Hall, Toronto, clearly pointed out the great need of the Catholic people of Ontario participating in all patriotic movements, and of doing all in their power to bring about a successful termination of the War. He told of the work being done by the Catholic War League of Toronto, and defined a course of action which if followed would identify our people with every movement of a patriotic or civic nature. The convention pledged itself to take up the work which cannot be result in great good. A splendid report showing the work done in support of Catholic Army Huts, was presented by District Deputy R. A. Jeffrey of Arnprior. Through the efforts of the Knights of Columbus, upwards of $80,000 was raised during the past year. Because of the increasing scope of the work, it is estimated that more than two hundred thousand dollars will have to be raised during the coming year, to successfully carry on this work that must be done no matter what the sacrifice may be. The Committee on Catholic Education presented a thoroughly interesting and practical report considered in the latter sense rather than in the technical one. Clearly brought to the attention of the Convention, was the unfortunate existence in various parts of the province, of the spirit of unfairness and bigoted intolerance which prevails against the Catholic Church. Both in the press and in the pulpit from time to time, and frequently from the public platform, is seen our Holy Church calumniated, her history, her doctrines, her priests vilified. From close observation, this policy it seems is adopted for the most part by those who are seeking political preferment, or are actuated by vicious motives, because so long as it pays politically to foster bigotry and intolerance, and so long as it pays monetarily to abuse the intelligence of the fair-minded public, just so long will the demon of religious bigotry and intolerance flourish. Suggestions were made to put into action certain well-directed movements whereby the Catholic layman may be fortified themselves that they may be enabled, so far as possible, to overcome and overthrow this spirit of religious bigotry.

At the close of the business at 2 o'clock on Wednesday, the delegates were given a motor ride through the border cities. A stop was made at the armories, where the delegates were presented to His Excellency the Governor General, who was the guest of the city. Visits were made to the Ford Motor Works, Assumption College, Sandwich, and St. Mary's Academy, Windsor. At the latter institution a welcome was given by the pupils, followed immediately by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament in the Convent Chapel. In the evening at 7:30 a banquet was held in the Hotel Statler, Detroit. State Deputy Murray was the efficient toastmaster. Included in the list of speakers was Rev. Father John E. Burke of Toronto, and Supreme Director, Geo. F. Monaghan of Detroit.

The election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows: State President, Murray; Secretary, State Sec'y, John R. Boyde, Windsor; State Treas., L. V. O'Connor, Lindsay; State Advocate, Thos. F. Battle, Niagara Falls; State Warden, Louis Gignac, Penetanguishene; State Chaplain, Right Rev. M. F. Fallon, O. M. I., Bishop of London; Delegates to the Supreme Convention, Dr. R. D. Morand, Windsor; L. V. O'Connor, Lindsay; R. A. Jeffrey, Arnprior.

Kingston was the choice of the convention city for 1919.

THE BEST

Best of all is the atmosphere of those people whose very presence breathes not only the purity but love, and such immense charity that we naturally turn to them for sympathy and comprehension. In their presence no rough word is uttered, no sharp criticism, no vulgar allusion. It is as if they were reflecting some inward presence; the divine seems to shine through the human, and so beautiful is the atmosphere that they carry with them that all who approach are unconsciously influenced and try almost instinctively to bring themselves into harmony with it. This atmosphere is radiated by all true daily Communicants.

He that swells in prosperity will be sure to think in adversity.—Colton.

PATRIOTIC HOLIDAYS
FOOD BOARD URGES ALL TO HELP SAVE HARVEST

"Patriotic holidays in the open air." More and more business does the call come from the Canadian farms as the harvest month gets nearer. The cold, stormy, and poor-weather of the last three weeks has only added to the national necessity of helping the farmer to get in the crops, not 75 or 80%, but every ounce. It will all be needed. Figures for the whole of Canada may not convey to the average man what a little consideration of the conditions in his own province will. The table below gives the need in terms of men for each of our Canadian provinces. They are the minimum requirements. It is the aim of the Canada Food Board to encourage workers going on farms as much as possible in their own districts. This especially applies to that class of city help made up of those who go with the set purpose of helping the farmer for patriotic rather than for monetary reasons. In round numbers the following are the numbers required up to at least the middle of September, probably longer:

- Alberta, 6,000 men.
- Saskatchewan, 20,000 more men.
- Manitoba, 10,000 more men.
- Ontario, 15,000 boys, 5,000 women, 13,000 men.
- Quebec, 12,000 more men.
- New Brunswick, 2,000 more men.
- Prince Edward Island, several hundreds.
- Nova Scotia, no more if townsmen turn out.
- British Columbia, 2,500 more men.

Again and again it must be insisted that most of this help must come from the Canadian cities. The fact that the farmer is almost tired of hearing it—it is the only way in which results can be secured. The floating agricultural population of pre-war years is not now available; immigration has been practically stopped, all workers coming in being from over the American border where the same conditions exist and the same scarcity prevails. Even the migration of farm workers from the Eastern provinces to the West has dropped over 50%, since the War began, and this year presumably will be the smallest on record. What the farmer to-day more literally than ever wants is "hands"—it does not matter whether they be highly skilled so long as they are willing and are backed with a reasonable amount of intelligent enthusiasm. These are things which a patriotic person can supply perhaps in a fuller measure than the farmer more accustomed to farm labor by occupation but less quick to grasp conditions, less able perhaps to appreciate the end towards which he is working.

The obligation lies not only on the part of the city employee but on the part of the employer also to help this stream to the farms within the next three or four weeks at the latest. The vast majority of men now in cities who have at one time been on the farms either as boys or youths is in employed vocations, that is, they are not their own masters. Many of these are shy about "putting it up to the boss," however much they might like to go back to the farm for a season. This is where the tact and the patriotism of the shop manager or head of a department can help. He can pave the way between the office and the worker. There are plenty of industries in Canada today which, despite added work, will for the next two months be passing through the slack period. This thinning out of the staff to the farm will be to most of these a solution of the problem of brief over-staying. It is to these, both employer and employee, that the slogan "Patriotic holidays in the open air" would be welcome in this summer of 1918. Yet many a good deed remains undone for want of a timely tip that it would be the right thing to do.

This is where the Canada Food Board carries out a minor part at least of its constituted duty. It is the business of the Food Board to do everything that can be done to increase our food supplies.

It is, therefore, aiming for the next two months to place before the Canadian people in every possible light the almost tragic results of not getting in the crop now ripening on the fields. One hundred per cent. thoroughness is aimed at. Not an ounce, not a utilizable particle of food stuff should remain on farm or garden when the season closes. This is the first step in food conservation—the first requisite which called for the creation of the Canada Food Board. All through they have been striving to aid food saving without compulsion, by the simple method of appealing to the patriotism of housewives and those concerned in handling food, and after all patriotism is combined good sense and sense of right. So it is in the case of farm work. There is no compulsion, there can be no compulsion, there should be no need for it under our present system; nothing but the moral compulsion which should be stronger in a clear-thinking, clean living land than elsewhere. It is useless saying: "Why don't you get so and so to go out?" Most people who argue thus do not stop to reflect that to make so and so go out and do a thing he is not inclined to do for want of conviction involves making someone else a policeman to make him go and perhaps would need another as a moral policeman to keep him on the job when he gets there. In this voluntary doing of unaccustomed work, of turning our hands to things new and strange for a national end, the old proverb applies: "You may take a horse to water, but you cannot make him drink." So the farmer would get no "forrarder" under an involuntary or "conscript" labor, and our last stage would be worse than the first. No the only thing possible is with persuasion and convincing to bring the enormous need of farm workers, to the extent of 100,000 men, clearly before those who share the wealth and the woe of the War. It is the only enlightened way and Canada can claim enlightenment in opposition to "Kultur." But the Canada Food Board "cannot make the horse drink." That process must be left to the individual, and the individual's sense of responsibility can eventually only be measured by the sum total of the response which will be made to the demand of this year's harvest. We require 100,000 workers on the Canadian farms. Will you, having time and health and strength be a worker, or will you? Well, the alternative term must be left to the sensitiveness or the bluntness of the individual conscience. To-day, as in a greater connection, "The harvest is indeed plentiful, but the laborers are few."

Rev. E. J. Strauss, superior of the Oblate College at the Catholic University, died on June 20. He was born in Buffalo.
