tondon, June 5.—The Blue Book tariff ontaining the report of the Imperial terms conference is a bulky volume, 622 system pages. It was issued late last night. coun It is noticeable that, according to the subje eport, there was no ground for the we we nat description of the scene in which Premier Bond, after making his deba ech on the Newfoundland fisheries tion was reported to have declared that the treatment of Newfoundland had been a gross humiliation, and then left the conference in high dudgeon. Bond's speech was of a most temperate and logical character, ending "It has been suggested that matters in the dispute might properly be subject to arbitration. I. cannot see what there is to arbitrate in. If it is intended to submit the treaty to arbitration then, I contend that its terms are clear, that privileges granted to inare clear, that privileges granted to in-habitants of the United States there-under are not set forth in language atto that is ambiguous. If, on, the other hand, it is intended to submit the colonial statutes to arbitration, then I respectfully contend it would be derogatory to the crown and in direct contravention to the constitutional right of self governing colonies to submit their statutes to the arbitration of any treasure power or any person or any treasure that it is the contravention of any treasure power or any person or any treasure to the arbitration of any treasure power or any person or any treasure to the arbitration of any treasure power or any person or any treasurements. foreign power or any person or any tres Occasionally one or other of the delegates made a neat home thrust at another. Thus, Laurier had been speaking eloquently against restrictions on the importation of Canadian cattle when Lloyd George remarked: "Fought it very hard when we were in Fight it hard then, and now that you

"Fight it hard then, and now that you are in the government."
It appears that Laurier was the mouthpiece of the opposition to Premier Deakin's proposal for full publicity. Sir Wafred stated that if everything recorded here and at the end of the conference were published with resolutions; he thought the object desired would be satisfactorily served. Premier Deakin thereupon announced that he was in a honeless minority and that he was in a hopeless minority and withdrew his resolution. Laurier then approved of Premier Jameson's sugtion that a daily precis was a satisfactory compromise.

It was Sir Wilfrid also who empha sized the right of ministers other than niers to participate in the pronier Deakin's speech takes up a nuge proportion of the debate on the preference question. Interesting exracts from the first brief speech of aurier who, was described by Mr. Lloyd George as "father of preference" are! "This is a matter altogether in the hands of the British people. I nild have no hesitation at all in re-nting any attempts made to force the Canadian people anything hich the Canadian people would not lieve in, even for the broad idea of doing good to the whole Empire. I think the best way to serve the whole is by allowing every part to serve and recognize its own immediate interests."

It was never intended or thought at any time that the intermediate tariff. could apply to the United Sates. We have said good-bye to that trade. We have put all our hopes upon the British trade now, but there are other nations France is one. Italy is anotherwith which we could have better trade than at the present time. France has a minimum tariff and we are prepared to exchange our intermediate tariff if ey will exchange their minimum
