CANADIAN MILLING INDUSTRY

The Canadian milling industry has, since 1914, made progressive strides and flour exports between that year and 1919 increased nearly five times. Today this business has an annual capacity of slightly more than 35,are being continually added In-1890 Canada exported 115,099 barrels of flour valued at $521,383 - 4By 1910 this had increased to 3,064,128 barreis valued at about $15,000,000. In the fiscal year of 1919, 9,196,806 barrels were milled at a value of $99, 826,696.

Great Britain has been by far Canada's best customer for flour, her imports from the Dominion of this commodity, for the las fiscal year, being equal to about 60 per cent. of the total, or $56,000,000 out of nearly

Exports by countries for the last year were as follows:-Great Britain British South Africa $17,309; New-foundland $34,147,527; British West Indies $6,329,527; Other countries

The Trade returns for the present fiscal year show that, as yet, the flour are holding their own, though the European countries are again engaged in grain growing and milling. In the last available period of five months 4.928,164 barpared with 4,461,313 in the same period in 1918. Of these 3.912.405 barrels went to the United Kingdom; 38,423 to British Guiana; 146,596 to the British West Indies, 297,845 to Italy: 73.100 to Newfoundland; and 228.084 barrels to other countries. Great Britain took a little more than

000 000 more barrels than she did

Whilst on account of the change of conditions in Europe, the export trade may fall off considerably, the Canadian milling industry by reason of the activity produced during the war is in a very strong position and should be able to hold its own in the period of competition which is un-coubtedly ahead.
