A CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS. Dead Near the Railway Track. ALMOST DEAD 1 MILE FROM HOME. Death of a Young Man by Drowning.

(Special to the Evening Telegram.)

HOLYROOD, This Forenoon.

A man named Walsh, belonging to the Riverhead of St. John's, was found dead yesterday morning near the railway track, about two miles from his tilt. Another man, Puddister by name, was discovered, nearly dead, something like a mile from his companion and one mile from his tilt. The men accompanied an agent to Salmon Cove the evening before. They left Salmon Cove to go home about ten o'clock. The storm and drift, followed by heavy rain, overtook them when a few miles on the road, and the men became exhausted before reaching their tilts. It is thought Puddister will recover.

A young man called John Quinlan was drowned by falling through the ice at midday yesterday. The deceased was returning from school at the time of the fatal accident. He was the fourth son of Mr. John Quinlan, planter.

GRAND CARNIVAL AT BRIGUS. Over 50 Masqueraders Present.

VERY BRILLIANT DECORATIONS. Best Music of the Season

(Special to the Evening Telegram.)

BRIGUS, This Afternoon.

For the first time in our history we were treated last night to a carnival in the Victoria Rink, which resulted in a grand success. The decorations were handsome in design and brilliant in effect. The costumes were simply charming, astonishing the natives. The space allotted to spectators was crowded to its utmost capacity. Many were compelled to wait another opportunity. Considering the recent mild weather, the ice was fairly good, and the music rendered by the brass band was the best for the season.
