TUMULTUOUS WELCOME.

DUBLIN, June 16. tumultuous welcome was given lock and Brown on their arrival toight, and when the train entered the ation the flyers were fairly mobbed cheering crowds. On the train lock looked remarkably well and as in buoyant spirits, but on the ther hand Brown seemed greatly fagued and frankly admitted it. He id, "There's no little amount of luck the success of N.C. 4 or our flight, so far as we were concerned it ould not have been worse. In our ase, after the first hour we were mothered in fog until we landed in reland. Nevertheless, with only stant and compasses and a special erice for determining the machine's need and drift, we came through, and Im sure we could do it again."

FIFTY KILLED.

EL PASO, June 16. American troops, which participated the punitive expedition against lla forces, and entered Juarez last tht and to-day, were billeted in barteks on the American side to-night,
