Produce and Provisions.

(Trade Review.)

Codfish.—The fish caught last fall in Newfoundland and cured this spring is now reaching the Oporto market in quantity simultaneously with the first of the new Norwegian catch. The result is that this week there is a decline in price of about five shillings at Oporto, where our stocks are this week 12,000 qts. and consumption 1,143. The schra. Hazel Trahey, Bastian and Emily H. Patten have arrived there with fish cargoes of spring cured fish and others are on the way. The clearances this week from the fishery were: Frank Adams from St. John's to Barbados with 1,350 qts. from Monroe Export Co.; Nellie T. Walters from Galtsois with 4,000 qts. from T. Garland to Oporto; Isobel Moore, St. John's, 3,780 qts.; A. E. Hickman, Oporto, and James & Stanley, Grand Bank, 1,501 qts. S. Harris' estate to same market. The three schooners now on the way over practically take all the old fish that is to go from this side, so that the outlook for a good price for new fish is bright.

Cod Liver Oil.—The Norwegians have been favored with very fine weather, and their catch in the Flinmarken district has been very satisfactory. When we read their reports it states that so many million codfish have been caught and the yield of oil from the liver of these fish has resulted in so many thousand barrels of pure cod liver oil. It is well known that the Flinmarken fishery is composed largely of many species of inferior fish. Their refiners appear to have no scruples of putting all kinds of livers into the boiler. It is surely time that the scientists who have been investigating the manufacture of refined oil should give us their opinion on this important subject. It is certainly a libel on the codfish to be classed in the same category as hake, pollock, and eels, and the time will come when the oil rendered out in Newfoundland from the livers of codfish will be classified as the finest that it is possible to get.

Common Cod Oil.—Conditions remain very quiet. In some quarters a fair enquiry is noted but actual business is limited to very small quantities as consumers are averse to purchase beyond their immediate requirements. Quotations are nominal but a steady decline in price is noted and judging from conditions of other fish oils we do not expect to see prices rise as high as they did last year.

lobsters.—A few cases of new lobsters have reached the city market from Placentia Bay. Dealers say that there is so no settled price, but $22 to $22.50 have been given in exchange for goods and in payment of accounts. The rough weather of the past week has greatly interfered with the work of the lobster fishermen. The Maritime Provinces have a very short catch so far.

Flour.—The wheat market has been very "jumpy" all the week occasioned, no doubt, mainly by poor reports from U. S. western wheat market. An advance of 20 cents a barrel in Canada on flour took place which makes a total of 60 cents a barrel since April. The local quotations have advanced to $7.00 per barrel for leading brands and $7.20 to $7.55 for other grades. This means 35 cents upward for the week. Imports to date for St. John's, about 102,000 barrels, last year same date 122,000. The busy spurt in flour is about over.

Pork.—The market is unchanged this week and is likely to run steady around present prices for some time. The spring activity in the local market is over and practically all the fishery requirements have gone out. The fishermen are greatly encouraged with the favorable prices this season as compared with recent years which circumstances will help to make the fishery a paying venture. All quotations are now $24.25 per barrel, whole sale except ham butt which is $24.50, spare ribs $23.25.

Beef.—The quotations for barreled beef are about the same as last week and no early change is anticipated by the trade. A fair amount of business is still being done in export orders and the holdings are getting low after a good spring trade at popular prices. The quotations are $20 to $24.50 per barrel. The St. John's imports are about the same as last year to date, viz., 12,500 barrels.

Sugar.—It is thought by many dealers that the price of sugar reached rock bottom when the local wholesale quotation dropped to $7.50 per cwt. for American white granulated. This shows a gradual decline of a total of $2.30 per cwt. since New Year. The stocks in the city are ample and sales have been remarkably good in the local market since the middle of May. We have now the cheapest sugar since 1920 and as the decline must end some time dealers say that the stiffening period is at hand now that the warm weather for extra consumption of soft drinks has set in and the early fruit preserving is at hand. There are others who argue that the record Cuban crop of 3,982,000 tons is being ground out, there is not likely to be any advance this season. The demand is slack just now in the local market.

Molasses.—The views of holders of molasses at Barbados are still strong on expectation of higher prices. Buying by consumers is slow in consequence. This applies particularly to the Canadian importers. The imports to St. John's since New Year are 5,917 puncheons as compared with 4,600 same date in 1923. The local quotation continues at 90 cents per gal. for Fancy and 80 cents for Choice. The imports for the week were 735 puns., 150 tereces and 312 barrels.

Tea.—The tea market is rather irregular this week. The demand, however, keeps active for the dealer grades. Prices in the local market run from 34 to 38 cents per pound. There is an ample supply in the market and business in the wholesale houses continues good. Ceylon teas show an upward tendency and importers are looking for a strong market during the summer.

Hay & Oats.—The market continues quiet as is always the case at this time of the year. The quotation for hay is still $35 per ton wholesale; and for oats $2.60 per sack for number one quality and $2.80 for mixed. The imports this week were 1,454 sacks of oats and 176 bales of hay from the U.S. Winona from Montreal. There is practically no demand for hay in the local market just now. Miscellaneous: By S.S. Jorjensen, 2,540 tons salt from Cadiz; 700 hys. gasoline from Halifax by schr. Florence; and by S.S. Winona from New York, 150 sacks corn and 100 bags feed; 300 cases of milk, 374 boxes butter, 125 cheese, 1,730 sacks potatoes, 120 drums gasoline, 150 cases of matches.

A Coolidge Anecdote

Many of the Coolidge stories have to do with the Coolidge silence and imperturbability.

Shortly after becoming President, Coolidge sent for a group of farm leaders for the purpose of discussing with them the agricultural situation. These leaders, counting on the Coolidge silence, were thrilled with the opportunity they thought they had for pouring volubly all the farmers' grievances into the Presidential ear. After they had distributed themselves around his desk, the President said:

"Gentlemen, the situation as I see it is this and so," and for half an hour there poured forth a flood of words without end. On concluding, he arose and extended his hand.

"I thank you very much for calling and discussing this subject with me," he said. And they left without having been able to subvert themselves. Aaron Hardy, in Forbes Magazine.

THE RICH MAN'S FUNERAL SERMON.

We had talked in life of his rise to power
And the earthly riches which he possessed.
But now we stood in the last brief hour
When the tired body is laid to rest.

And the minister, clad in his surplice white,
Stood at his bier, as our heads were bowed,
And he talked of the soul which had taken flight
And the things of which always the soul is proud.

And he never mentioned the gold he'd made,
Or the countless men that his wealth employed.

Or the place he'd reached in the world of trade,
But only the things which the soul enjoyed.

And we never had guessed as we heard him there,
That a rich man slept in that silent hall.

For the last brief words and the last brief prayer
Only the worth of the heart recall.

The purse for the living must play its part
But always at last, when the soul is gone,

We give our praise to the gentle heart
That loved and was loved and has journeyed on.

If You Are Busy, Plan a Vacation.

If you are very busy, be sure to plan a vacation. Vacations most often are taken by those who need them most. Those who need them most are executives and others who are busy because of the tremendous pressure upon their time and attention. If any accurate record could be compiled of American men of affairs who commit suicide by overstrain, the public would be appalled. It isn't worth it.

Let me relate a personal experience, in the hope that it may influence some who need to be influenced. I used to be quite sure that I was far too busy to be able to find time to play golf. Three years ago, however, I decided to join a golf club and to make it my business to play at least once every week. I never in my life made a better resolution, a better investment. Instead of a vacation amount of exercise and recreation having diminished the amount of work I can get through, the effect has been just the opposite.

No man can keep his mind and body in supreme fettle if he gives to his daily duties the best that is in him twelve months every year. Schwab once said, "He who does his best, does all. He who does less than his best, does nothing." A man cannot do his best year after year unless he re-creates his mental and physical vitality. Arrange for a vacation. B. C. Forbes, in Forbes Magazine. (N.Y.)

Indian Boy's Distinction.

Ottawa, Ont., June. (Can. Press.)—The Department of Indian Affairs has been advised that Reginald W. Hill, son of Mr. Thomas H. Hill, an Indian of the Six Nations Reserve, has been awarded the Herbert Mason Gold Medal, upon the completion of his course at Upper Canada College, which he commenced three years ago.

The regulations for the award of the medal are that the masters choose six boys who are deemed to possess in the highest degree the following qualities:

Cheerful submission to authority; self-respect and independence of character; readiness to forgive offenses; desire to conciliate the differences of others; and above all, moral courage and unflinching truthfulness. These six candidates are then voted on by the boys, and in this instance the award was made to Hill on the first ballot.

In 1921 the Board of Governors of Upper Canada College granted a scholarship of $600 for an Indian boy. The scholarship was awarded to Hill and the Department became responsible for the balance of the annual charges of the College, to the amount of $150.

Captured Turkish Sword

PRESENTED TO QUEEN MARIE.

London, June 1.—There was an interesting little incident at the Rumanian Legation recently, when Queen Marie, on her visit here, was presented by Captain Lockier Lampson with a sword captured in Turkey by the unit of British naval armoured cars which served in Russia and subsequently fought in the Dobruja retreat.

The sword was to have been presented to the Queen when peace was declared, but the ceremony was postponed until she could visit England officially as Queen of a restored Rumania.
