Y.W.C.A. WORK AT LONDON CAMP IS HELP TO VISITORS

Volunteers Are Assisting the Secretary in Her Duties.

CLUBS ARE HELPING TOO

Ways and Means of Financing
Project Are Under Consideration.

One of the reports of special interest which was presented yesterday afternoon at the regular meeting of the board of the Young Women's Christian Association was that of the extension committee in regard to the splendid work already being done through the camp opened on Oxford street across from the mobilization military camp, to provide an information bureau and rest room for women and girls visiting soldier relatives and friends.

This work, which was only inaugurated a little over a week ago, in co-operation with the Young Men's Christian Association, has already been the means of assisting in many ways visitors from out of town from various parts of the military district, and also giving to young girls who have been up to see fathers or brothers a feeling of protection as they make their way to the car after dusk.

Clubs Are Helping.

Mrs. W. A. Tamm, secretary of the extension committee, stated that ground had been secured and a large tent erected. The floor was a donation from one of the many sympathetic with the movement, while the members of the Mothers' Club, naturally considering how much they themselves would appreciate such a place if they were strangers, and how they would like to know their own daughters were under the kind of chaparral offered, volunteered to assist with the furnishing. Already several of the individual clubs have contributed.

Water and light are inevitable a number of expenses, such as the salary of an expert secretary, a young woman of training, good experience and the necessary good judgment and indispensable sympathy for such an office.

Volunteers Assist.

Volunteers assist her each afternoon and evening, and the secretary and her helpers combine the roles of directors, information bureau, hostesses and nurse.

Not infrequently a mother gratefully relinquishes for a little while the care of her babe, while she is free to visit with her soldier husband, and see what, to her, is novel and intensely interesting, something of camp life.

The devising of ways and means to provide funds for this most necessary and humane work is a problem at present facing the board.

Another financial problem is in regard to finding the money for a new furnace for the residence, an absolute necessity, owing to the inadequate heating of the old furnace.

Several letters for installing a new heating system were read, and it was decided to leave the matter with the Finance committee, to be provided by the Y.W.C.A. committee. An effort will be made to arrange at as early date as possible a meeting of the house committee with the advisory committee.

Mrs. C. R. Flanders made a suggestion for raising funds to the effect that each board member should contribute $25. Mrs. C. B. King, the secretary, laughingly suggested that an appeal be made on the ground that it is the providing of "boiled sunshine for girls."

Apart from the extension work and the business in connection with the furnace, the remainder of the meeting was devoted to the passing of bills and discussion of routine work.

Soldiers Save Baby From Strangulation in Theatre Lobby.

While looking at some pictures yesterday afternoon, in the lobby of a local theatre, two soldiers heard a peculiar noise from one of the baby carriages stationed there. On investigation, they found a child, less than a year old, black in the face from strangulation. It had kicked the pillow from under it, and the strap choked the child to consciousness.

The persons in charge of the theatre were notified. The identity of the parents of the child could not be learned.

GRAVE DUG READY FOR HIM IN FRANCE, PTE. HENSHAW GETS BETTER AND IS GOING BACK

Canadian Soldier Tells Vivid Story of Life in Trenches—Owes Life to Young and Daring Surgeon—Sure of Allied Victory.

Thomas Martindale, of Philadelphia, formerly of this city, sends in the following war story of Pte. Henshaw, whose father the Londoner knows well. The story is well worthy of reproduction.

Vaughan I. M. Henshaw of Canada, 26th Battalion, the "Fighting 26th," is back from the war with a limp and a smile.

Wounded in France—so desperately wounded, indeed, that he was borne to three hospitals before a surgeon was found who saw the slenderest chance of saving him, and his grave was dug while he lay under the knife—Pte. Henshaw was not the least damaged. He is going to return to the front.

Struck by a dum-dum bullet, which miraculously was deflected on the heart, instead of driving on through the heart, he was badly torn up. Four operations were necessary, in the final one of which, lasting an hour and a quarter, he was too weak to receive anaesthetics. Twice all hope for his life was given up. Notwithstanding this, he said today, while his brown eye rested upon his caller as steadily as if on the sight of a rifle.

"Oh, yes, I'm going up to Halifax to get my commission. I've started into this thing, and I'm going to see it through."

Of such it appears, is the stuff of the "Fighting 26th."

Mother Nursed Him Back.

Pte. Henshaw, 26 years old, stocky, broad-shouldered, weather beaten, in spite of his months in the hospital, with a hair of reddish bronze, is the younger son of Capt. H. A. Henshaw of the steamship Pastors and commodore of the United Fruit Company's line. His older brother, 22, is now with the Canadian forces in England. Mrs. Henshaw went across when her sons called for the war, and was on hand to help nurse Vaughan back from a wound of the lungs to something nearer to his normal 150. When he was able to travel she brought him to Port Limon, Costa Rica, where the two joined Capt. Henshaw on the Atlantic.

Among the extraordinary things which young Mr. Henshaw has to recount is the fact that in that indescribably desolate "No Man's Land" between the trenches, unburied bodies are still piled up from the very beginning of the war. Though many remain locked in the death grip, they are nothing but bones and remnants of clothing now.

One foggy day, when he with his trench mates ventured out for a look around, they found a letter on a dead French officer, written eighteen months before. It was addressed to his wife, and in sending his love to his children, it spoke of another expected child, which was a boy—he besought her to bring up as an officer of France.

On the body of a German officer they found another letter, which described their "triumphant march," and declared that the Germans would enter Paris within a few days.

This is Mr. Henshaw's story: "As a private in the 26th Battalion of the Canadian Overseas Force, I left St. John, N. B., on June 13, 1915. We remained in a camp in the south of England for a month, and were then sent to the front. I was in France two months.

"Ours was the first battalion of the second division to attack the Germans. We drove them out of a mine crater one day. That was all we set out to do, but it was hard to hold the fellows in. They wanted to chase the Germans clear back to their trenches. Major Brown directed the attack. He was a cool one, let me tell you. He went out between the lines in a pair of carpet slippers, and took charge of things as undisturbed as if nothing were happening.

Rats in Trenches.

"While I was there it was raining most of the time and the trenches were flooded with water. We had hip boots, but the water came higher than that, and when it got up nearer the chin we would have to pull out altogether. Why I've slept in the water with nothing but my head sticking out.

"But the rats were the worst thing we had. They bothered us a good deal more than the Germans. When the trenches got full of water, they would run along the tops and out in the front.

"Yet the men back from the first line had good dugouts. And the spirit was

MILITARY FIELD DAY IN QUEEN'S PARK IS LARGELY ATTENDED

Sports Were Keenly Contested by Men in Khaki.

RACES WERE A FEATURE

Some Splendid Runners Discovered in Various Overseas Battalions.

Thousands of soldiers, their wives, friends and sweethearts witnessed the military field day sports in Queen's Park yesterday afternoon. The civilian attendance was very small, owing to the fact that the event occurred on a Wednesday afternoon.

The rain and threatening skies of the morning gave way to fine weather in the afternoon, and the track was in excellent shape for running events.

Of the 325 entries for all sports a number failed to turn up owing, it is said, to the fact that too short a time was allowed in which to get into shape.

The result, however, was beneficial, it allowed the excellent handling of events, which would otherwise have taken up a considerable portion of the afternoon.

Over 100 Entries.

Of the 100 or more entries for the 100-yard dash, 26 entrants came up to the line, and the race was run in three heats, each of five runners. The program was started late, owing to the fact that some of the battalions marched to the park and were late in arriving. The first heat of the 100-yard dash was run at 2:45 p.m., and from then on things moved quickly.

Many of the events were run concurrently, as a result of the large entry list, and some excellent contests showed up a lot of fine material.

The Indians of the different units were strong in the running events. Pte. Eljah, who wanted to run a fifteen-mile race, won the 1-mile, and came second over the 3-mile course.

Physical Exercises.

The drill and physical exercise competition between the picked platoons showed the effects of the effects of the work of the school of bayonet fighting. All the men of every unit are given an hour of this work five mornings in the week, and with only two days' special training picked platoons gave an exhibition rivaling that of the regular schools.

The Judges.

Col. L. W. Shannon, D.O.C., Col. H. D. Smith, G.S.O., Lieut.-Col. W. A. McCrimmon, A.A.G., Lieut.-Col. Cohoe and Major Gordon Ingram were judges of this event.

Lieut.-Col. Wigle of the 18th Battalion was an interested spectator.

Three battalions were tied for the top scoring, the greatest total of points. The 161st, 142nd and 168th Battalions all scored a total of 150 points.

The competition open, and arrangements have not yet been made for another field day to settle the ownership of the cup.

TORONTO RECRUITER WORKS IN CHATHAM.

[Special to The Advertiser.] CHATHAM, June 21.—Lieut. O. P. Hertzberg, a returned soldier of Windsor, is in the city recruiting in the interests of the No. 1 Overseas Construction Battalion, Toronto.

Lieut. Hertzberg was wounded in the thigh by gunshot on February 11 last, and was given leave to return to Canada by the Imperial Medical Board. He is in the Givichy and Festubert hospitals and also went through the second battle of Ypres.

Recruiting for the 186th Battalion is almost at a standstill. Recruiting squads are continually scouring the city and county, but with poor success. A personal canvass of young men in the vicinity of Cedar Springs resulted in many promises, but no recruits.

A football game scheduled between the 11th Battalion and the 142nd Battalion, was called off owing to the fact that a number of members of the team had also to attend the platoon competitions.

Fast Ball Game.

An exciting baseball game between the 118th Battalion and the 168th Battalion, resulted in a score of 5-4 in favor of the former team. Nine innings were played. Lieut. Greaves and Lieut. Oliver acted as umpires.

WESTERN U. UNIT
GRATEFUL TO LADIES

The women of St. Mary's, Ont., and the surrounding county have shown patriotism in their generous gift of $400 to the Western University Hospital, which is shortly to go overseas. They are taking a special interest in the unit, owing to the fact that St. Mary's and district are represented by Dr. A. E. Fraleigh, who is going on the staff of the hospital. The Ramsay Club, the Women's Patriotic League, and eight Women's Institutes of the district are heartily thanked by the management of the hospital unit for their valuable assistance and moral support.

STRATFORD COLLEGIATE HAS ENLISTED 23.

[Special to The Advertiser.] STRATFORD, June 21.—The male members of the 1916 class of the Normal School have set a worthy example in the matter of enlistment and at the present time there are upwards of twenty-three of these young men in uniform, or over half the total male enrollment for the term.

To Lieut. H. V. Pickering, now adjutant in the 110th, recruiting English recruits, belongs the credit of being the first to enlist. His example was followed by: George Avery, Ripley; E. F. Martyn, Ripley; Gordon Morley, Lucan; Lester Nimmo, Ripley; Henry R. Smith, Ripley; Ross Veitch, Plattville; Rutherford Walton, Forest; Henry Baker, Harrington; R. J.
