CULPRITS TEAR DOWN WIRELESS RADIO SETS
Three Amateurs Suffer When Aerials Are Cut Down During Night.
BLAME "AIR HOG"
Criminal Action To Be Taken Following Police Investigation.

Special to The Advertiser.
Kitchener, Jan. 18.—A furor of indignation has been aroused here as the result of radio vandals who Monday and Tuesday nights committed serious depredations in connection with three local amateur radio stations. The vandals are believed to be the same persons who are responsible for the destruction of the aerials and masts under cover of night, are the beginning of a war between certain "concert fans" and the amateur key-men who are conducting experiments. The hours from 7 o'clock to 10:30 o'clock in the evening have been set aside as a "silent period" for concert listening, but this does not seem to satisfy the culprits, with the result that a campaign of aerial cutting has started. The police are investigating the case, and it is understood criminal action will follow if their investigation results in arrests. Night classes are being formed at the separate schools here to take care of those who have been given permits to work. Registrations to date show that 42 are ready to begin the night class work. John Colombo, attendance officer, stated today that there are about 20 yet to report for the night classes, and failure to do so on their part will result in the cancellation of the work permits.

DENIES ANY RUPTURE IN FUNDING PARLEY
London Official Circles Declare Suspension in Negotiations For Consultation.
By JOHN STEELE.
Special to The London Advertiser and Chicago Tribune.
Copyright.
London, Jan. 18.—(By Radio.)—There is no concern in British official circles here over the report that Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer, is returning from Washington to London at once. It is emphatically denied here that there has been any rupture in the debt-funding negotiations—only a suspension, pending an opportunity for the British chancellor to consult with the cabinet.

RULES POLICE AUTOS HAVE NO SPEED RIGHTS
Detroit, Jan. 17.—Police automobiles have no more right to exceed the speed laws than the vehicles of private individuals.
Judge Charles L. Bartlett made the point that the law is not beyond the law, and that a police uniform does not give its wearer the right to any special traffic privileges, when he found Abraham Berries, 557 Medbury avenue, not guilty yesterday in connection with a collision between a car Berries was driving and the Bethune station flyer.

U. F. A. WOULD FORM NEW NATIONAL BODY
Alberta Plans Council to Bind Together Farmer Movement in Canada.
WOOD IS RE-ELECTED
President of Western Association Honored For Eighth Time.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Calgary, Jan. 18.—Tentative steps were taken this afternoon by the United Farmers of Alberta towards the organization of a national farmers' council, presumably to supplant eventually the Canadian Council of Agriculture and eliminating from membership the United Grain Growers' Limited, and the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company, which are represented in the council of agriculture.
There was a lengthy discussion in which delegates emphasized the importance to their movement of some co-ordination—agency, political and economic, and in the end the following resolution was adopted almost unanimously:
"Whereas, the growth of the farmers' movement has not reached national proportion; and,
"Whereas, there is great need for a body which will democratically coordinate all our racial, political, social and educational activities;
"Therefore, be it resolved that we are in favor of an organization that shall include representatives from the various farmers' provincial organizations, and we herewith authorize our executive to enter into negotiations with these organizations with a view to forming an association to be known as the United Farmers of Canada."
This discussion, with the return by acclamation to the presidency of H. W. Wood for his eighth term, featured the afternoon session.

POLICE CHARGE YOUTH THREATENED SUICIDE
Thomas Fallon Detained in Guelph Jail Pending Inquiries.

CHARGE HELD OVER
Is Thought To Have Escaped From a Toronto Mental Institution.

Special to The Advertiser.
Guelph, Jan. 18.—Thomas Fallon, a young man who is believed to have escaped from some mental institution in Toronto, has been taken into custody in Puslinch by Provincial Constable Lloyd Menzie.
Following a report received from Puslinch that he had threatened to commit suicide after spending the night in the local police cells, he was arraigned before Magistrate Watt today charged with attempting to take his life, but pending some inquiries by the authorities his case was allowed to stand over for a week.
Inspector Rev. Amos Lovell of the Guelph Humane Society left for Toronto today in an effort to find out some particulars as to what institution Fallon came from. The young man will be detained in the county jail in the meantime.
Arrangements have been completed for the annual reunion of the 23rd Battery to be held in Guelph on Saturday night, and which promises to be the largest since the battery demobilized.
Word was received by the officers of the battery association today that a party of 20 would be here from London, and it is expected that at least one hundred ex-service members of the unit will gather on the occasion. A committee of local ex-members has been appointed to welcome the visitors in the afternoon, and a banquet will be held at the armories in the evening.

JAMES J. LARKIN FREED FROM SING SING PRISON
Irish Agitator Given An Unconditional Pardon by New York Governor.

Special to The Advertiser.
Albany, N. Y., Jan. 18.—James P. Larkin, Irish agitator, serving a five to ten year term in Sing Sing for criminal anarchy, was given an unconditional pardon yesterday by Gov. Smith. He was the last political prisoner in Sing Sing.
Larkin was sentenced May 3, 1920, by Justice Weeks of the New York County Supreme Court, convicted of conspiring against the state. His stay in Sing Sing was marked by persistent efforts to obtain his release by pardon or other means. In March, 1922, Governor Miller rejected his application for pardon, holding that the case was still before the court of appeals, and that there was no adequate reason why Larkin should be pardoned. Governor Miller referred to Larkin's long criminal record in Ireland, the anarchist having appeared in court on 34 different occasions, on charges varying from petty larceny to manslaughter.
In April last, Larkin was temporarily released on a certificate of reasonable doubt, pending the decision of the court of appeals, and when the decision was handed down against him, he returned to Sing Sing to finish his term.

LARKIN IS THANKFUL
Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 18.—J. Larkin was given his freedom yesterday, 20 minutes after the special messenger arrived from Albany. "I am very thankful," he said, "I never deserved to be here," he left at once for New York.
With good behavior Larkin's sojourn at Sing Sing would have ended January 7, 1924. He would not give his views on Irish politics today and said he had no plans at the present for returning to Ireland.

Bumps and Bruises, Maiden Accuses, Was Result of Horse Riding Lesson
Special to The Advertiser.
New York, Jan. 18.—The story of a debutante's failure to achieve her ambition to become a dashing equestrienne in ten lessons was told to Supreme Court Justice Lyon today by Miss Minnie Smernoff, 19, at the hearing of her suit for $25,000 damages against Oscar Hauter, riding master.
From her lessons she gathered only a large assortment of bumps and an injured elbow when she fell from her horse on a Central Park bridal path where she was personally conducted by Hauter, Miss Smernoff alleged. Her injuries entailed expenditure of $1,000 for treatment and much suffering.
The pretty plaintiff testified. She said Hauter had failed to tighten her saddle girth sufficiently.
"On my third lesson I was given a horse called 'Dickie,' and left the riding academy escorted by Mr. Hauter," she told the court. "I called to his attention the fact that my saddle had swerved so that I could barely touch one stirrup, but he paid no attention. Soon my saddle slipped under the horse and I fell to the ground."
Riding Master Hauter denied any negligence on his part. Justice Lyon declared a mistrial because of objectionable questions asked Hauter by Miss Smernoff's attorney.

Agnes Seeks Fame In Song and Rhyme, But Ends Up Hungry Without a Dime
Special to The Advertiser.
New York, Jan. 18.—Forty-eight hours of Greenwich Village, a chilly hall bedroom, no money and no food made Agnes Claire Rogers, 15, pretty Columbia University School of Journalists' student, glad last night to be back in the cozy comfort of her home, 432 Riverside Drive, where she lives with an aunt, Miss Agnes C. Brennan, art director of Mount Mary College. Agnes, like lots of other girls in college at her age, would like to be a famous fiction writer, a great dramatist, a wonderful poet. She tries her hand at all three arts occasionally, with results unacceptable to the cold magazine editor and frigid theatrical manager.
But she has a cousin, Eugene O'Neill, whose hairy ape and other dramas have earned him fame. She learned from Gene that it was hopeless to write color stuff without first getting some of the color on your fingers and clothes—some say on your very soul.
So Agnes decided to disappear and get some local color. With $9.50 in

CHATHAM ASKS LARGER POSTOFFICE BUILDING
Will Urge Federal Minister of Labor To Take Definite Action.
Special to The Advertiser.
Chatham, Jan. 18.—The Hon. James Murdock, federal minister of labor, and member for Kent at Ottawa, when he comes to Chatham tomorrow will be asked to take some definite action to have the Chatham postoffice enlarged at once.
The present building, which was erected in 1884, was planned to handle the business of the town of that day. The town of 7,000 population has now grown to a city of nearly 17,000, and the same building is endeavoring to serve the public.
It is understood that in February, 1920, plans were drawn up for an addition to the building and for certain changes to be made to the present interior. These changes have never been carried out.
The Chatham Postoffice handles mail for the greater part of Kent County, repacking mail for transportation by electric and steam railroads, by motor truck, and for six rural free deliveries.

Chatham, Jan. 18.—Mr. Harvey Jenner, of Raleigh township, was re-elected president of the West Kent Agricultural Society at the annual meeting of that organization here this afternoon. Reports from the various officers showed that the past year was one of the most successful in the history of the society.
