New Travelling Regulations

Persons Embarking at U. S. Seaports Must Secure Permission Before Leaving Canada.

UNDER an order issued by the Secretary of State, Washington, effective November 11th, 1918, all persons going from Canada to foreign destinations by way of United States seaports must secure permission for embarkation before leaving Canada.

Such permission must be arranged for either by executing declaration and procuring visa on passport before one of the American Consuls in Canada, or by making formal application before any of the United States immigration officers located in Canada upon forms furnished by the said officers.

In order to allow sufficient time for investigation, transmission of papers to Washington, etc., applications should be filed either with the Consul or the immigration Officer at least 17 days prior to the date of proposed departure.

The State Department invites special attention of prospective travellers to the fact that unless they have obtained visa by an American Consul, the said Department must decide whether or not departure from an American port will be allowed, such decision being based upon the application submitted through the immigration officers. Passengers, are accordingly warned not to proceed to the port of embarkation until they are in possession of either the Consular visa, or proper certificate from the U. S. immigration authorities showing that permit for departure has been granted.

The foregoing applies to all persons not citizens of the United States, and it is effective regarding all destinations, including Mexico, U. S. insular possessions, etc., but not including Bermuda.

Called States citizens seeking to proceed to foreign points are required to have passports issued by the State Department, applications for same being obtainable from the various American Consuls.

WOUNDED IN HAND
HEAD AND ONE FOOT
Second Time.

Lieut. W. A. Murray in Hospital

Lieut. W. A. Murray whose name appeared in the casualty list recently, is the son of Mrs. Wm. Murray, Sifton Apartments, who has received word that he is wounded rather severely in the hand, in the head and in one foot.

Lieut. Murray is well known in Ottawa, but his home is in Campbellton. He enlisted in Hamilton with the Canadian Engineers, with whom he went to France in 1916. This is the second time he has been wounded, the first occasion being a year ago this October his injuries that time being also severe. He is now in No. 20 General Hospital in France. When wounded the first time Capt. Murray spent seven or eight months in hospital.

He had only been back in the trenches about three weeks on this last occasion when wounded.—Ottawa Journal.

BEDRIDDEN WITH RHEUMATISM

Felt That He Would Never Walk Again "FRUIT-A-TIVES" Brought Relief.

MR. LORENZO LEDUC

3 Ottawa St., Hull, P. Q.
"Fruit-a-tives" is certainly a wonder. For a year, I suffered with Rheumatism; being forced to stay in bed for five months. I tried all kinds of medicine but without getting better; and thought I would never be able to walk again.

"One day while lying in bed, I read about 'Fruit-a-tives' the great fruit medicine; and it seemed just what I needed, so I decided to try it.

The first box I got, and I took the tablets regularly until every trace of the Rheumatism left me.

I have every confidence in 'Fruit-a-tives' and would recommend them to every sufferer from Rheumatism."

ROBERT STEAD'S NEW NOVEL.
Robert J. C. Stead, in his new novel, "The Cow Puncher," (Toronto: the Lusk Book Co., Ltd., cloth, $1.50), has written a notable book with a Western Canada setting.

David Eldred, the cow puncher of the story, is in the foothills, outside the influence of church and school. At eighteen he is suddenly thrown into the world of a young Eastern girl, who enkindles in him the ambition to be somebody in the world.

With this purpose in view, young Eldred leaves the ranch and goes to make his fortune in a young Western city. The first night he is swindled out of all his ready cash by a gang of card-sharps, and he takes a job next morning as a coal heaver. For a time it looks as though Dave's course would be downward instead of upward, but he fortunately comes under influence which revives his ambition for self-betterment.

About this time the big western real estate boom breaks out, and Dave's course is meteoric. His wealth comes quickly and goes as quickly. Following the collapse of the boom a tragedy strikes him, and he is left with nothing but his love affairs.

"The Cow Puncher" is decidedly worth while. It is interesting and refreshing, and at times inspiring. With all Mr. Stead's intimate knowledge of the West and skill of delineation. Through the book runs a happy vein of humor and philosophy which is not the least of its charms.

It is illustrated by Arthur Heming, a lumber man and North-West mounted policeman, and is announced by the publishers as an all-Canadian book—written by a Canadian, illustrated by a Canadian, and printed and bound in Canada. It should receive a warm welcome from the Canadian reading public. The United States edition is issued by Harpers.

DAYLIGHT SAVING.
(From the Ottawa Journal).
"Did daylight saving pay? The U. S. Fuel Administrator shows that about 1,250,000 tons of coal were saved during the seven months that the saving was in operation. That was worth while."—Hamilton Times.

Something else was much more worth while, namely, the benefit to health from more use of daylight, and the benefit of humanity from the increased opportunity for recreation, open-air and otherwise.

Quit Laxatives, Purges; Try NR
NR Tonight—Tomorrow Feel Right

It is a mistake to continually dose yourself with so-called laxative pills, calomel, oil, purges and cathartics, and force bowel action. It weakens the system and makes more constipation doing necessary.

Why don't you start right today to overcome your constipation and get your system in normal condition? You can do so if you get a box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one each night for a week or ten days.

NR Tablets do much more than merely cause pleasant easy bowel action. This medicine acts upon the digestive as well as eliminative organs—promotes good digestion, causes the body to get the nourishment from all the food you eat, gives you a good, hearty appetite, strengthens the liver, overcomes biliousness, regulates the bowels and action and gives the whole body a thorough cleansing act.

This accomplished you will not have to take medicine every day. An occasional NR tablet will keep your body in condition and you can always feel your best.

Try Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and prove this. It is the best bowel medicine that you can use and costs only 10c per box, containing enough to last twenty-five days. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

THE CHEERS OF VICTORY RANG OUT ON BATTLEFIELD

(By Philip Gibbs.)

With the British Armies, Nov. 12—Last night, for the first time since August in the first year of the war, there was no light or gunfire in the sky, no sudden stabs of flame through the darkness, no long, spreading glow above the black trees where for four years of nights human beings were being smashed to death.

The fires of Hell had been put out. It was silent all along the front, with the beautiful silence of nights of peace. We did not stand listening to the dull rumbling of artillery at work, which had been the undertone of all the closer sounds of 1900 nights, nor for sudden heart blots at explosions shaking the earth and air, nor say in whisper to oneself, "Curse those guns." At 11.10 o'clock the order had gone to all batteries to cease fire. No more men will be killed, no more be mangled, no more blind. The last layhead of the world was relieved in the way back from Mons.

Sounds of Human Joy.

I listened to this silence which followed the going down of the sun and heard the rustling of the russet leaves and the little sounds of the night in peace, and it seemed as though God gave a benediction to the wounded soul of the world. Other sounds rose from towns and fields in the yellowing twilight and in the deepening shadow world of the Day of Armistice. They were sounds of human joy.

Men were singing somewhere on the roads, and their voices rang out gladly. Bands were playing, as all day on the way to Mons. I heard their music about of the marching columns, and bugles were blowing.

In villages from which the enemy had gone out that morning round about Mons crowds of figures surged in the narrow streets, and English laughter arose above the silvery clatter of women and children. British soldiers were still on the march with their guns and their transport, and their old field cookers, and all along their lines I heard these men talking to each other gaily as though something had loosened their tongues and made them garrulous.

Young Officers Celebrated.

Motor cars streaked through Belgian streets, dodging traffic, and now and then, when night fell, rockets were fired from them, and there came gusts of laughter from young officers, shooting off their pistols into the darkness to celebrate the end of hostilities by this symbol of the keys and stars, which did not soar so high as their spirits from the dark towns like Tournai and Lille. These rockets rose and burned a little while with a white light.

Our aviators flew like bats in the dust, skimming tree tops and gables, doing such-like gambles above the tawny sunset, looping and spiraling and falling in steep dives which looked like death for them until they flattened out and rose again. And they, too, these boys who had been reprieved from the menace which was close to them on every flight, fired flares and rockets, which dropped down to the crowds of French and Flemish people waiting to them from below.

Late into the night there were sounds of singing and laughter from open windows in towns which had been all shuttered, with people hailing in their cellars a week ago or less, and British sat down to French pianos and the crowds of French and Flemish people who had led a chorus of men who wanted to sing any old song.

The Cheers of Victory.

In one of clubs glasses were raised, and someone called a toast, and no one heard more than the names of "England," "Scotland," and "France," with "Victory" as the loudest word, for the men had risen from all the tables, and most were standing on their chairs, and there was a beginning of cheers which lasted five minutes, longer than that and some of those who cheered, had most eyes and ears not ached of that because of memories in their hearts for old pals who had gone, who were missing on the night of the Armistice.

STILL A LONG ROAD.

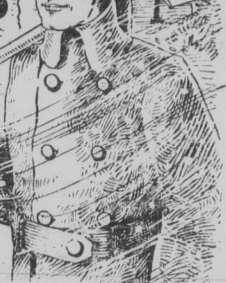

An armistice is not peace. It is simply a preliminary. Following it will be acceptance of peace terms and putting them into effect. This will take a considerable time. In the meantime armies must be kept in the field. There can be no immediate demobilization. The Allies must be prepared to face any and every new situation that may develop. This means a continued large expenditure.

Canada, has already spent over a billion dollars, most go on spending until the soldiers come home and the army is demobilized. For this reason the Victory Loan must be subscribed. It is a part of Canada's pledge to her sons, and must be redeemed. New Brunswick must do its part. The people should rally with enthusiasm to the standard of Victory. It would not be creditable news to send to the soldiers that the people at home had fallen down and failed to do their part. That is why every man or woman who can buy even a $50 bond on the installment plan should do so, and do it now.

Once in a while a woman gets so angry at her husband that she refuses to talk back.
