Mrs. Reunen L. Douge and daugurer have been visiting her mother, Mrs. E. Bent, at Lawrencetown.

The copious rains of last week put the finishing touches on the natural loveliness of our beautiful Valley.

Benjamin Shaffner, Esq., of Lower Granville, called on us last Saturday on his way to visit friends in Upper Granville.

Mrs. J. Russell Longmire, of Karsdale, made a flying visit on Saturday last to her sister, Mrs. Morrison Wade.

Mr. William Baxter, wife and child, of Round Hill, with his two sisters, Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Roop, spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Bustin.

Mr. Israel Longley has had for some time past what is called a knotted tumor growing on the underside of his left arm. Lately it began to grow rapidly and obstruct the use of the limb. On Wednesday last he went to Annapolis and placed himself in the hands of Dr. Augustus Robinson, who in a very few moments had the tumor on his table, and the wound dressed from which he has not since experienced the slightest inconvenience. since experienced the slightest inconvenience.
Mr. L. speaks in the highest terms of the dexterity of the doctor in the operation.

Spa Springs.

Mrs. Bayard Margeson spent three days very pleasantly with her niece, Mrs. Levi Gates, at Kingston.

Parser Smith, of S.S. Yarmouth, gave Mr. and Mrs. Z. Durling a friendly call one evening last week. He has purchased a fine farm of twenty acres at Melvern Square, well adapted to the raising of small fruits. There are some two hundred apple trees upon it, yielding over a hundred barrels of apples annually. His wife and son intend coming down the first of July, and will spend the summer there.

summer there.

GAVE HIM A WATCH.—Mr. Parker Margeson, youngest son of Bayard Margeson, Esq., of U. S., foreman of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad car shops in South Boston, was presented at his home on Carson street lately with a gold watch and Forrester's charm by his shopmates, it being his thirty-second birthday. The presentation speech was made by M. P. Nye. Mr. Margeson responded and songs and a collation followed.

Clarence Centre.

Mrs. Angeline Whitman has returned home from Mount Rose.
Mr. Willard Phinney is visiting friends in Grafton, Queens county.
Quite a number of our young people went to Niotaux Falls on Friday, returning on Saturday.

Mr. Chas. Balcom went to Lawrencetown

last week to fulfil a contract at carpenning for Mr. Judson Baloom.

The rains of last week have been very beneficial to the crops. The grass looks well and the farmers feel encouraged.

Mr. L. G. White, of Plum Grove farm, is giving his new house a coat of paint which adds much to its general appearance.

Rev. Mr. Thomas, of Yarmouth, occupied the pulpit on Sunday morning, delivering a very eloquent discourse from Deut. xxxii.,

Illustrious Dead,

ENJOYS A TRIP ON THE RIVER THAMES, AND LEAVES HIS READERS AT HAMPTON COURT.

DEAR MONITOR,—From Evesham I go to the city of Worcester. The country about this city is very fine. The Severn here is skirted by quite extensive intervale and the land all about seems rich, and as we see, very productive. The parks are richly covered with lofty trees, and a thick coating of grass, of which the fine cattle and sheep grazing here about give good evidence.

Worcester, as we know, is quite celebrated for its earthware works, its Lee and Perin and Worcester sauces. It has also quite a glove industry. I take a look at its Town Hall, its monuments and some of its street sights and curiosities. There is always something to see different from what I have ever seen in my travels in America.
The great attraction, however, which Worcoster affords the visitor, is its famous cathedral.

As we approach this venerable pile from the city side—the more modern side—we are not impressed with its greatness, but when we have gone through it and noted its grand memorials of ages of history and patriotism to church and to state and the foundation walls and old massive parts still intact, we gaze in awe and wonder.

Its architecture, as now seen, in parts is Norman, decorative and perpendicular,— Ith, 13th and 16th centuries. Its length is 1850 fet, its cloisters 485 ft., and its tower is 1856 feet high. This does not near cover the ground occupied by the old abbey. We are

This does not near cover the ground coupled by the old abbey. We are able to see, however, on the river side some grand reminders of its former proportions in the ruins which are now being carefully preserved as a promenade upon the banks of the Severn—fully 200 ft. from the cathedral. Nor does it include Edgar Tower, the original entrance to the outer ward, now occupied as clerks' offices and Bishops' registry. The flooring is exceeded by only one other cathedral in all England. It is of various designs, in white and black marble, white and black marble and black marble, white and black marble, white and black marb me, the bells play the six o'clock evening tune.

From Worcester we pass through Kiderminster, the great carpet manufacturing town. Next we have the "Black Hill Country," where we see hundreds of acres of furnaces and mining operations, and then we are in Birmingham.

Of course we all know that Birmingham is the seat of the hardware interests of England. We visit some of its hotels. We are particularly interested in the Cobden hotel, run upon strictly temperance principles. Here one can live, to us in America, marvellously cheap. We take an hour at the Council Hall and the Art Museum, and then we go to Town Hall, which is said to resemble the Corinthian Temple of Jupiter and Saturn at Rome. This hall will seat 6,000. Here is where John Bright had his great audiences. I see much more in Birmingham of which space will not permit me to say anything. It has some fine fruit, vegetable and cattle markets. I have letters of introduction to some of the fruit dealers and find them very pleasant and quite anxious to give me any informatical Task for Of this will write with pleasant and quite anxious to give me any information I ask for. Of this I will write

Mrs. Dyer, the Baby Farmer, Hanged Arrs. Dyer, the Baby Farmer, Hanged.

London, June 10.—Annie Dyer, the baby farmer who presumably has murdered scores of infants entrusted to her care, was hanged in Newgate prison this morning. The weather was rainy, but the crowd in the vicinity of the prison was large. When the black flag was hoisted, indicating that she had paid the penalty of her crimes, the crowd cheered loud and long. Since sentenced to death, Mrs. Dyer attempted twice to commit suicide in prison. Latterly she was watched day and night and was deprived of everything except her most necessary clothing, even her hairpins having been taken from her.

Sure to Win. The people recognize and appreciate real merit. That is why Hood's Sarsparilla has the largest sale in the world. Merit in medicine means the power to cure. From Birmingham I go to Kenilworth. On this trip I see much that interests me. But Kenilworth is more than descriptions or imagination has ever pictured it to me. The approach is not grand but beautifu, and as you near the castle and see the high ruins through the lofty trees against the sky it is intensely fascinating. It is wonderfully in keeping with the romance which hangs about nterview with Queen Elizabeth, as Walter Scott had it, and where the earl stood while it was taking place. I enter the grounds and my attention is first drawn to the old and new ivy upon the walls. The Norman walls outlive the ivy. We compare the Norman towers with 13th period and Lester's Norman towers with 13th period and Lester's towers, and the different styles of architecture. We go to the remains of the Banqueting Hall, the room which Scott set apart for Amy Robsart, to the oriel where Queen Elizabeth is supposed to have had her chambers, to White Hall, to the Presence Chamber and to the Privy Chamber.
