

Peace to our dead! And ere 'tis sped, this present that is ours,
Let each of us his lifework build, from cornerstone to towers.
So shall we deck with garlands bright old Alma Mater's brow,
And love to gaze on other days more fondly still than now.