

CATARRH—A NEW TREATMENT.

Perhaps the most extraordinary success that has been achieved in modern medicine has been attained by the Dixon treatment for Catarrh. Out of 2,000 patients treated during the past six months, fully ninety per cent. have been cured of this stubborn malady. This is none the less startling when it is remembered that not five per cent. of the patients presenting themselves to the regular practitioners are benefited, while the patent medicines and other advertised cures never record a cure at all. Starting from the claim now generally believed by the most scientific men that the disease is due to the presence of living parasites in the tissues, Mr. Dixon once adopted his cure to their extermination, and, as a result, the Catarrh is practically cured, and the permanency is unquestioned, as cures effected by him four years ago are still. No one else has ever attempted to cure Catarrh in this manner, and no other treatment has ever cured Catarrh. The application of the remedy is simple and so is the use of it, and the present season of the year is the most favourable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being cured at one treatment. Sufferers should correspond with Messrs. A. H. DIXON & SON, 304 King Street West, Toronto, Canada, and enclose stamp for their treatise on Catarrh.—Montreal Star.

To restore crushed velvet, hold it over the spout of the steam kettle and let it steam well; then comb up the nap.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a most valuable medicine for ladies of all ages who may be afflicted with any form of disease peculiar to the sex. Her Remedies are not only put up in the form of Pills and Lozenges, in which form they are securely sent through the mails.

The following recipe for making "cold cream," is said to be excellent: To one ounce of glycerine allow ten drops of carbolic acid; add one ounce of rose-water.

FLAVOURING FOR CUSTARDS.—A charming way to flavour custards is to beat fruit jelly with the whites of the eggs; red raspberry jelly and quince jelly are especially nice for this.

SCRAP BOX.—If you have no scrap box establish one for bits of velvet, silk and woolen scraps. The prettiest cushion I ever saw came from such a scrap box, the result of eight years' economy.

MURRAY AND LANMAN'S FLORIDA WATER.—The most delicate invalids, the greatest sufferers with sea-sickness, and those whose nervous systems are most sensitive prefer it before all others, and use it to the exclusion of all others, not for a time only, but always and continuously. The sense of smell never tires of its soft, refreshing, odor.

To IRON SILK.—First press out all the creases by sprinkling it with water and rolling it up tightly in a towel, and letting it rest for an hour or two, then iron, taking care that the iron is not too hot (otherwise it will injure the color), which should first be tried on an old piece of the same silk.

PLEASANT SYRUP; nothing equals it as a worm medicine; the name is Worm Graves Worm Extirminator.

IMPROVED LEMONADE.—Here is a recipe for a cool and pleasant drink for summer, which will be found quite a good variation from lemonade: Take the juice of six oranges and six lemons, adding sugar to suit the taste. Put to this a quantity of pounded ice and some sliced pine-apple, pouring over it two quarts of water.

Give Holloway's Corn Cure a trial. It removed ten corns from one patient without any pain.

One of the most convenient articles to be used in a sick room is a sand bag. Get some clean, fine sand, dry it thoroughly in a kettle on the stove; make a bag about eight inches square of flannel, fill it with dry sand, sew the opening carefully together, and cover the bag with cotton or linen cloth. This will prevent the sand from sifting out, and will also enable you to heat the bag quickly by placing it in the oven, or even on top of the stove. After once using this you will never again attempt to warm the feet or hands of a sick person with a bottle of hot water or a brick. The sand holds the heat a long time. The bag can be used as well for warming the back.—Herald of Health.

W. W. McLennan, Lyn, N. S., writes: "I was afflicted with rheumatism, and had given up all hopes of a cure. By chance I saw Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil recommended. I immediately sent (fifty miles) and purchased four bottles, and with only two applications I was able to get around, and although I have not used one bottle, I am nearly well. The other three bottles I gave around to my neighbours, and I have had so many calls for more, that I feel bound to relieve the afflicted by writing to you for a supply."

ORANGE PUDDING.—Peel and cut five oranges into slices and take out all the seeds; pour over them one quarter of a pound of sifted loaf sugar. Make a paste with a tablespoonful of corn-starch or arrowroot and a little cold milk; beat the yolks of two eggs well, and stir them with the corn-starch paste into a pint of boiling milk; simmer till it thickens; then pour over the fruit. Beat the white of two eggs to a stiff froth with a tablespoonful of sugar; spread over the top of the pudding, and harden for a few minutes in the oven.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop and Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all diseases arising from Impure Blood, such as Pimples, Blotches, Biliousness, Indigestion, etc., etc., it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Elm, writes: "I am using this medicine for Dyspepsia; I have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good."
