The Toronto PRESBYTERIAN REVIEW presents a fine Xmas number.—Kingston Weekly.

Rev. D. C. JOHNSON, of Oil Springs, has accepted the call from Heaventon congregation.

Rev. Dr. SMYTH, pastor of Calvin church, Montreal, has been presented by his libel class with an elegant easy chair.

Rev. JOHN LAMO, D.D., Dundas, was unanimously nominated as Moderator of next General Assembly by the Presbytery of Montreal.

Rev. G. MACARTHUR, B.A., of Cardinal, has been appointed clerk of the Presbytery of Brockville, vice Rev. G. D. BAYNE, B.A., translated to Pembroke.

Rev. Messrs. M. MCGILLIVRAY, of Kingston, and J. CUMBERLAND, of St. John's, have collected $1,350 in Belleville in aid of Queen's college endowment.

The induction of Rev. F. Smith into the pastorate of Bradford, etc., will take place on Tuesday, January 3rd, at 2 p.m., instead of the 30th Dec., as previously announced.

At the last meeting of the Woman's Foreign Mission Society in connection with the two Presbyterian congregations of A'monte, it was decided to establish an auxiliary in connection with each church.

Mr. H. R. FRASER, B.A., of the Third Year Theology, Knox College, has won the Scholarship for the best essay on "The Love of God in Relation to Obedience."

It is stated that Melville Congregation Church, Montreal, is increasing so rapidly that the church building will have to be enlarged to double its present capacity next spring.

The Presbytery of London will hold an adjourned meeting in First Presbyterian church, London, on Tuesday, 10th January, 1888, at 2.30 p.m., and ordinary meeting on second Tuesday of March.

A Sabbath school convention for the schools of McGillivray will be held in the Liberty Presbyterian church on the 6th of Jan., 1888. The convention will be led by the Rev. Mr. Day, General Secretary of the Provincial Sabbath School Association.

Rev. D. B. McLEOD, of Orwell Head, who had some thought of going out as a missionary to Trinidad, has decided to remain in his present charge. A local paper says, "Mr. McLeod could be ill spared either from his congregation or the Presbytery."

Mr. LEASK, clerk of the Presbytery of Montreal, resigned that office and expressed a desire that Mr. Macnab should be appointed. The Rev. John Macnab, of Lucknow, was appointed, and is now clerk of the Presbytery of Montreal.

The late Mr. David Wylie, elder of the congregation of Ramsay, who died a few weeks ago, bequeathed $100 to the Home Mission Fund, $100 to the Foreign Mission Fund, and $100 to the French Evangelization Fund of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

At the last communion service, on the 4th inst., Erskine church, Meaford, there were nine additions to the roll—eight by profession and one by certificate. The pastor, Rev. A. T. Colter, has introduced black board illustrations in his weekly congregational prayer meeting, and the interest in the studies is greatly increased thereby.

Miss MCGREGOR, our returned missionary from India, has lately been addressing meetings in Western Ontario with much acceptance. Those wishing to secure her valuable help at missionary meetings should correspond with her as early as possible, care of Messrs. McGreggor & Goslay, Galt, Ont.

At a social meeting of the congregation, the Rev. W. A. McKay, B.A., pastor of Chalmers' church, Woodstock, Ont., and Mrs. McKay were recently presented with valuable gifts and an address. The address bore pleasing testimony to Mr. McKay's earnest efforts, not in his own congregation but in the town generally, and throughout the country on behalf of "The best moral and spiritual welfare of the community." Alluding to the reproach sought to be cast upon Mr. McKay for his efforts on behalf of the enforcement of the Scott Act, the framers of the address assured him that he had the hearty support of every member of the congregation.

This annual tea meeting of St. John's congregation, Coulson's Corners (Harris Presbytery), was held on Dec. 15th. The Bradford Witness says of it: "In every respect the tea meeting and entertainment was a grand success, and the speakers on the occasion, Messrs. J. Carwell, of Bond Head, N. A. McDermid, of Bradford, and the chairman, Dr. Forrest, sustained their part of the programme in an able manner. The singing on the occasion was much appreciated. It is needless to say that the ladies provided an excellent tea. Proceeds about $35.
