ONE HUNDRED SACHED MELODIES.—Issued by the Committee, for the use of the Daily Prayer Meeting. D. McLellar, Hamilton, price 61 cents.

This is a neat little work of one hundred pages, containing a good number of well selected melodies, appropriate for all seasons and circumstances. It is printed in the usual unsurpassed style of Messrs. Donnelley & Lawson.

Good Words. "A Magazine for all the Week." Edited by Dr. Norman McLeod. Hamilton: Joseph Lyght. Price 12½c.

The best praise that can be given to the Magazine which Dr. Norman McLeod edits, is contained in its appropriate motto—quaint old Herberts' line:

"Good words are worth much and cost little." The March number is an excellent miscel-The March number is an excellent miscellany of light and thoughtful literature, though the illustrative wood cuts are not quite up to the mark. Eloquent Dr. Guthrie reads "the Parable of the Prodigal Son in the light of the present day" with pious earnestness. The Country Parson, A. K. H. B., whose delightful Recreations have beguiled many a weary hour discourses in his B., whose delightful Recreations have beguiled many a weary hour, discourses in his charming manner "Concerning Resignation." The prolific authoress of the powerful novel of East Lynne's tells a pleasant story of "A Night Walk over the Mill Stream." Lawrence Oliphant writes with graphic pen an interesting account of "A Visit to the Taipings." The Dean of Canterbury stands up valiantly for the purity of the grand old Saxon Speech in "A Plea for the grand old Saxon Speech in "A Plea for the Queen's English." Alexander Smith, emancipated from the shackles of the spasmodic school, gives us a poem, opulent in vigorous beauty, entitled "The Norse Prin-The heretical Bishop of Natal is attacked in an ironical vindication. The incidents occurring in a balloon voyage six miles high are admirably described in an article on "Aerial Navigation as Applied to Scientific Research," by James Glaisher, F. R. S. George Macdonald, a thoughtful poet who ought to be better known, shows how pure, child-like love may exist unsullied though surrounded by depravity, in a poem of tender, quiet pathos, styled "He Heedeth Not." Honest, able Dr. Norman Macleod entertains his readers with pleasant Pariniscences of a Highland Parish, and 'Reminiscences of a Highland Parish,' and Dr. Caird, whose sermon on "Religion in Common Life" made him famous, furnishes the third of his series of Essays for Sunday Reading, "The Expediency of Christ's Departure" is the subject treated.
