

This tree, to which so much importance is attached in Europe will probably at a future period be considered as a valuable acquisition in America, especially in the States east of the river Hudson.

---