

HISTORY OF OREGON AND CALIFORNIA, ETC.

CHAPTER I.

to 1543.

Preliminary Observations, 45 — Efforts of the Spaniards to discover Western Passages to India — Successive Discoveries of the West Indies, the North American Continent, the Eastern Passage to India, Brazil, and the Pacific Ocean, 46 — Search for a navigable Passage connecting the Atlantic and the Pacific Oceans — Supposed Discovery of such a Passage, called the Strait of Anian, 47 — Discovery of Magellan's Strait and the Western Passage to India, 48 — Conquest of Mexico by Cortés, who endeavors to discover new countries farther north-west, 50 — Voyages of Maldonado, Hurtado de Mendoza, Grijalva, and Becerra, 54 — Discovery of California — Expedition of Cortés to California, 55 — Pretended Discoveries of Friar Marcos de Niza, 59 — Voyages of Ulloa, Alarcón, and Cabrillo, 60 — Expeditions of Coronado and Soto, 61 — The Spaniards desist from their Efforts to explore the North-West Coasts of America, 65.

CHAPTER II.

1543 to 1608.

The Spaniards conquer the Philippine Islands, and establish a direct Trade across the Pacific, between Asia and America, 66 — Measures of the Spanish Government to prevent other European Nations from settling or trading in America, 68 — These Measures resisted by the English, the French, and the Dutch — Free Traders and Freebooters infest the West Indies, 70 — First Voyages of the English in the Pacific, 72 — Voyages of Drake and Cavendish, 73 — Endeavors of the English to discover a North-West Passage from the Atlantic to the Pacific, 77 — False Reports of the Discovery of such Passages, 78 — Supposed Voyages of Urdaneta, Maldonado, and Fonté, 79 — Voyage of Juan de Fuca, 86 — Expeditions of Sebastian Vizcaino, 90 — Supposed Discovery of a great River in North-West America, 93.

CHAPTER III.

1608 to 1768.

The North-West Coasts of North America remain nearly neglected during the whole of this Period, 96 — Efforts of the English and the Dutch to find new Passages into the Pacific — Discovery of Hudson's Bay and Baffin's Bay, 97 — Discovery of the Passage around Cape Horn — Establishment of the Hudson's Bay Trading Company — Endeavors of the Spaniards to settle California unsuccessful, 98 — The Jesuits undertake the Reduction of California, 99 — Establishments of the Jesuits in the Peninsula, 100, and their Expulsion from the Spanish Dominions, 106.

CHAPTER IV

1769 to 1779.

First Establishments on the West Coast of California founded by the Spaniards, 108 — Dispute between Spain and Great Britain respecting the Falkland Islands, 111 — Exploring Voyages of the Spaniards under Perez, 114, Heceta and Bodega, 117, and Arteaga and Bodega, 125 — Discovery of Nootka Sound, Norfolk Sound, and the Mouth of the Columbia River, 120 — Importance of these Discoveries, 124.