Jurors Are Cautioned Not to Read Newspapers-How the Organization Worked.

Hamilton, March 9 .- (Special.) - The non-suit, but Judge Mabee decided to postpone the argument till Monday morning at 11 o'clock. The defence has half a dozen witnesses to call. The jurors were dismissed till Monday at noon, after being cautioned not to discuss the case or to read newspaper reports. This afternoon Edward Curry. Toronto, said that the plumbers had demanded $19,150 for work that a Philadelphia firm did for $12,400. Lanford Evans of this city testified that John Ellicott had offered to do work for him for $35. but afterward said he would have to charge $60 as the Plumbers' Association was making a row about it. He got the work done by a non-association plumber for $45. Three journeymen plumbers employed by Geo. Stevenson swore that when their employer quit the association their union said they would either have to get out of the union or leave Mr. Stevenson. L. P. Spittal, a Dundas plumber who did not join the association, claimed that he had to go out of business altogether owing to difficulty he had in getting supplies. George Stevenson and John Ellicott, plumbers who had dropped out of the association, told the court what a hard time they had to get supplies. Mr. Ellicott declared that one of the plumbers of the association, Wi J. Walsh, had threatened to jump on him and fire him out of the city if he gave the association away. The threat, he claimed, was made after the proceedings against the plumbers was started.
