Cotton Gossip.

Marshall, Spader & Co. wired J. G. Beatty, King Edward Hotel, at the close of the market:

In sympathy with rather disappointing Liverpool cables, the opening of the local market showed a decline of from five to eight points, under yesterday's close, with a steady undertone. The report of the Journal of Commerce was about as expected, showing a condition of 71.6, against 71.7, with Texas having the greatest loss, 7.8 points. After the opening the market steadied, with some advancing and some retreating, but was not by a wide margin of selling orders that it turned and declined rather easily. The trading, however, was for the most part professional, and indicated a desire to even up over the holidays. Weather predictions are for cloudy weather, with showers, over Arkansas, Oklahoma and Indian Territories to-night. The report issued to-day by a prominent statistician, making the condition of cotton 78.0, as against 82 on Aug. 16, and 70.5 last year, was considered unfavorable, but it is probably were fully discounted, and we look for the market to do somewhat better.

Bradstreet's Trade Review.

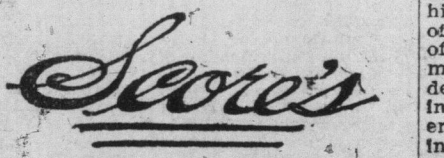

Montreal trade reports to Bradstreet's say: The trade situation here has shown little change during the past week. Trade in most lines continues quiet, as is usual at this season. The outlook for future trade, however, continues bright, and heavy fall shipments are being made. There has been some improvement in remittances lately, while city collections are still slow. Money for mercantile purposes is in active demand and call money is firm. Orders for groceries are not heavy. Sugar is higher, and salmon is scarce and firm, while canned vegetables generally are firm. The sorting trade for dry goods is quiet. It is expected there may be some quietness in the wholesale trade of this province, as crops in some parts were not good, but western business will be heavy. Values of staples are steady to firm. There is a fair movement in all lines of hardware, iron and steel, and in the demand for dairy products is still active, while receipts are light. Prices are advancing. Hides sold from stock are quiet. Since manufacturers are taking less leather, but prices are being exported, and they show excellent quality. Generally speaking, the outlook for future trade is bright. The distribution of merchandise has already been large, it is likely shipments of goods will be interfered with by the crop movement.

Toronto trade reports to Bradstreet's say: There is a good tone to wholesale trade here. Most lines have shown more activity during the past week. Dry goods trade has not increased to any extent, and the volume of orders is heavy for this time of the year. There is a particularly brisk demand for all lines of millinery. Values are generally well maintained. Large numbers of visitors are in town visiting the annual exhibition, and this is having a good effect upon all lines of wholesale trade. Groceries are quiet. It now looks as if there would be about half a pack of tomatoes. Prices are very firm. There is a good demand for all lines of hardware. Values are generally steady to firm. Country trade is still quiet. Deliveries of country products are light, and prices hold up well. Butter and cheese are particularly firm. Flour is quiet, with little export demand. Grain is about steady. Offerings of hides are light. Leather and wools are firm. Live stock is about steady, with little demand for export cattle. Hog prices are declining. Prospects for fall and winter trade continue bright. The farming community is in good financial circumstances, and a good re-order trade is expected to spring up in all wholesale lines. Winnipeg reports say: The grain harvest is proceeding well at this season, and there is a corresponding growth of confidence among business men as to future trade. In many sections the crop is turning out better than was expected. Wholesale houses report a good volume of business in all lines. Dry goods men are preparing for a big millinery trade next month. There is also likely to be a big business in ready-made clothing, which is a big factor in trade here. Grocery orders are fairly large, but collections are a little slow in this line. The hardware trade is exceedingly active, all lines of fall and winter goods being in high demand. Farmers are receiving good prices for cattle.

prising how many of the callers Mr. Mitchell knows, and can call by name. He has a remarkable memory for names. He is ably assisted in welcoming visitors by James Glendenning, D.S.C.R., and J. C. Davidson, D.S.C.R., of Buffalo, N.Y.

Every visitor is presented with a photograph of the chief supreme ranger, Dr. Oronokitchka, in the shape of a small book containing clever thoughts on fraternal union.

Dr. Oronokitchka returned home yesterday from attending a most successful meeting of the High Court of Western Ontario, held at St. Thomas.

The annual reception to the supreme chief ranger will take place Monday (Labor Day) afternoon. He will be escorted to the grounds and the band by the Royal Foresters' Guard of Honor and the Royal Trumpet Band.

HERE AND THERE.

Items and Incidents of Interest Gleaned at the Fair.

The most astounding item in the grand stand entertainment is the man who walks on his hands. This does not mean walking on his hands. His four limbs wave in the air and he supports his whole body in equilibrium on his bare pate. With an extraordinary upward heave he stumps along in this way, a foot or so at a time across the platform to a slight of steps, down which he slowly and steadily bumps. Each thump gives every neck in the grand stand a jump.

Friends of Rev. William Wye Smith, St. Catharines, will be pleased to meet him when he comes to Toronto. He is to be seen during the exhibition at the stall of the Upper Canada Tract Society in the manufacturers' building. Mr. Smith is nearing his eightieth year, but is in excellent health. He is well known as an authority on "Bible Stories," on which he is said to be the greatest living expert, he having done the work in that department for the Standard Dictionary. His translation of the New Testament in Scots is a well-known book. Rev. Dr. Robertson, one of the King's honorary chaplains, obtained a copy from Mr. Smith for presentation to his majesty, who accepted and suitably acknowledged it.

The Tensikaming and Northern Railway has an interesting exhibit of the products of the great country thru which the line runs. It is located in the basement of the grand stand and embraces samples of one of all kinds, including the famous silver, nickel and cobalt ores, vegetables and grain, woods and game. A nugget of silver worth $300 and weighing 175 lbs. is shown, and if this is not sufficiently impressive, another weighing 455 lbs. and worth $500 is near at hand.

In the same building is an exhibit of Ontario tobacco culture, showing models of the fields in the various stages of sowing, ready for transplanting, after transplanting, worming and picking, cutting ripe plants, first and second process in barns, baling and third process.

The motor car exhibit in the grand stand basement is a treat for the roadster. There is also shown here a fine carriage and harness exhibit of Toronto manufacture.

The regular meeting of the York Phonograph will be held in the log cabin at the fair grounds on Tuesday next at noon. Addresses will be delivered by prominent people.

The lodge tents down where the cool breezes blow make up a pretty encampment, and the spot is sought out daily by hundreds who wish to escape for a time from the bustle that prevails elsewhere.

The machinery building is attracting more attention than usual, perhaps on account of the greater variety of exhibits. Among these electric machinery of all kinds built very largely. Sections of several devices are shown. Hydraulic machinery is to be seen in working order. A small Niagara, being the first in one instance. In the heavy machinery lines foundry and boiler work is included, and there are several engine-eers' tools at work. Weighing-scales and bakers' machinery are contiguous, and the mining and milling industries of Ontario are illustrated. The only lead smelter in Canada shows samples of milling ore, waste rock or tailings, coarse and fine concentrates. The honey exhibit is varied this year by displaying a number of colonies of the many varieties of bees favored by Canadian homesteaders. Several hybrids are shown, as well as the standard varieties. Honey, which is said to be scarce this year, is of particularly fine flavor.

Across the way the foliage plants offered a beautiful sight to lovers of plant life. The collection of ferns is here also. The prizes have been awarded in this section, and amateurs should see the winners.

AFTERNOON TRAINS LATE HEAVY TRAFFIC DOES IT

Exhibition Traffic is Greater This Year Than Ever Before According to Officials.

A man who wanted to go to Niagara Falls on the 5 o'clock boat last night got left because the G.T.R. flyer from Montreal, which was due to arrive at 4.30, was an hour and a half late. He had come up Thursday to attend the exhibition, and his baggage was to follow him on the "flyer."

But almost all the incoming trains were from an hour and a quarter to two hours and a half late over both G.T.R. and C.P.R. The explanation was "heavy traffic."

When the flyer pulled in it was discovered she drew three extra Pullmans, which had been picked up en route, in addition to the express heavy train. No. 66 from North Bay and Muskoka arrived in two sections of thirteen coaches each; the first, which was due at 4.45, was an hour and fifteen minutes late, and the second two and a half hours behind her schedule time.

The depot officials announce that this year's traffic to the exhibition is away in excess of any previous year. The steamboat companies, too, have never experienced such a season, and the animated scenes on the waterfront at the time of each boat's arrival or departure would verify this statement. The docks and waiting-rooms are inadequate to accommodate the crowds comfortably.

PEPPER'S CASE COLLAPSES.

But R. T. Henderson Goes Over for Trial on Selling Charge.

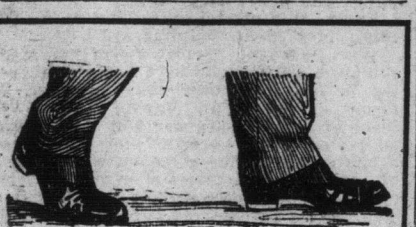

Walkerton, Aug. 31.—(Special).—The cases against R. T. Henderson of the Henderson Roller Bearing Co. of Toronto, charged with obtaining $1200 by false pretences from Henry Pepper of Hanover, and $1400 from Adam Selling of Walkerton, in the same manner, were tried here to-day before Magistrates Robb and Tolson. Pepper's case collapsed on his own evidence, but the Selling case was sent up for trial, Henderson being let go on his own bail. No evidence was put in for the defence. An appeal will be taken to a higher court to have the proceedings set aside on the ground that evidence did not warrant the action of the magistrates.

It is expected that Henderson's writ against Patrick Heffernan for false arrest will realize a judgment. Heffernan is not a constable at present, having been dismissed from that position several years ago by both the county council of Bruce and the Ontario government. He claims in the case to have acted under the direction of Crown Attorney Dixon in having Henderson arrested.

T. C. Robinette, K.C., of Toronto, appeared for the plaintiffs, and J. W. Curry, K.C., of Toronto, and J. A. Shaw, K.C., of Walkerton, for the defendant.

Maori Lore.

The Maoris are not the aborigines of New Zealand. This is the story of their coming as told by a legend handed down from a distant past. It is a story of a generation. Te Kupe, a priest, lived on an island called Kaikahi, supposed to be Hawaii. He incurred the displeasure of his chief, and was compelled to flee for his life. He secured a canoe, and, stocking it with provisions, paddled out to sea, leaving his home and his friends, as he thought, for ever. He was mourned as dead, but about a year later he returned with a glowing story of a wonderful country he had discovered. He gave graphic accounts of its mighty forests, its burning mountains, steaming lakes and huge birds. The story caused the wildest excitement among his people, who hailed Te

A Greater Toronto and A Greater Simpson's

THE YEAR OF 1906 stands already as the most prosperous, progressive and confident year of all those which have dawned on Canada since Jacques Cartier sailed up the St. Lawrence. Canada throbs with youthful energy and life. Her cities are growing, her farmers are prospering, her factories are enlarging and multiplying, her natural resources, her minerals and water powers are yielding as never before and promising a thousand times more than as yet they yield.

Toronto, the Queen City, the centre of Canada's "EAST," and all the wealth and population associated with the older provinces, is growing faster to-day than any time since that period referred to as THE BOOM, and the growth is real, substantial, permanent. That's the way this store has grown and that's the way we are going to keep step always. Visitors to the big Fair of 1906 see a different "Simpson's" to the "Simpson's" they saw in 1905. Different indeed will be "Simpson's" in 1907. Our plans catch up to the city's development and take the lead. Next year, if all goes well, you will see a great extension to our building. You will see all the interior changes and improvements in the store which an addition like that which will be a credit to Toronto and to the banner province of the Dominion. We now welcome you to the facilities and accommodation of our present building and believe you will good-naturedly bear with the crowding you are good enough to inflict upon yourselves, and you will be doubly welcome to make the greater store your headquarters while in town next year, with all the added conveniences and attractions we are planning.
