He Has But Few Visitors, and the Police Hold Aloof.

John Doughty's travels are over temporarily. This man who has just completed a trip across the continent with Detective Mitchell is now on his second day of incarceration at Toronto jail. Here he will remain for five long days, or until next Monday morning when he will again appear in police court to answer to two charges laid against him by the crown. The first is theft of $105,000 worth of Victory bonds, and the second charge is that of attempting to kidnap his former employer, Ambrose J. Small, the missing theatrical millionaire.

ACCEPTS TORONTO POSITION.

HAMILTON

Hamilton, Nov. 30.—Police and detectives are still looking for the man who struck Harry Burns over the head and caused his death. Burns was admitted to the hospital Friday night with a fractured skull, and died early this morning. Edward Taylor is held as a witness in the case, and the man who struck the blows will be charged with murder when found by the police.

At the council meeting, Aid. McQuesten opposed the gas bylaw as drafted for submission to the people on the grounds that he did not think the United Gas & Fuel Company's plant should be purchased by the city without the people voting on it, should negotiations be reopened earlier in the year. His amendment to this effect was carried without opposition.

Angelo Salvatore, who was murderously attacked by four foreigners with knives last night, was reported to be resting easily at the hospital tonight. His condition, however, is still serious, and operations have been made in the case.

OAKWOOD SCHOOL BADLY CROWDED

Suggestions Made by Principal Gray to Relieve Situation in Collegiate.

In his address to the public at the annual commencement of the Oakwood Collegiate Institute, Principal Gray quite properly called public attention to the overcrowding of his school building, the use of four portable rooms as an annex and the continued congestion in spite of this temporary expedient. There are three ways in which this problem might be solved, at comparatively little expense to the ratepayers:

1. Advanced work of a general and really useful cultural character might be carried on in the school during the year, so that many of the public schools, for those pupils who do not intend or expect to take the complete high school course, could be dispensed with. It does not seem to be generally understood that the work prescribed by the education department for form five of the public school course is practically identical in scope with that of the "lower school" of the high school course, and that for pupils whose training is to stop midway in the high school, the work could be done in the public school more advantageously for the pupil and more cheaply for the city. There is a material difference between an ideal course for a pupil who is "going up" and one for a pupil who is "going out."

2. A third storey might be put on the present Oakwood building, as originally planned. It is easy to understand that such an increase of accommodation means a smaller capital outlay than it would mean for a new building with a costly substructure to provide the walls of the Oakwood school building an extension upward in view.

3. The present Jarvis Street Collegiate Institute building is now too far south to serve its proper purpose, and has been condemned yearly for a decade by several high school inspectors. A new building, on a properly located site, and extensive enough to accommodate a thousand pupils, would relieve the city for years of a problem of which the perplexity will in two years become quite intolerable. This problem should be faced at once, and solved in one or more of the above ways.

LIKE TARIFF WALL IN BORDER CITIES

Opinion of Chamber of Commerce Heard by Federal Commission.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 30.—An appeal for the re-impediment of the former tariff on low-priced farm tractors manufactured in the United States, was laid before the Drayton commission during its afternoon session here today.

Supporting the appeal, which was made by Dr. W. C. Doyle, mayor of Essex, the case of a now defunct tractor firm was cited. This factory had started in 1916 and was already becoming one of considerable importance when, in 1918, along came the federal order-in-council which provided free entry of all tractors valued at $1400. The immediate result of this order, Dr. Doyle claimed, was the collapse of the industry.

Even Farmers in Line.
With one exception, the farmers of the district who appeared as individuals and not representatives of any special organization, pleaded for the continuance of protection. The lone exception to this view was Delbert McNaughton, who submitted the arguments of the Canadian Council of Agriculture.

Ford Refutes Charges.
A refutation of the charges preferred against the Ford Company, Canada, by western farmers, alleging that this company was taking advantage of protection to exploit the Canadian public, was submitted by Wallace H. Campbell, assistant general manager of the company. Mr. Campbell cited one particular type of car turned out at the Ford plant for 1923. This same car, were it manufactured in the States, equipped in the same manner as the Canadian product, then made to bear the luxury tax imposed by the Canadian government, the duty and the rate of exchange, would be sold at a price of $202 to the consumer, he claimed.

In Toronto Today.
The commission left at midnight for a brief session in Toronto. The desirability of continued and even greater tariff protection, of the establishment of an expert traffic commission, and of the institution of a general British preferential tariff, are the chief points touched on in the voluminous statement presented to the commission by the border cities chamber of commerce.

Joseph James, her father, stated that the "cure" had been effective but two days, and on the following Sunday night she became much weaker.

BRITISH COLUMBIA ELECTIONS TODAY

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 30.—(By Canadian Press).—Tomorrow the voters of British Columbia will elect a new legislative assembly. The provincial election campaign concludes tonight with final meetings of party leaders and candidates. Tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock the polls open, and will remain open until seven o'clock in the evening, Pacific coast time. An hour later the results in the larger centres of population will be known, and the result in the province about nine or ten o'clock.

FIVE-YEAR-OLD BOY IS FATALLY INJURED

Ross W. Wilson Dies Six Hours After Being Struck by Truck.

Little five-year-old Ross W. Wilson, 189 Bain avenue, died in the Hospital for Sick Children at 10:30 last night from injuries received when he was struck by a Daily Star truck at 4:40 o'clock in the afternoon, on Logan street, just south of Withrow avenue. John Trance, 294 Blecker street, driver of the truck, was not held by the police.

According to the story told by Trance to the police, the boy was crossing Logan street along with his sister. At the approach of a north-bound auto he ran back to the sidewalk, but his sister continued on. Trance, who was going south on Logan street, applied the brakes to allow the little girl to cross the street, and just released them to go forward when the boy dashed in front of his truck to join his sister, and was knocked down.

The boy was picked up by Constable Shipley and carried into a nearby drug store. Dr. Jones, 509 Broadway avenue, was called and had the lad removed to the Sick Children's Hospital, where it was found that he had sustained a fracture of the skull.
