Persian Deputies Swear Fidelity to the Shah.

TEHERAN, Persia, March 11.—There was an unfortunate dispute regarding the death taken at the last sitting of Parliament. This has now been got over and the oath was again taken on Thursday by all the members, including Seyeds Memmed and Abdulhali, Great Musaheds, or promoters of the constitution, in the following terms:—The Moslemates took an oath of "fidelity to Mohammed Ali Shah and the constitutional government," but Said El Dushk, leader, and the other extremists, took an oath of "fidelity to the constitutional monarch and constitutional country."

There is every indication that peace will not be broken, though alarmists are no warning. Proof of the peaceful intention of the populace is the fact that there was no anti-freedom demonstration made after the Maillon incident. The assembly proposed and unanimously voted to send a telegram of congratulation on the opening of the Russian Douma.

The enrolling and drilling of volunteers has been suspended till the official demand by the Assembly to form a volunteer corps, made on the Minister of War, has been sanctioned by the Shah.

There are wild rumors here about the fabulous damages demanded by the German Minister for the murdered missionary in Savannah Boulay. So far, I understand, no official decision has been taken.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

HIRAM'S CURIOSITY Mr. Hiram Hornbeam is in the city today. He spent part of the forenoon watching three men filling an one-horse sled with snow, but moved on just as the Times new reporter overtook him.

How long it'd take them three fellows to load that sled," said Hiram, "but I got some business to tend to, an' I can't wait. I been here half an hour now. I'll come again when I have lots of time. I guess they must be tired today, anyway. Snow's heavy stuff to shovel. I had an idea to hire some fellers to go out an' help haul manure on the farm,—but I guess I won't. I called G. B. about one o'clock today if I had four men like these fellers. This town may be able to 'ford it' but out in the country we have to work for a livin'.

We do, by Hen.

The fact that the cutters went to church yesterday will in no way lessen the public desire to go to the rinks and hear them curl.

SUCCESSFUL WORK. Many citizens are taking advantage of the mild and melting weather to fill their cellars and basements with a summer supply of street water, with fever germs and microbes of various kinds. The works department is giving great assistance keeping the drains closed and forcing the supply into the cellars and basements afore said. The hilly nature of the town causes some of the germs-laden moisture to run off, but it is believed enough will be saved to keep the doctors busy all summer.
