So Authorizes His Delegates To Announce WORD REACHES WASHINGTON

Washington, May 18—General Huerta has authorized the Mexican mediation delegates to submit his resignation in case such a course is found necessary to a settlement in peace negotiations. This was stated positively in dispatches today from a thoroughly competent diplomatic source in Mexico City, to one of the foreign representatives here, and confirms intimations given by friends of the delegates here yesterday.

According to this information from Mexico City, General Huerta at first authorized the delegates to discuss only the question of the Tampico conflict, leading to the American occupation of Vera Cruz. Later, it is explained, he came to recognize the necessity of a broader settlement and then conveyed to the delegates assurances that he was prepared to step down should this be found necessary by them.

What's The Score?

When you want to know, you turn to your newspaper.

You follow the same rule here when the question "Where Shall I Get It?" flashes through your mind.

The advertising columns answer this letter and most important question as fully as the box score does your question as to the game.

Each day your newspaper comes to you—it comes as a messenger of service to keep you posted on the things you want to know.

You wouldn't get the full use of its service if you didn't let its advertising help you.

And you always find it as interesting as it is helpful.
