

PIGS BLOWN AWAY BY WIND STORM

Farmer and Family Escape When a Bolt Envelops Home in Flames.

Saskatoon, July 17.—The entire farm of F. J. Howship, one mile west of Grandora, Sask.—house, stables, granaries and half a dozen smaller buildings—was wiped out by lightning and wind in a recent storm. Lightning struck the house, and it was a mass of flames in less than a minute. The farmer and his wife and child escaped.

When they reached the open there was nothing to be seen of any of the farm buildings except heaps of wreckage here and there. The wind carried a big faming mill nearly 800 yards. It also lifted a hayrack and damped it down 175 yards away. Machinery was scattered all over the landscape.

One hundred and fifty chickens were killed. Howship said he could not find any of his pigs. They had been blown away.

The cloudburst that accompanied the lightning and wind was the worst farmer had experienced in seventeen years on the prairie. Farms close by were practically untouched.

CAMERA 60 FEET LONG TO PHOTOGRAPH ECLIPSE

Tucson, Ariz., July 17.—(A.P.)—Immense telescopic cameras 40 and 60 ft. long, gigantic reflectors and a number of smaller instruments will be moved into Mexico for the purpose of photographing the sun during its total eclipse next September, according to plans announced here by Dr. A. E. Douglas, professor of the University of Arizona.

Dr. Douglas will head on expedition while a second will be conducted by Professor W. A. Cogshall of the University of Indiana.

The Douglas expedition will take with it a 40-foot focus camera which will reproduce the sun with a five-inch diameter. An even larger camera with a sixty-foot focus will be taken by the Cogshall expedition.

These cameras will be held in position by means of specially constructed towers.

San Felipe, 144 miles south of the international boundary, has been selected as the site of the Cogshall expedition's observations. Dr. Douglas has not definitely selected his location.

WALKS COOLLY OUT OF CELL, VANISHES

Young Prisoner Pushes Back Barred Door, with the Police All Aboard.

Worcester, Mass., July 17.—While several policemen sat around the guard room and office at station 2, Wilfred Russell, 17 years old, a prisoner, pushed the steel-barred door and calmly walked out of the cell which the police thought securely locked.

Russell, who is now being sought by every policeman in the city, was arrested on March 19 on a charge of carrying a revolver. The following day he was fined $100 and at his request the payment of the fine was suspended until July 11 and the case continued until that date. Wednesday when the case was again called he failed to appear, and was defaulted. His arrest followed.

FORD GIVES A TRACTOR TO KEEP YOUTH ON FARM

Also Gives Relative Advice to Keep at the Soil, and He Will Do So.

Pontiac, Mich., July 17.—Henry Ford believes in keeping young men on the farm, his own youthful relatives included.

Mr. Ford's second cousin, Charles Ford, writes him recently that since his son, Dewain, 19 years old, had graduated from the Pontiac High School, he was having difficulty in persuading the boy to stay on the farm.

"He thinks there is no future for the young man on the farm," the uncle wrote. "He wants to go to Detroit and work in your factory, and perhaps some day follow in your footsteps as a manufacturer. His mother and I want him to stay here and help us, and when I get too old, take my place."

There was no reply to the letter until this week. Then it came in the form of a new tractor, something with which to lighten the burden of farm labor and also something which a mechanical-minded youth could like.

The son's delight with the gift was increased when Mr. Ford himself called at the farm the next day to say that a plow and disc would be delivered in a few days, to go with the tractor, and gave him some fatherly counsel about sticking to the farm and the old home.

Dewain will stay on the farm.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

Several parts of the body of Frank Kennedy, who died suddenly at Chatham Head on Saturday night, have been sent to Dr. H. L. Abramson, provincial pathologist, for examination.

Mr. Kennedy was apparently perfectly well on Saturday, at supper time he complained of a sore throat and at midnight he died. The authorities ordered the coroner, Dr. Marvin to perform an autopsy.

In spite of the fact that the anti-betting information bill went into effect yesterday in Toronto, there were many racing papers and newspapers containing betting odds for sale on the streets.

The customs people said to the method of handling such papers coming in from the United States. They expected to receive power to confiscate them.

Father Michael O'Flanagan and John J. O'Keely, who have been held for some time in Sydney, Australia, on charges of seditious activities and who had refused a chance of voluntarily leaving the country, were placed on the steamer Mongolia on Sunday just before an autopsy.

The body of Wilfrid Caron, third officer of the steamer Arctic, who was drowned on July 9, was picked up on Sunday off Crane Island. No trace has been found of Desmond O'Connell of Ottawa, who attempted a rescue and lost his own life.

Loss of about $2,000 partly covered by insurance was the result of a fire last night which destroyed the garage and automobile of Dr. E. H. Cook of St. Stephen. Other buildings were saved by the firemen.

It was expected that more than fifty teachers would be in Sussex today to begin the course given by the department of agriculture at the summer school of rural science. A. C. Gorham, the director, was in the city yesterday and reported the prospects bright for a good school. Dr. William McIntosh was expected to join the school staff today as the instructor in natural science. Those attending will be under canvas.

Mennen's absorbs dangerous moistures

Specialists, doctors, and nurses attribute many skin disorders to minute quantities of urine or perspiration or water held in contact with the skin.

Moisture, Friction and Infection are three dangerous foes to your baby's health and comfort.

CHILD DRINKS FLY POISON; SAVED BY MUSTARD DOSE

Worcester, Mass., July 17.—Mrs. T. B. Pratt of 59 Grove street, probably saved the life of Martha Jane Conlan, 14 months old, 57 Grove street, by giving her mustard and water after she had swallowed a cup full of fly poison.

Mrs. John Conlan, mother of the child, was outside when she heard the baby cry. Running in she found her child writing on the floor. The empty cup told the story. Mrs. Conlan called in Mrs. Pratt, a neighbor, who quickly mixed the emetic.

When Dr. Richard J. Shanahan, the police surgeon arrived, the child was out of danger.

A party of children of Champlain street, West End, held a concert in the garage of Charles Belyea yesterday and collected $2 which was given to D. C. Clarke for the Protestant Orphan Homes.

Hoisted Aboard Ship She All But Missed

Related Passenger's Trip to Genoa Saved by Human Pyramid Formed on Pier.

New York, July 17.—Persons who went to Pier 28 North River, foot of Beach street, to see the Italian liner Dante Alighieri, did not witness an acrobatic turn that must have reminded them of circus days when Mrs. Helen Antoinette, a first-cabin passenger from West Hoboken, literally was hoisted on board after climbing a human ladder as the ship was moving out.

The gangway had been lowered when Mrs. Antoinette, who is thirty-two years old, according to her passport, rushed up to the officials waving her ticket and shouting that the liner must wait. She was followed by a husky porter carrying a trunk and a small boy with a bonnet box. The superintendent of the pier waved his hand to the passport inspectors and the ticket agent to keep Mrs. Antoinette back, as it was too late. "Failure" was not in the energetic woman's vocabulary, however.

She got her ticket and assented and then shouted to a big bronzed sailor leaning over the side to clasp her hands. In a weak moment he complied, and was nearly yanked head over heels into the water as Mrs. Antoinette grasped his wrists and tried to walk up the steep sides of the ship.

A. W. Gillison, one of the passport inspectors, who does not speak Italian, one of his colleagues, climbed on Gillison's back. F. Fanelli formed the top of the pyramid. And they held Mrs. Antoinette up the side of the Dante Alighieri in true shipshape fashion. Three times her feet slipped on the round rivets and three times there was a chorus of groans from the passengers on deck and the officials on the pier.

Finally she was hoisted on board, by which time there were six sailors backing up the unhappy man and she had been grabbed by the fair passenger from the pier.

"I had to go and I knew I could make it" was all Mrs. Antoinette said.

WHALES SPRAY DECK

Schools of Eight, Says Latest Fish Story, Swam About Schooner.

Cape May, N. J., July 17.—Captain Joe Brown of the fishing schooner Esella reported when he put in here that when east of Winter Quarter Lightship his lookout sighted a school of eight whales.

The shipper and a party of New York fishermen on board declared the whales were so close that when they came up to blow, spray was thrown on the deck by a stiff breeze. Captain Brown said the whales were more than 100 feet long.

Captain Albert Bennett, president of the Pennsylvania Fish and Game Commission, said ice floes drifting southward were the cause of the whales being so far north.

MRS. BERGDOLL TO GET PASSPORT TO VISIT SON

Washington, July 17.—Announcement has been made by the State Department that Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll of Philadelphia, would receive a passport to visit her son, Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the draft dodger, in Switzerland. The decision was reached after a conference with the Alien Property Custodian, who could find no objection to Mrs. Bergdoll's visit.

Although Mrs. Bergdoll says Grover is in Switzerland, officials do not actually know where the draft dodger actually is. Her application for a passport was filed in Philadelphia. She said that she hoped to start on Tuesday. Officials said the passport would be ready by that time.

REPORT'S SUCCESS IN TEST OF GASOLINE SUBSTITUTE

Washington, July 17.—Successful test of a new gasoline substitute at the Anacostia air station here has been announced by the navy department.

The fuel is a compound of thirty per cent. denatured anhydrous alcohol and seventy per cent. gasoline. It develops the same horsepower, the report said, as high grade aviation gasoline with less heat to the engine. Further tests will be made, however, before definite conclusions are made.

HEROIN IN A BABY CARRIAGE

Man and Wife Arrested by Narcotic Squad in Their Candy Store.

New York, July 17.—Mrs. Nellie Marconi, twenty-three years old, and her husband, Rosario, were arrested by Detectives Mogg and Higgins of Dr. Carleton Simon's Narcotic Squad in their candy store at 402 East Eighteenth street, when a baby carriage belonging to the couple yielded six vials of heroin and a pistol.

The detectives said complaints had been received at police headquarters that a woman who pushed a baby carriage through the east side streets had been selling narcotics. The detectives lifted the Marconi infant out of the baby carriage and found the pistol and the drugs in a small black bag.

FEARED THEY'D CUT HER NOSE OFF; FLED

Cambridge Girl of 10 Found in Lynn—Was to Be Operated on for Adenoids.

Boston, July 17.—While Cambridge police resident of the Harvard street section were searching the district for 10-year-old Grace Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Richardson who disappeared Thursday, Station Agent Robert Lowe of the Narrow Gauge station at Lynn noticed a forlorn little figure huddled in a corner of a bench in the waiting room.

He drew closer, and then said: "Why, hello, Grace, what are you doing here?"

"They're going to cut my nose off," the little girl sobbed.

Mr. Lowe, who knew the girl, as he had worked with her father before the latter went into the automobile business, soothed the child, and finally heard her story. She was to undergo an operation, and through fear of it she ran away. Mr. Lowe finally discovered that his friend's daughter was simply going to have adenoids removed.

He telephoned her frantic father, who drove to Lynn and brought the child home. The adenoids will remain for a time at least.
