proximately. Providence, RI, March 4-Capt Knowles of the life-saving station reports that the bell buoy off the breakwater in Block Island Bay is out of order. The supposition is that the bell is cracked. This being a season of oggy weather, no time should be lost in putting the buoy in working order. New York, March 4-Capt Keyes of str tamont reports the bell buoy in Coney Island Channel about 1,000 feet E by S ½ S from true position; also that there is no light on the sunken steamer Alles. New York, March 5-Capt Fisher of str Kansas City, which arrived March 4 from Savannah, reports Five Fathom Bank Light-fathoms of water, passed a vessel's' mast, with several spars attached; very dangerous to navigation, as it was right in the track to coasing vessels. Boston, March 5-The Lighthouse Board March 16 the nun, can and bell buoys taken up at the beginning of winter will be re-placed in their respective locations. Tompkinsville, NY, March 6-The Newton Rock bell buoy, Narraganset Bay, Rhode Island, was damged by collision today. It will be replaced as soon as practicable.
